STUDENT LIFE

A New Beginning

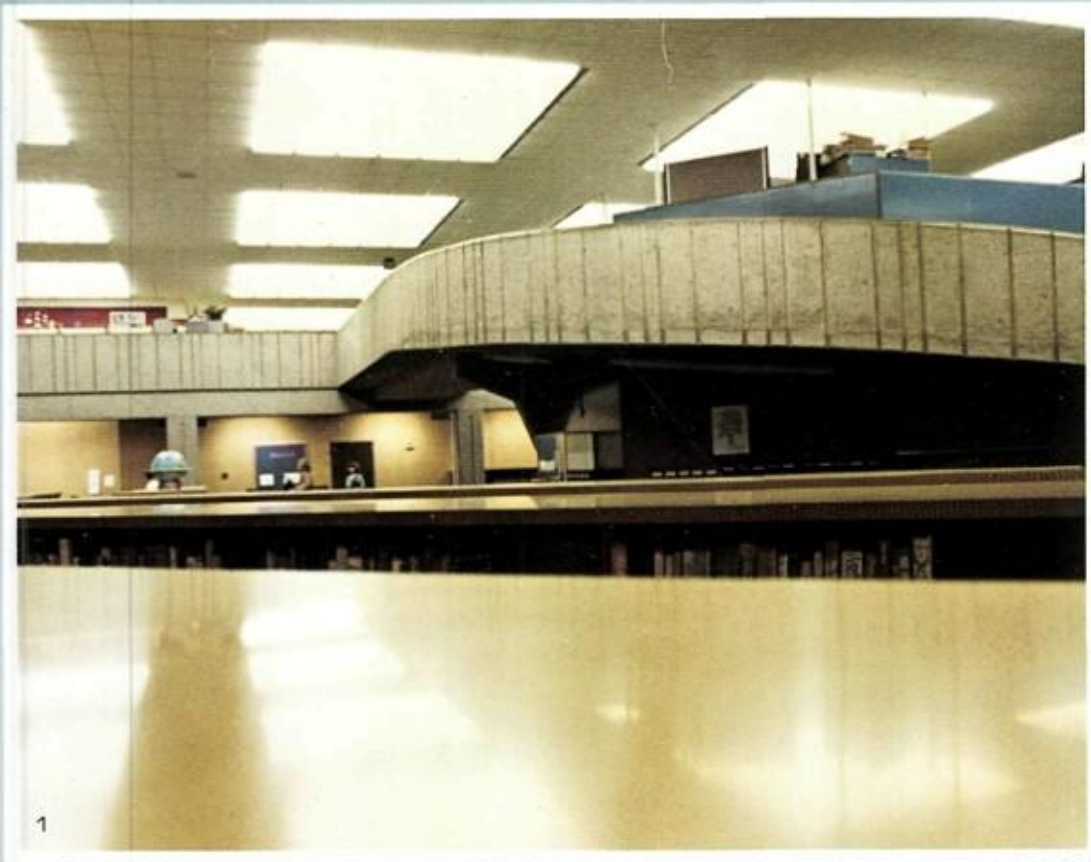

by Kay Olson and George Perk photos Rollin Banderob

The campus opened once again, welcoming waves of students who rushed in and out of the flooded hallways. The 1984-85 school year proved to be a year full of changes at Beyer High School. These changes involved the student body as well as the administration and faculty. With approximately 2500 pupils, the students almost proved to be too much for the teachers to handle. This tidal wave of students caused many inconveniences. For example, several of Beyer's classrooms were over-crowded, due to scheduling difficulties. Other classes didn't have enough students.

The eighth period, offered at Beyer for the first time this year, caused dissonance in scheduling procedures. Many students found themselves with either a class they didn't want or belong in, or simply no class at all. However, after the first two months, most of the problems in scheduling were taken to a level of livability.

The 1985 school year also introduced a few new members to the administration and faculty. The new counselors, Mrs. Lynn Bogdanovich and Mrs. Eileen Silva, were among the group of new staff members who started their first year here at Beyer. ★

Business Before Pleasure

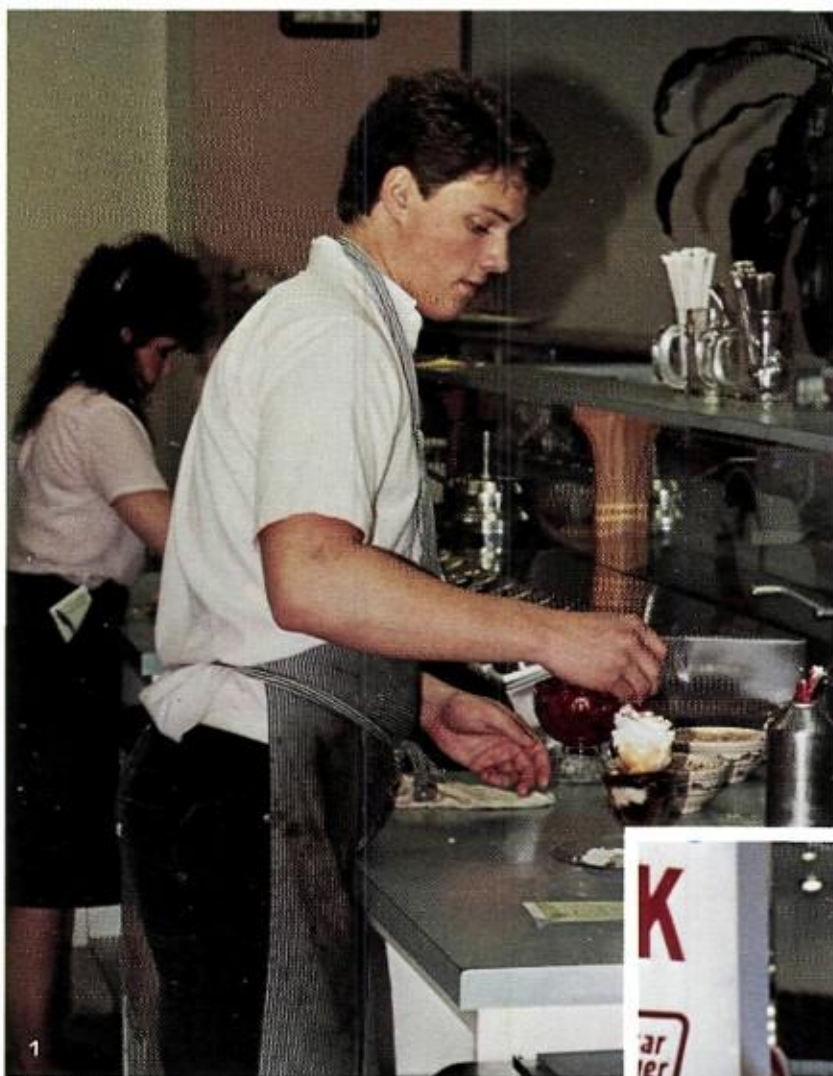

It's 3:05. For some students, the final tone of the school bell signals the commencement of several hours of studying. For others, 3:05 meant a chance to relax before leaving for work at one of the several jobs provided by Modesto's rapidly increasing business community.

As the years fade away, Beyer High School students have become increasingly interested in their education. Every day, a long procession of students was seen leaving BHS with an armful of books, which, no doubt, were destined to be studied night after night.

Today's student has seemed to become more scholastically inclined than ever before. More and more students are becoming interested in furthering their education by attending a college or university. In preparation of this, several students spend their spare time studying in the library. Some students formed study groups, while others preferred to study alone.

This year a multitude of students sought out jobs from Modesto's prosperous business community. This sudden search for a job was primarily brought about by the desire to earn some extra cash and the need to display responsibility and independence. By taking part in the business community, the students were given the opportunity to change the environment in which they lived. ★

THE SWARM

The students of BHS have shown a change of attitude in that they are now striving towards individualism and success. Whether it be through zany hairstyles or just in the clothes they wore, Beyer's student body tried in one way or another to make sure that they stood out as individuals in the vast crowd of 2500 students who were enrolled this year. Many students accomplished this by making what they considered a "Fashion statement." Punks, new wavers, and preps were in abundance this past year, not to mention all of the other clique groups found on Beyer's campus.

The strive for success was a major issue among several of the students this year. Many students exemplified this by studying and earning good grades. Many people either spent their lunch time in the library or among friends. While grades meant a lot to most everyone, there was also the need to kick back and relax.

Recreation was something every student looked forward to. Whether it be spending time with friends, attending school games and dances, or simply staying home and watching television, every student relished what free time they had. ★

Spirit of '85

"Totally Awesome!" is a statement applicable to the change of spirit found among the Beyer Patriots. Each student of his or her class, whether it be freshman, sophomore, junior, or senior, contributed to the spirit which was present at each rally, football game, and spirit day. Beyer's Patriot spirit was felt and shared by most everyone.

Several students, primarily juniors and a few seniors, formed a group known as the "Beyer Berets." The Beyer Berets never failed to rouse the spirit and enthusiasm at each rally.

Throughout the year, there couldn't be a better display of spirit than at the fall homecoming game that the Beyer Patriots played against the Davis Spartans. Even though our football team lost, a multitude of our students screamed out their enthusiasm and pride, leaving the game with sore throats and hoarse voices, but remembering that our football team fought hard on the field. ★

Try and You Shall Succeed

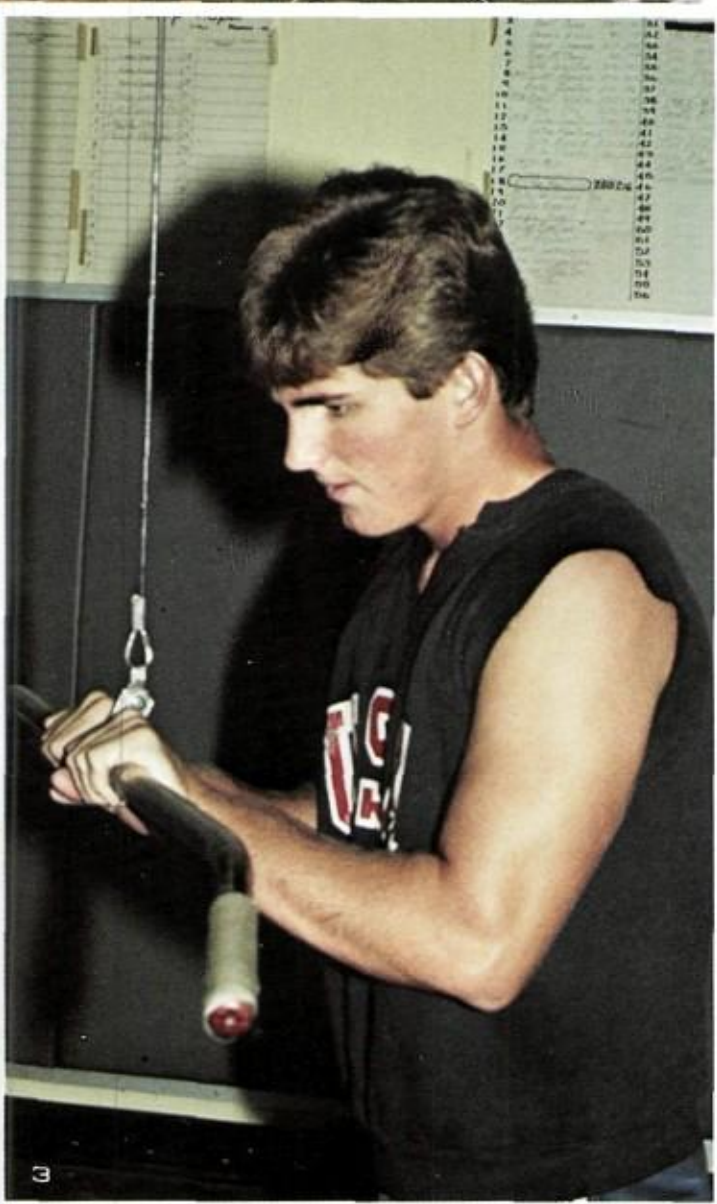

As our opponents have discovered, Beyer's sports have improved over all. With plenty of hard work and determination, our teams have succeeded in most all of their endeavors. Whether they won or lost, Beyer's athletes left the field knowing they gave it their best.

As in the past, Beyer has provided our athletes with a variety of sports to choose from, ranging from water polo to cross country. In each sport, the participants made an extraordinary display of Beyer's Patriot pride. ★

Decisions, decisions

"What club should I join?" was a common question in the minds of each student. This year Beyer presented the students with an over-abundance of clubs to choose from. Each club had been specifically designed to meet the demands of the potential club member. An addition to the already existing clubs, which ranged from Math Club to the Bandsaw Bandits Club, were S.A.D.D. (Students Against Driving Drunk), Chess Club, Ski Club, and Skateboard Club.

Nearly every club provided some extra-curricular activity for its members, and, on occasion, the students in general. Among these activities would be the ever-popular dances, which were always attended by a multitude of students. Many of the classes offered at Beyer were considered an activity. Among these would be Marching Band and Color Guard. ★

Shannon,
 Well hope things have gone
 all right for ya this year. I'm glad we've met and hope next year will be as great.

To Serve the People

Dances, teacher appreciation, school beautification club involvement, and community services are what Student Government is all about. "Student Government is communication between the people and their representatives," said Deanna Messner, student body president. The Freshman class officers sponsored the Sadie Hawkins dance, Juniors sponsored the Prom, and the Seniors sponsored the Christmas dance. In all, Student Government sponsored eight dances throughout the year. Through Student Government two palm trees were replaced in front of the gym and a new landscaping project was begun. They sponsored famine relief efforts in Ethiopia by sending $200 to a relief fund and due to contributions it helped successfully start a S.A.D.D. chapter on campus donating $100 to the organization. Deanna commented that "It is our belief that people's concerns and needs should be listened to by the Student Government." For that reason student hearings were begun. Student Government is made of two parts, the executive council-class presidents and student body officers, and student council — comprised of class representatives and two City of Modesto Youth Commission members.

"Friends Don't Let Friends Drive Drunk"

by George Park photos by Rollin Banderob

"Friends don't let friends drive drunk," is the message from S.A.D.D. It all started on November 16, 1984 with a school wide assembly and students against driving drunk (S.A.D.D.) was established on campus. Two thousand students looked on as Loose Association, a theater group, and Mr. John Berndt pronounced the S.A.D.D. message. After the assembly, the club grew to more than 60 in paid membership.

Activities included a Christmas party, pizza party, and two V.C.R. movies, plus regular meetings twice a month on Tuesday's and Thursday's. "The club established an anti-drunk driving campaign on campus, and had as many students as possible sign Contracts for Life," commented George Park, club president. The Contract for Life, a key part of S.A.D.D., is a contract between the student and the parent making a pact saying that the students will call the parent, when not fit to drive and the student will receive a ride home with no questions asked! The success of S.A.D.D. is shown in the fact that every since its birth, the number of drunk driving deaths among teenage drivers has reduced from 5,500 to 2,880 nation wide. "Someday we hope to eliminate drunken driving among teenagers in Modesto and Stanislaus County." ★

Brilliant, hard working, and dedicated! That's what C.S.F. members are all about. The Club headed by Miss Kimball meets every two weeks to discuss various activities. The members elected to hold office were Valli Israels as president, Todd Jesspersen as vice president, Andrea Chan as secretary, Karen Collum as treasurer, and Becky Epperson as publicity director. C.S.F. had two fund raisers this past year, a dance and car wash, which were held to raise money for a trip. During the year, the club has gone to see "MacBeth" and "Taming of a Shrew." The Club has also gone up to Yosemite.

Being accepted into C.S.F. can be somewhat of an ordeal. One has to have at least three A's (unless in GATE classes) no D's and no F's. In addition to this, these classes must be on one of two lists, either the A list or B list. For every A and B received a fixed point value is assigned, less for the B list than for the A list. If your point sum equals 10 or more you're in! ★

Not even a work like "ratiocination" could stump a member of the Academic Decathlon team. After countless hours of organized study, the seven team members were ready to tackle words like that in eight written tests and two spoken events. The written tests were on math, science, social science, fine arts, English and literature, career education and successful living, essay writing, and a super quiz event. The two spoken events were speech making and an informal interview. Each of the ten tests were worth 1000 points.

For a students to be chosen as a member of the Academic Decathlon team, his or her grade point averages, S.A.T. scores, and teacher recommendations were considered. The event was held at the M.J.C. one Saturday in the fall and hosted competitors from all over Stanislaus County. "It was interesting to explore different fields of study and meet many fascinating people," said team member Andrea Chan. Beyer, besides boasting many individual awards, came in fourth place out of approximately fifteen schools.

The purpose of the Academic Decathlon is to promote inter-school competition in academic areas, to advance public interest in outstanding programs in secondary schools, and to encourage students to develop a greater respect for knowledge and ratiocination, which, by the way, means logical reasoning. ★

Promoting Pride and Awareness

by Sabrina LoBello photos by David Azlin

It took twenty-four years before the campus could enjoy and benefit from the B.S.U. club organization. The Black Student Union has existed since 1960, but was just introduced in 1984 through the efforts of Mrs. Jewel Reed the present advisor.

Endevoring to promote pride and awareness of their background among black students, the club of 13 members planned the activities accordingly. They went to King Kennedy Center during Black History Week where the club heard an Ambassador from Nigeria as a guest speaker. The evening spent at Solid Rock Church, watching a play "All That I Have", written and directed by Jean Newman, was a special treat. Mrs. Reed and her husband plus Keisha Hicks, publicity director for the club, were actors in the production. The play revealed the life of a local, early, pioneer black family trying to survive yet still helping homeless children.

Selling gold plated jewelry and putting on bake sales proved helpful in raising funds. Part of these funds purchased a book about Black Americans, that was donated to the school library. ★

The Leaders Back Them Up Again

Senior Asilomar consisted of seven girls who were chosen last year as juniors to represent Beyer at Asilomar, in Monterey.

The experienced girls greatly helped the junior candidates by sharing their ideas which were conceived at the Conference last year.

Having fundraisers such as; the Toga dance, selling carnations and raffling a teddy bear were some of the ways the seniors shared their enthusiasm toward the conference. The seven girls are: Christina Anderson, Brownwyn Flint, Susan Hill, Susan Irving, Lisa Nicholas, Mo Nicholas, and Stacey Stewart.★

"Jullee's Janitors"

by Lupe Catzalco photos by Dorina Golpeshin

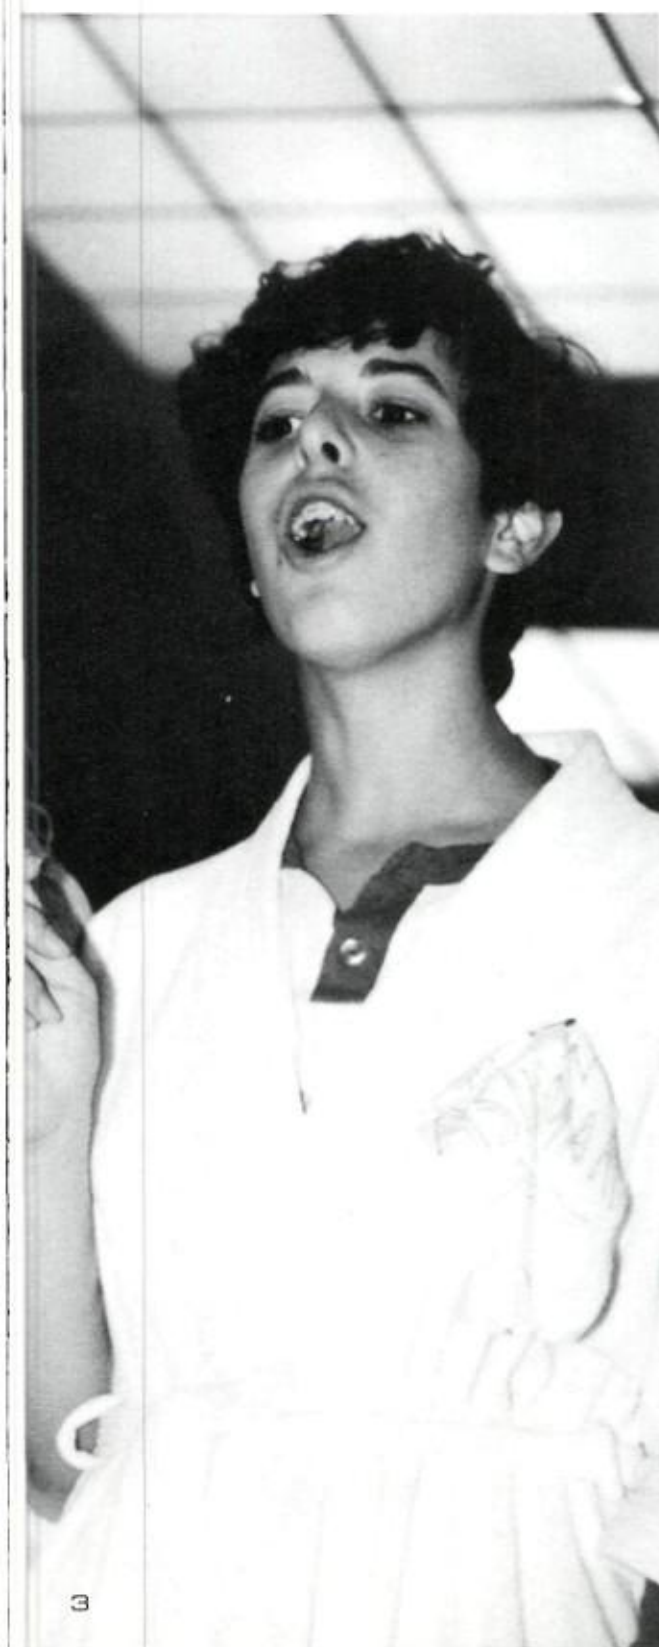

Asilomar is a leadership group for students that have potential to become leaders. The purpose of this club is to expand the horizons of the students involved.

For the past years that Beyer has been connected with Asilomar, the groups had always consisted solely of girls. This year however, Junior Asilomar has two members of the male persuasion.

The eight members are: Bobby Byous, Cindy Hansen, Jullee Jeppson, Chris Lytle, Ruth Melkonian, Rose Miceli, Jennifer Pharis, and Matt Simi. Together as a group they chose Jullee Jeppson to represent them at the Asilomar Conference, which was held in Monterey during the last days of March. At the conference many groups from different schools in the San Joaquin Valley competed for an office such as President, Vice President etc. Jullee ran for the office of Vice President. She was judged on how well she answers the questions asked of her, the skit the group acts out and the originality of their costumes.

The theme for the Asilomar Conference was "Daring To Dream". "Jullee's Janitors" chose "Clean Up Your Act" as their undertheme skit. ★

A First Time

by Dana Budd photos by David Azlin

Clubs first time ever to host an asilomar conference. The conference was held in Monterey where 13 clubs, along with 17 girls from Beyer's S' Club, planned and were in charge of the asilomar conference activities. The conference was just one of the events that centered around S' Club. There was also a mini adopta-grandparent project where club members adopted a grandparent from Hyland rest home for visiting and friendly services. The daycare center Easter Egg hunt, and helping Davis High School at their pancake breakfast kept club members busy. Funds from various events went for financial aid to the members attending the conference.

S' Club is a service organization dedicated to helping the community through the leadership of Mrs. Nancy Sheer. S' Club president Theresa Zellers said, "Accomplishments were greater this year and I'm proud of the way the year turned out." ★

"It's a Small World"

By Kelly McKee photos David Azlin

The breach between countries was closed through friendships made between native and foreign students. Boasting over 100 members, this year's A. F. S. club was the largest in Beyer history. With so many people involved with the club the turnout at meetings and activities was terrific.

Throughout the year there were eleven foreign students at Beyer, although only one, Katia Galdireno, actually came through the A. F. S. program.

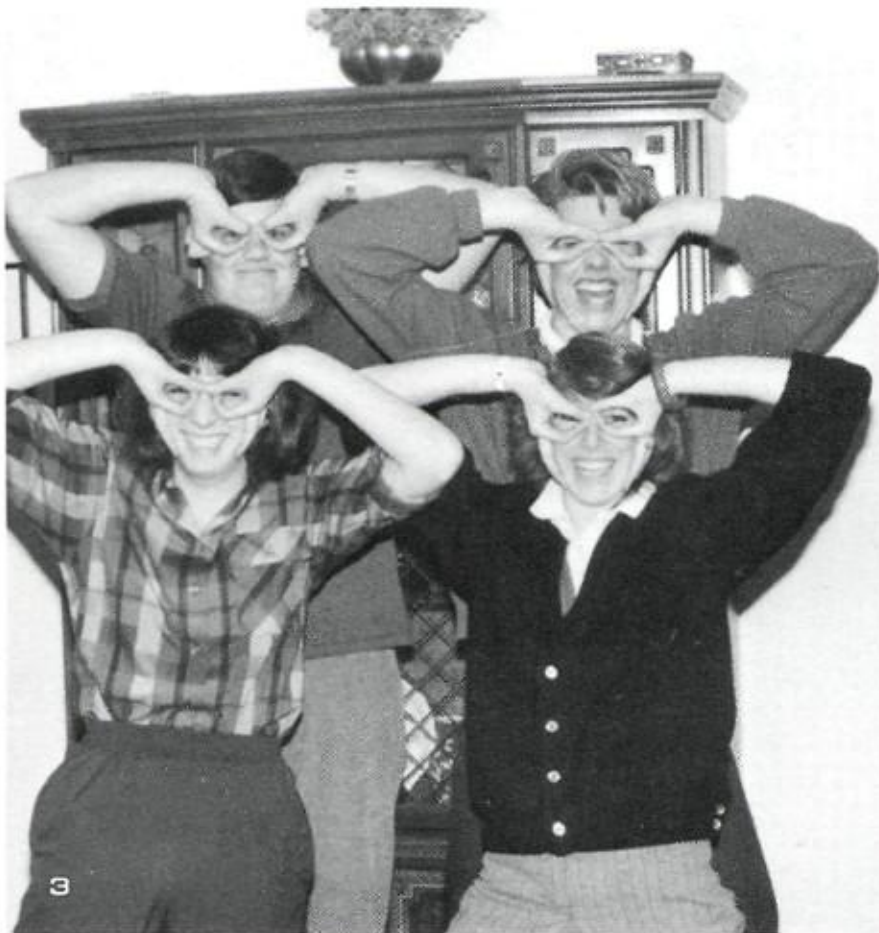

Members of the American Field Service grew to know and respect the ways of other cultures.

Every foreign student had a "big brother" or a "big sister" to assist if they needed anything, such as help on their homework or just some one with whom to talk. "The big brother and sister ideas was very good, because you got to know a lot about American people, American way of life, and how everything was functioning. At the same time you met a lot of people and get new friends," so mentioned one of our foreign students.

While most of the students join the American Field Service to meet and get to know foreign students, some get caught up in "Foreign Fever." These students decide to pack up and travel themselves, through the program. ★

¿ Que hay de nuevo?*

By Teri Nguyen photos by David Azlin

An old club creeps up from the past and unites the Hispanic Americans together to mold the Aztec Club. The club meets every two weeks in Mr. Rostad's Spanish classroom, talks over difficulties with homework, and plans out after school activities. In December, they attended a special conference at Stanislaus State University for all surrounding Aztec clubs from Downey, Modesto High, Turlock, Hughson, and Riverbank chapters. Representatives from U.C. Berkeley and Stanislaus State were invited to prepare the Aztec students for college entrance. All was not work for many activities centered around fun and social life. The Beyer Aztec Club held several volleyball and basketball tournaments throughout the year against the other Aztec chapters at Modesto High School. Other events included the Mexican nights at Roller King and a trip to Marriott's Great America. All these events were supported by the International Financial Service. In order to make more funds the students sold jewelry to friends, relatives, and teachers for Valentine's Day. The leaders also participated in the fundraising to help development of the Aztec Club. Among the leaders were Mr. Rostad, Advisor; Juan Vargas, President; Lupe Flores, Vice President; Sandra Ortega, Secretary; Maria Fuentes and Elisa Martinez, Treasurer; Martin Martinez, Sargeant of Arms. ★

Hispanic culture and Spanish club are one in the same. As one attends each meeting he learns more of the inroads that the Spanish culture has had on our country and state. Visits to San Francisco ballet was one of the highlights of the club's activities. Another special event was the annual Spanish dinner prepared by Mrs. Rancano. Each student participated and brought the ingredients for the meal. Paella was served with rice, shrimp, lobster, clams, chicken, and mussels. Teri Nguyen enjoyed the mint lemonade after she, one of the few, choked on the mussels. She stated, "I'm allergic to seafood!"

Following the great paella meal, each member was served a portion of flan. A sweet custard-like pudding. Jeff Robinson replied, "It was fabulous. I could eat it every day." ★

Dancing With An Accent

by Dolly Williams photos by Rollin Banderob

It's Wednesday night. After arriving in the Faculty parking lot, the distant sound of music is heard coming from the doors of C9. When one approaches the words and rhythm become louder, yet the words are alien and incomprehensible, unless one knows what is taking place. After one enters the room, he hears laughing and talking in a strange foreign language. When entering into the meeting, one finally realizes they are in the German Club.

German Club, is a group of approximately sixty students who join together for a purpose. They meet for either the purpose of cooking, dancing, guest speakers, and more, but that is just the fun part of each meeting. All meetings are based on the effort to let all German students learn and participate in a cultural experience which is unable to be taught in a regular classroom period.

This year's advisor is Frau Driscoll, and the officers are President Chris Zimmerman, and three Vice Presidents consisting of: Paul Ustach, Dana Armstrong, and Kelly Peterson. These four people work together in order to change their club's format so it will improve from the previous year.

Activities this year were cooking, where they made pretzels, in early March, a Foreign Language fair, and at each meeting they were taught new German dances.

Each meeting is different than the others, making all of them new experiences for those who attend. For all German students and German Club members: Wir wünschen euch allen einen schönen Sommer und ein erfolgreiches nächstes Jahr. Auf Wiedersehen! ★ Fascinating, interesting, hard, and precise! Math Club members usually find these four words describe their feelings about math perfectly. The Club, headed by Mr. Ron Tway, meets approximately once a month to tackle Brother Alfred Problems (Math problems of extreme difficulty.) Among the many math competitions the Club has been involved in are: the C.M.L. (California Math League test), Atlantic Pacific test, the Math Superbowl (held at Stanislaus State College), and the National Math Exam. The students in charge of overall "organization" of these activities are: Richard Simmons — Brother Alfred problems, Craig Bridge — Atlantic Pacific tests, Jennifer Sun — Fund raisers, Sandra Ortega and Marie Ortega — C.M.L. In some cases, such as the National Math Exam, the tests were given to anyone who wanted to take it. Near the end of the year Math Club held it's annual party. Interested in Science? Well the Science Club was the club to join. In place of former advisor Mr. Roger Gohring was Mr. Mount Pettingill. The Club met every other Thursday, once at 2:10 and once at 3:10. During the first meeting an election was held to determine officers. The members elected Steve Machado as the president, Andrea Chan as vice president, and Brandy Lee as treasurer/sec. Some possible field trips were discussed by the club members, and it was decided to go the Monterey Aquarium. The cost to each student was $6.50, and the trip took place during the second semester.

The most noticeable change in the Science Club was the fact that the Club practically tripled the number of members it had since last year. ★

Increasing each members awareness of todays issues. Starting January 10, 1985 the Political Science Club met twice a month on Wednesday afternoons. Club President, Becky Epperson believes that there should be a forum where people can discuss issues like abortion and separation of church and state. "I want each member to be able to grasp a new awareness of todays issues," commented Becky. New Projects

"The Pepsi Learn and Earn" project was a highlight that helped more than just the club. The project established a day-care center in the Vintage Faire mall for children of shopping parents. The daycare center was a fund raising business called "The Pepsi Learn and Earn" project. This enabled children to watch movies, work with color crayons, and little activity projects while their parents were shopping throughout the mall. The center was held in the DECA classroom under the direction of Teresa Alves. The classroom is just one of the two in Modesto. The other is at Montgomery Wards advised by Debbie Herrmann.

Changes For The Better.

by Brant Fether photos by Rollin Banderob

Three-Hundred and forty-two pages? Egad, it's a miracle we actually finished the *#@! book! The task of creating the yearbook began during the summer vacation, which involved the decision of a theme. After hours of considering the changes in Beyer's community, people, and activities, the staff decided "Waves of Change" would relate to our school the best.

The book's theme greatly reflected Stars and Stripes especially. For the first time, Beyer Yearbook sent the only two students that were on last years staff, Brant Fether and Rollin Banderob to a yearbook workshop in Santa Cruz California. The two discovered numerous concepts and ideas which were applied to this year's class.

Some of the changes in the yearbook program included: higher standards for copy, photography, layout styles, and staff participation. The yearbook's design also underwent several additions, making Stars and Stripes the largest yearbook in Modesto.

Although, along with the ambition to make a better book came many problems.

The staff wanted to improve their classroom by purchasing carpet to place over a echoing wood floor. The carpet would have improved sound and its appearance for business representatives and publishers, but the issue was turned down until a later date by school administrators. Conflicts continued, with the yearbook staff having only 23 members, meant writers and photographers made sacrifices to stay and work on weekends and holidays. Sometimes till 12:00 pm on school nights just to meet deadlines. About 4,500 hours were spent by staff members working in the yearbook room and over 3,000 pictures were taken by photographers. Yes, it is quite a task, but after the hours of dedication, only 23 Beyer students can proudly claim, "That's the book I helped put together!" A book which captured the "Waves of Change" at Beyer High School.★

Turning The Tide

by Julie Guthrie photos by Rollin Banderob

Twenty-four dedicated journalists turned the tides for a fresh new outlook on student life.

In '84 and '85 the Courier staff didn't have an editor, but an editorial board. The editorial board and advisor, Mr. Steve Ray formed a music department, advertising staff, and sports staff. The rest of the members worked as reporters on current events and profiles.

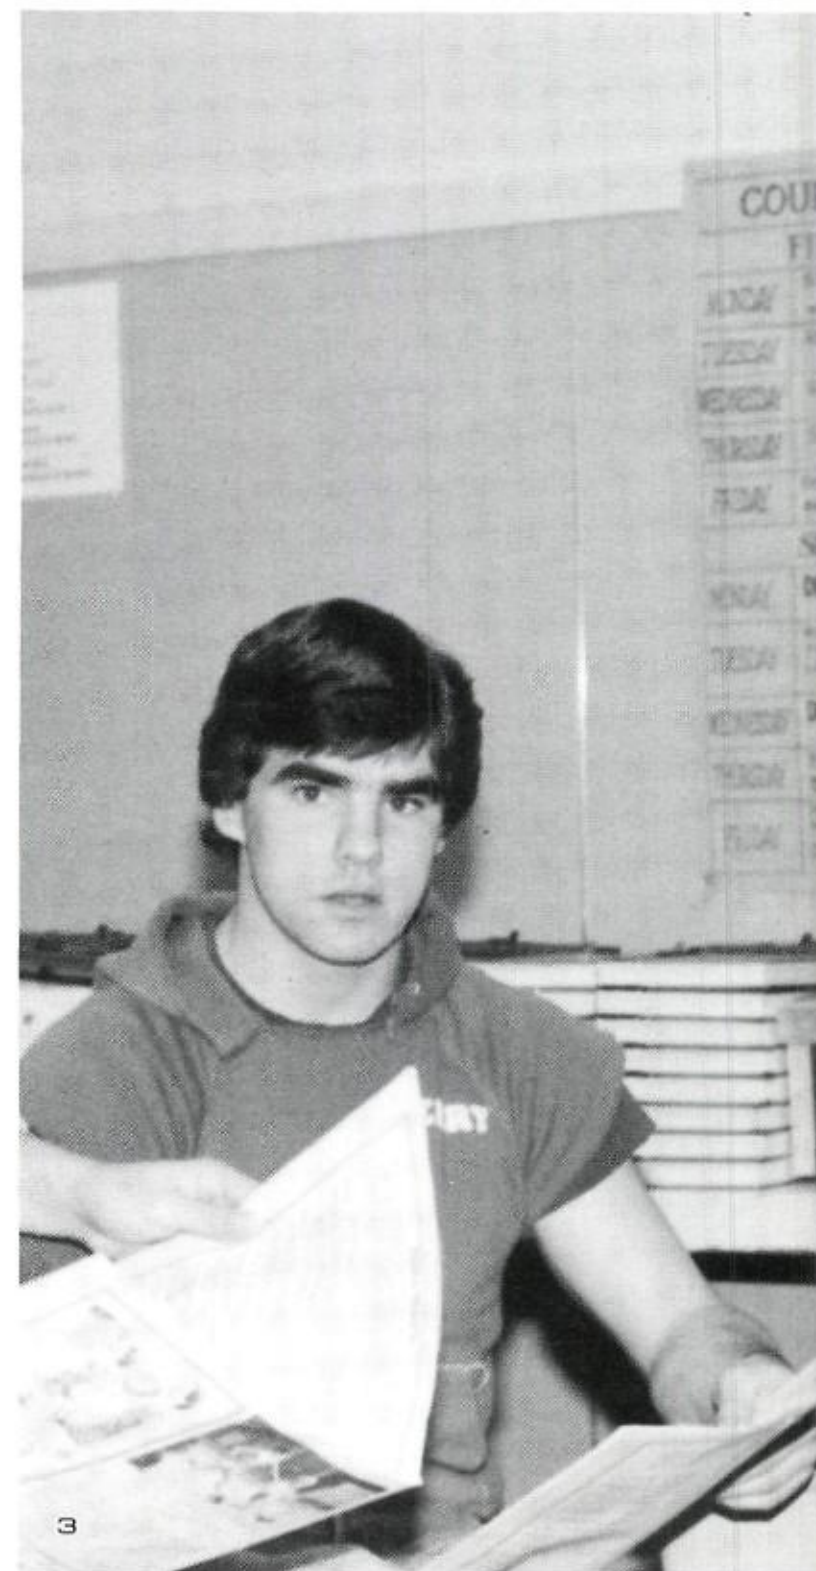

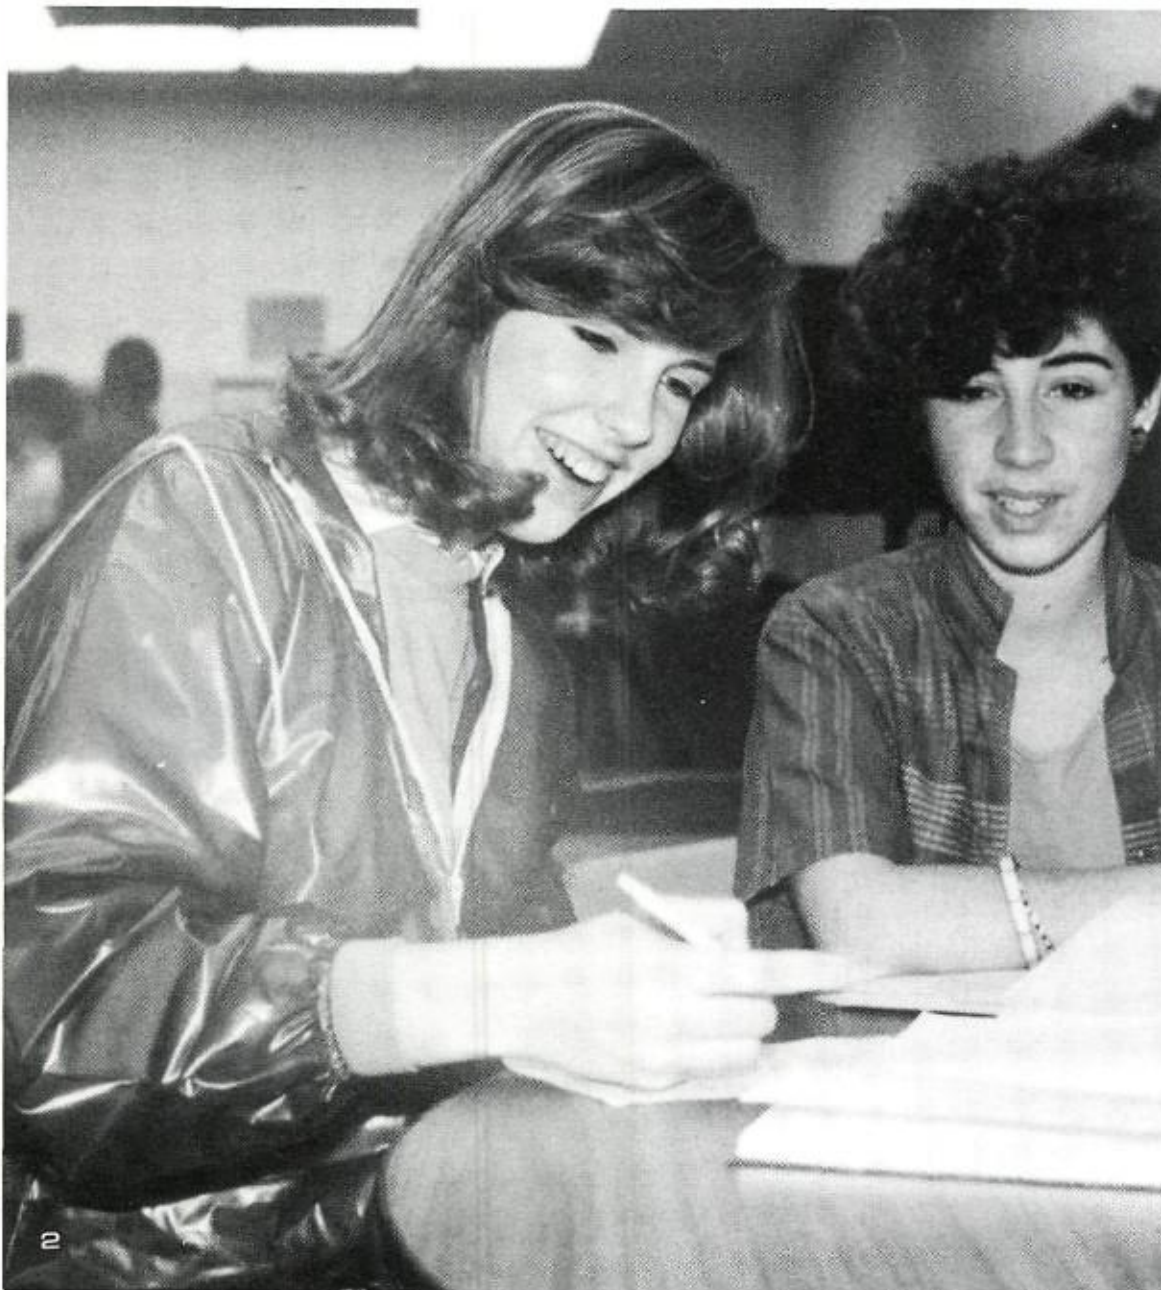

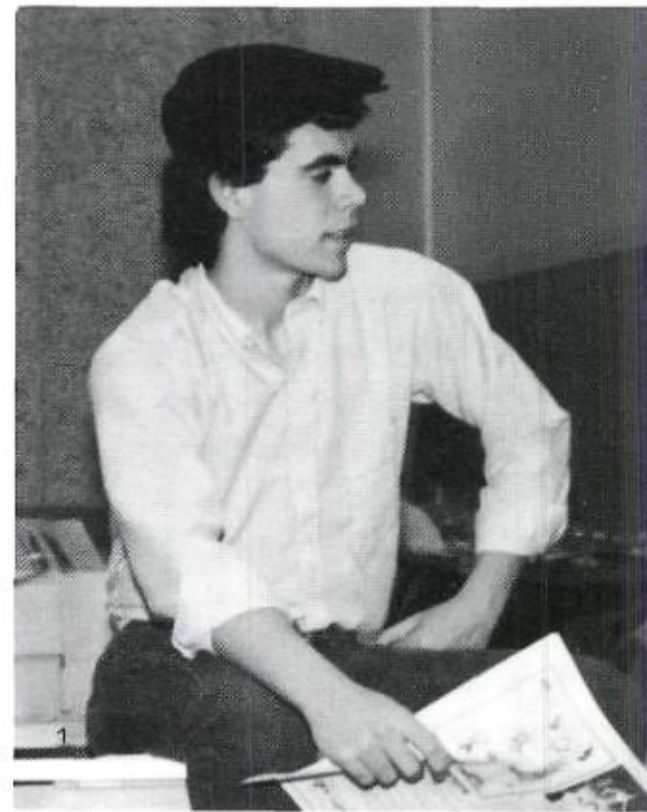

A large number of students participated in the Data Match program. This compatibility matching program gave all students the chance to learn their compatibility to ten members of the opposite sex. Students had the opportunity to buy their results, which were printed out on a computer. Each print cost seventy-five cents.

Profiles were done on special individuals, for example the Courier printed an article on Jill Shimtz.

The Courier is printed up in Ceres at the Media Center. This year the Ceres Media Center bought new printing equipment which enabled the Courier to switch from standard size paper to tabloid size paper.

The advisor, Mr. Steve Ray had advisors Larry Dovichi and Carol Nardi from the Modesto Bee talk before the staff. Some staff members planned on working in a journalistic field. ★

All About The NFL

by Robyn Phillips photos by David Azlin

Time and Newsweek are probably not the types of magazines you'd read in your spare time, but to the students who belong to the NFL team, they are essential.

Leading Beyer's National Forensic League (NFL) is Mr. Ron Underwood. He has been in charge of this League since Beyer High School opened. Fifty-Five students are involved with this activity. A large amount of students signed up to join, but only a few students actually got accepted. "This group is not a club," according to the instructor. "It is a group called the National Speech Honorary Society, and all the students involved are very proud to represent their school." "Belonging to this group is a challenge, but it also brings special relationships together, not only with group members from Beyer, but from various schools throughout California," said Becky Epperson three year veteran of this group.

This group competes in twelve Yosemite League Tournaments per year, and usually comes back with trophies in all "A" divisions (Veterans) and most "B" divisions (New Comers).

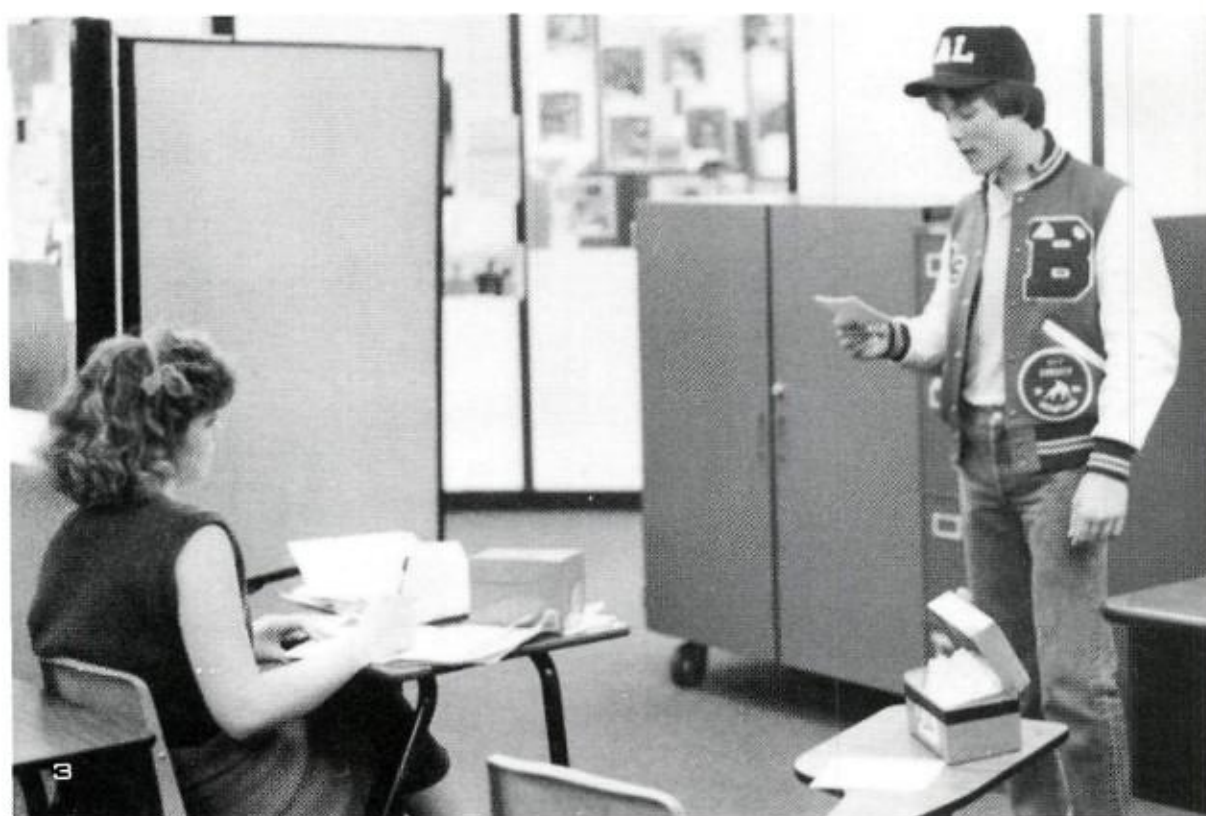

NFL raises most of its money through the students and their families. It is always a group effort.

"Out of a large group of outstanding students, Teri Stueland, Cheryl Korte, and Kristin Glasgow are just some of the high achievers. The top ten NFL students are: Karen Ehm, Debbie Brooks, Valli Israels, Steve Machado, Mark Melkonian, Kelli Probst, Len Sundelin, Andrea Chan, Darlene Walker and Becky Epperson. The top ten are determined on how many NFL points each individual earns in class, they may earn these points through competition. ★

Star Search

Prince, Madonna, Julio and Willy, are just some of the stars which were mimicked in the First Annual Lipsync Contest, put on by Beyer's Drama Department to raise money for upcoming productions.

This year, Beyer's Drama Department was directed by Mrs. Jackie Buckner. Her assistant director and stagemanager was Melinda Tunison. Melinda said, "Drama is a lot of fun, but it is also hard work. This year I directed the childrens play, "Rikki-Tikki-Tavi", my first shot at directing. I really made the cast work hard, but in the long run it was worth it."

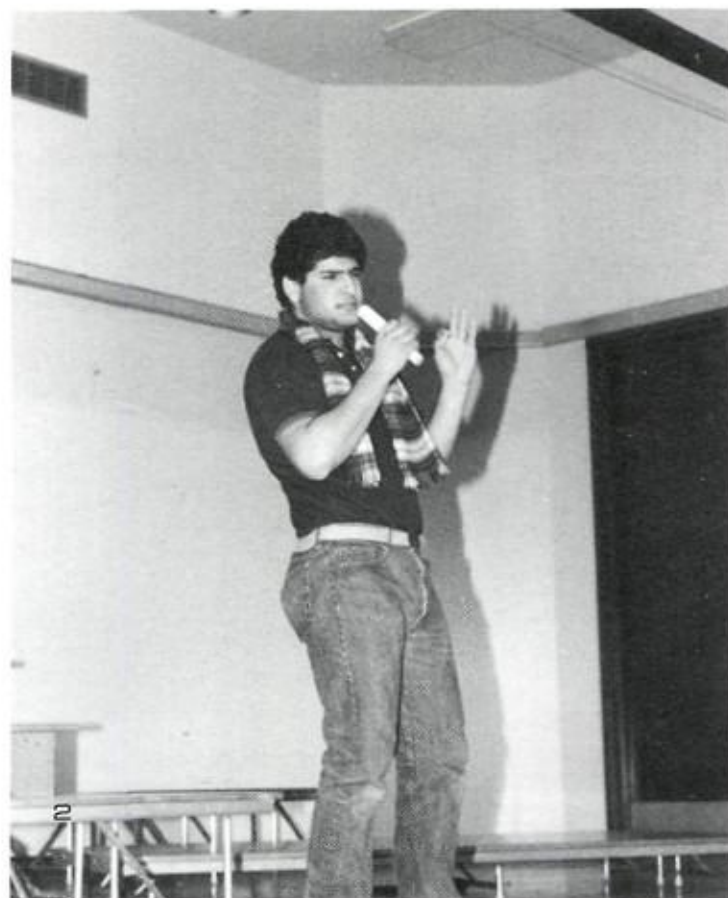

The first play presented by Drama was "Girls in Ward Four." This was a chance for new and old students to express themselves in front of a live audience. For some this was a first time experience which was exciting as well as nerve-wracking.

Many creative activities take place during an average day in Drama. Students practice monologues, dialogues, singing and dancing routines, (This led to the Lipsync Contest), and skits which were written by the students. "Interest in Drama has grown rapidly. This was evident with the three classes in the fall and the waiting lists to get into second semester classes. This was an indication of the desire for physical expression," said Mrs. Buckner. ★

Press Masters

What do Mark Galli, John Mackenzie, Richard De Signori, and Jim Kulina have in common? All four were officers in the Graphic's Club. Mark Galli was President, John Mackenzie Vice President, Richard De Signori Secretary, and Jim Kulina Treasurer. The Graphic's Club was basically set on, "Providing a strong foundation financially and through precedence for next year's club," as viewed by President Mark Galli.

The club was set back with the loss of Mr. John Wong, who left because of personal problems. Mr. Glen Streeter, a graphic artist, joined the teaching staff and was able to remotivate the clubs activities and leadership. Due to the club's late start in the year, and the fact that almost all of the members were "first" year members, these advanced students put a new aspect in all the club's meetings. The club's meetings were approached in a more formal manner, somewhat Parliamentary Procedure, and definitely more organized.

Graphic's Club usually held meetings once a week, building up ideas for fund raisers and activities that would involve the club as a group and help to benefit others.★

An Endangered Species

by Kelly McKee photos by Rollin Banderob

At the top of the endangered species list was placed one of our school's clubs. The students were in an uproar. They provided petitions signed by parents, and also by past and present members. The students even went so far as to write to Assemblyman Gary Condit. This year the school district thought that Future Farmers of America was an unnecessary program.

As a result of the students' prompt action, Assemblyman Gary Condit telephoned the school, stating that he was in favor of the F.F.A. program. The school finally succumbed to the pressure from both students and Gary Condit by allowing Mr. Heintz, F.F.A.'s instructor, to add on an additional class to his teaching curriculum and to drop his preparatory period.

The F.F.A. curriculum consists of many projects which involve different categories, mainly: sheep, dairy cows, beef, swine, rabbits, horticulture, agriculture, mechanics, and welding. Each of these projects takes up many hours of practice and hard work.

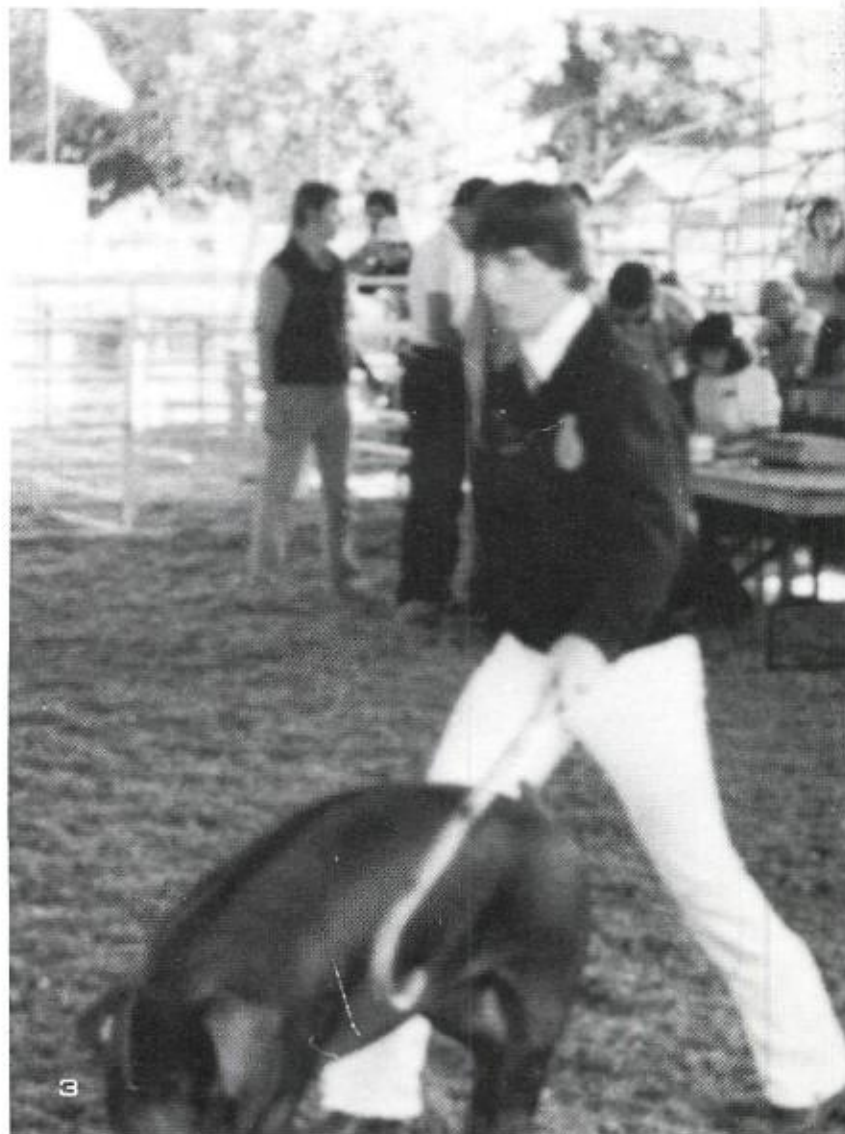

When any project is completed, it is taken to a competition during the summer. The students were able to compete in: Stanislaus County Fair, the State Fair, and at the Cow Palace in Oakland.

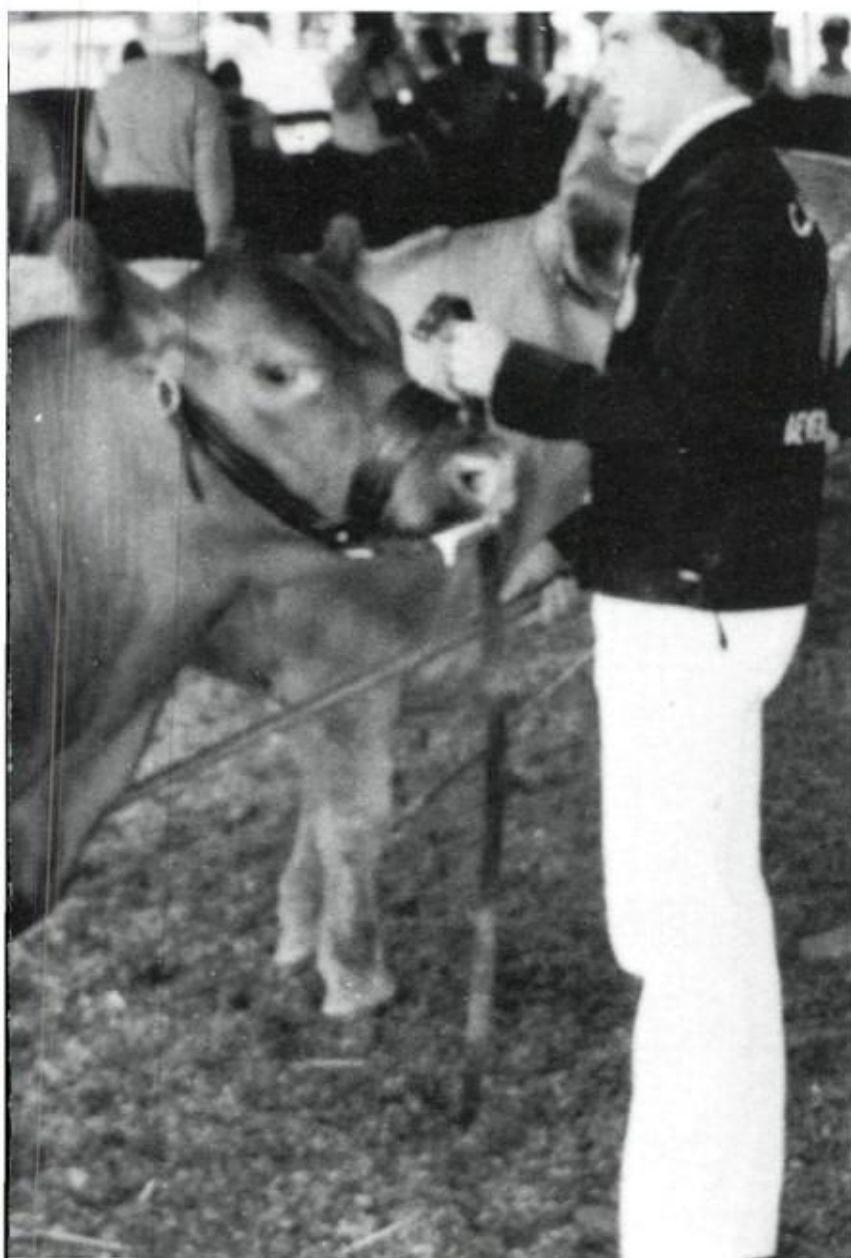

Those students who place animals in competition always make sure the animals are constantly cared for. On an average, 15 hours a week are spent with each animal.

The club, with a membership of 35 strong, sponsored such fund-raisers as: The Harvest Dinner, the Pancake Breakfast, and the Parent Member Banquet. During the Parent Member Banquet annual awards were presented for outstanding achievements and new officers were installed. ★

Where There's a Will There's a Way

by Doug Bates photos by Rollin Banderob

How do you communicate when you are unable to speak? Several students can explain the way they handle the problem. They are using the form of communication called BLISSYMBOLICS. Blissymbolics is a visual system based on symbols. Some of the symbols are pictographs or look like the things that they represent. Mrs. Rosenthal, their advisor, goes on to explain, that other symbols may be ideographs or international signs. Blissymbolic boards are now being used by 12,000 to 18,000 individuals throughout the world.

The club is active in fund raising through candy sales, bake sales and contributions. Funds are used to support club trips as the one taken to the capitol. This was a special VIP tour around the capitol and legislative offices.

Communication is the key word that helps these students enjoy the day. Mrs. Rosenthal mentioned that Ken Burks enjoys talking to students and tries to make them feel at ease when asking questions about himself or the club. Sometimes Ken will say "It is alright to talk to me, relax, ask me any question you like.", to again try and make fellow students and adults feel comfortable in communicating with him.

Tumbling With Pride

The sport of gymnastics has slowly diminished in popularity. Lack of funds have deteriorated it's progress, but here at Beyer there were over thirty dedicated gymnasts struggling to reach their personal goals. Helping each other spotting on stunts such as walk-overs and back-handsprings greatly improved their rate of progress. With the instruction of Mrs. Bray, the gymnasts displayed their talents of balance, grace, and determination in assemblies at local schools and at an evening show to raise money to support their cause. It is this group effort that allows gymnastics to continue. ★

Beyer's girls playing football? Yes, Powder Puff Football!

After three weeks of practice every-day for two hours after school the teams played each other. The Varsity team coached by Mike Moore and Kurt Barfield lost to the Junior Varsity team coached by Jeff Lemay Earl Bowser.

"All coaches would do it again if asked. I thought it was great fun," said Mike Moore.

"An experience. It was fun to work with the girls. They tried their hardest. It was good experience for both the coaches and the girls," said Kurt Barfield.

Activities Commissioner, Joni Salyer said she organized Powder Puff Football to promote spirit and bring people together. ★

Under Construction

An unusual noise was heard on Thursday evening about 5 p.m. coming from the woodshop.

Machines were running full blast and several boys were cutting and fitting boards together to get the orders out. Bandsaw Bandits' club night turns the woodshop into a full scale cabinet shop. You name it, they would make it, if indeed it could be made from wood.

Utility cabinets, stereo cabinets, special items of any type are produced each year by this club at very little cost to the consumer. Any profits resulting from the various jobs is used for trips, food during club nights, or tools needed for the regular wood classes.

All funding supporting the club's activities comes from outside orders for household items that can be made from lumber. Orders are received and estimates are given for each item requested.

Bandsaw Sandits club started and "Excellence Award" to be presented each year to outstanding students at all grade levels. Under the leadership of Doug Bates, president David Gilmore, treasure Ken Coutts and shop lead men Jay Reed and David Gilmore, each job gets top treatment. ★

Riding The Waves

A "halfpipe" for spring and summer fun kept skateboarders busy. Each meeting held was full of plans for new places to skate, and watching video's to get some insights on the pro's and their technique's. After learning from the pro's, they're off and riding at the "Delinquent Ditch" behind M. J. C. west campus, to try out their new and old tricks. Jeff Pinheiro was this years president and founder of the club. Jeff is also one of the premiere riders along with Justin Forbes, and Chris Little. It takes years of practice to obtain good balance, and a variety of tricks. The equipment a rider uses is very important. Most riders use a laminated board, around 10" x 30", good trucks for sharp turns, and fast urethane wheels with precision bearings. Jeff Pinehiro sums up the attitude most riders have, "A skater doesn't really care where he skates as long as he can skate. In a skaters mind there are no limits." ★

A Club in the Making

On a dark and cold Wednesday night, students gather together in room D-8 to learn the fundamentals of "the games." Chess Club was introduced to Beyer this year for the very first time. Created by club president Mike Oppenheim, the club consisted of 10 boys and 2 girls, a total of twelve members in all. The club met regularly on the second and fourth Wednesday of every month, at which time members were taught chess maneuvers which would increase their skill and where members also played against one another in a chess match. Guided by Mr. Walker, the club's advisor, the students involved not only learned different procedures in capturing their opponents pieces, they also learned to think in a clear and logical manner, something that is required of any good chess player. ★

Sound Waves

Has the sound of music and the sound of cher-ibic-like voices ever fill your ears during first period? If so it was Beyers Concert Choir rehearsing for a performance. They have several festivals for soloists and a variety of music at many different campuses during the year. In the midst of the year all choir students have the opportunity to try out for the all state honor choir that is sponsored by the California Music Education Association. Only the best singers are chosen to take part in this special choir. This year

Dena Phifer, Bryna Wallach, Chip
Potter, and Sean Roddy all participated in the all state honor choir.

Concert choir meets as a class first period, but the students are expected to do much more.
They often host visiting choirs that are touring and our students have the opportunity to meet other students from these choirs by giving them a place to stay overnight. Ms. Troedson, the class conductor, said, "The concert choir has a solid foundation in singing and is continuing to grow." ★

Changing Harmony

by Wendy Bystrom photos by David Azlin

There is harmony between friends. Jason Barnett, Micheal Beason, Murry Kidd, and Sean Roddy harmonize beautifully as Beyers only Barbershop Quartet. Jason sings lead, Micheal sings tenor, Murry sings baritone, and Sean sings bass. They decided to form the group at the end of last year and have worked hard to develop their skills in harmonizing. Jason says, "Being lead, I usually don't have it too hard harmonizing, but when I do, I find it very difficult." All the members are proud to say that they are a part of a city barbershop group. Dedicated, they get together with the other forty members every tuesday evening. ★

Have you ever walked into a grand opening of a business and noticed that a few of your school friends are up there singing? Madrigals, a class that begins before all the others at an early 7:00 a.m., often sings for civic organizations upon request. They also attend many festivals and leave to visit other schools' choirs. They also tour with the regular choir. Although they tend to stick to the classical era, at the end of the year, they do some jazz and musical scores to add variety. Mrs. Troedson continues in her remarks on how this class does a lot in helping encourage music and the development of musical abilities. ★

The American Beat

by Kay Olson photos by Rollin Banderob

Ever since the dawn of time music has plucked the heart-strings of the human spirit. Music has been used as a way of communicating feelings and emotions to others and it has been regarded as a source of entertainment. Multitudes of generations have been inspired in their lives in one way or another and consequently converted these inspirations into the great musical scores so many listen to today. The participants of the symphonic band found here at Beyer are not to be excluded from the vast population of accomplished musicians.

The symphonic band consists of approximately 65 musicians, many of which have played their instruments for a minimum of five years. Through hours of hard work and dedication, the students have proven their music capabilities on and off the stage. One example of this would be Stefan Cooper who, through countless hours of practice, has earned membership and participation in the 1985 All-State Honors Band.

From insight of the band's year-long performance, Mr. Gary Gilroy, band instructor, said, "Through hours of traveling and practicing together, many enduring friendships have been created among the students, as will memories which shall be reflected upon for many years to come." ★

The recognition the Jazz Band deserves is overlooked too often. This group of eighteen musicians practiced at seven o'clock prior to each school day. Their enthusiasm for education was revealed by their enrollment in the eighth period Music Theory class. Their goodwill was expressed by their performances for the elderly at the Casa De Modesto and their Christmas Concert. The band members also hosted Woody Herman and his Thundering Herd. Mr. Herman conducted a Jazz Technique Clinic, which gave the band members the experience to work with a professional. They also performed in the California Music Educator Association in Hayward. ★

The Championship Season

by Kay Olson photos by Rollin Banderob

Dedication and determination are two words applicable to all members of the marching band. "This year's band season was one of success and fulfillment for all who participated," so says band instructor Mr. Gilroy. Contrary to popular belief, the season actually started during the hot summer days before school. On some days, the outdoor temperature would be 100°F+, and even hotter in the rooms in which the band practiced. Mr. Gilroy recalled, "The kids would sweat so bad that by the time they finished, their bodies were drenched." The band didn't practice as many hours as other high schools, but all students concentrated almost exclusively on perfecting their performance.

There were many competitions that the band took part in. Six were located in such cities as Livermore, Logan, Gustine, and Moreau, with the band's effort resulting in first place awards. Modesto and Clovis were two shows in which the band earned second place. The final competition in Oak Grove was met with a second place score.

When asked what made the 1984 marching band season worthwhile, some of the replies received were: Steve Costa — "To play for a crowd of people produces a mutual joy and a spread of happiness felt by the audience and band members that will be remembered for a lifetime . . ."; Kurt Sterling — "... All in all, the success and fun made it all worthwhile." ★

Waving Flags

by Kay Olson photos by Rollin Banderob

Red, white, and blue flags flash across the football field. It's half-time at the Friday night football game. The marching band and color guard have arrived to open the half-time show.

Sixteen hours a week can really be a drag for some students. Yet the members of Beyer's winterguard faced each hour with cheerfulness and enthusiasm. Winterguard was basically an extension of color guard, which was most often seen accompanying the marching band during the football season and several other competitions. Winterguard captain Kelley Cox defined winterguard as being similar to dancing: "It's like dancing. If there's an accent in the music, you do a move. Rather than just using your arms and legs, the equipment we use is an extension of our bodies."

The team consisted of five juniors, six sophomores, and twelve freshman. Anyone was able to join. Students that were previously in marching band assisted in writing and teaching routines as well as designing much of the equipment. These students were Brent Kline, who wrote many of the drills, Cindy Boday, who contributed to equipment design, and Carol Sherman, who dealt with rifle equipment design.

The winterguard participated in four shows, which were located in Manteca, Modesto (at Beyer and Downey high schools), and the Western Dream pageant in Oakland, respectively. ★

Setting Off The Spark . . .

by Lupe Catzalco photos by Rollin Banderob

Spirit, pride, energy and vitality. These are the factors that helped to produce two of Beyer's most successful cheer-leading squads. With the guidance and support from Advisor Sherry Fontana and strive and dedication of Head Song Leader and Head Yell Leader, Kara Wilson and Susan Rush, Beyer's varsity squads set off the spark of spirit that invigorated our school. Football and basketball games wouldn't be the same without our dazzling array of spiritleaders who motivated students, players, parents, and teachers to cheer our teams into victory.

Last summer our spirit leaders attended camp at the University of Santa Cruz, there they received all superior ribbons, two spirit sticks and one superior trophy. At the competition in Ceres High, they won first place, and at the competition at Stanislaus State the girls were able to win first place.

On the last day of camp, Jill Turner and Rhonda Hoover were given the opportunity to try out to become USA instructors. This is the highest honor you can receive at camp.

Setting off the spark of spirit was clearly the objective of the Varsity Yell and Song, spiritleaders. ★

Uniquely Spirited

Unique talent and lot's of spirit promoted this years sophomore squads to have a fun-filled year. Between selling programs at football games and selling calendars, candy, and notepads to raise money, the squads were busy planning and practicing new routines. Some say that the song squad had a different style when it came to their routines. Most of their routines were done to songs by 'Yazoo' and 'Depeche Mode'. A small squad, yet big when it came to routines and especially when they did pryamids sophomore yell proved even a small squad can promote spirit. Over this past summer the sophomore squads went to camp. The song squads won a trophy for their home routine. Both song and yell brought home a spirit stick for being one of the most spirited squads at camp. This years head song leader was Annica Sundelin and Kristin Hartley was the yell leader. Both girls were on the freshmen squad last year. With unique songs and unique routines this years squads were one to remember. ★

Not even the broken ankle of a squad member could dampen the spirit of this years Freshman Spiritleaders. These five enthusiastic young ladies were hard workers. They engaged in extensive practices all summer and after school when it started. Their efforts shined through in their performances in rallies and at games. The girls also received first place awards at their first competition at Stanislaus State and helped the B.H.S. Spiritleaders receive the Sweepstakes trophy. When asked what they liked most about being Cheerleaders their reply was that they liked the fact that they had more of an opportunity to meet new people. Patriot Pals

Who helped lead the team to victory numerous times? Who filled the crowd with large amounts of spirit? The Mascots! Yes, the Mascots, Ethel Charland and Kristina Anderson, gave their all to help the team out when they needed a little get up and go, which helped us with the reality of defeat and, moreover, the thrill of victory.

These girls, both Seniors, played a large part in rallies, games, and just plain everyday school life. One could always find them at a rally or a game doing something to support the home team. At rallies they were usually doing a routine to a popular song; at games, they were probably jumping and cheering for one of our teams. But whatever one found them doing, they could say, "Hey, they've got spirit!" ★

But somebody must do it! Track, Football, Baseball, Basketball, and Wrestling are all sports that were covered by statisticians this year. You might be asking yourself what is a statistician? These girls are from all different classes, and they assist the coaches by making notes on, for instance; how many yards a rusher gains in each football game or how many outs a pitcher makes in each inning. Michelle Osgood, a track statistician, says, "Stats is a way of getting involved and helping out your fellow team mates." Waves of Enthusiasm

If you were at the Modesto Courtroom at six a.m. November 17, you probably saw thirty sleepy, sweaty Varsity athletes jumping around to the latest music. What you would have been witnessing is the Spirit Club's Varsity Football Team Shanghai. The team members were given a surprise awakening and before given a chance to shower or dress, were taken by spirit club members to aerobics. To help relieve some of the shock, they were treated to breakfast afterwards. The girls also sold balloons at football games, painted posters and participated on spirit days by dressing up and cheering on our teams towards victory. One thing missing this year, due to new rules, was the tradition of having secret pals for the athletes. ★

"What a score!", screamed an excited patriot. "What a game!" shouted another. Of course, they were talking about the 63-61 victory over the Atwater Falcons at the Winter Homecoming basketball game. This victory over Atwater caused people to become even more ecstatic than they already were. During halftime, the Royalty were crowned with Julie Denny and Jim Hickman reigning supreme.

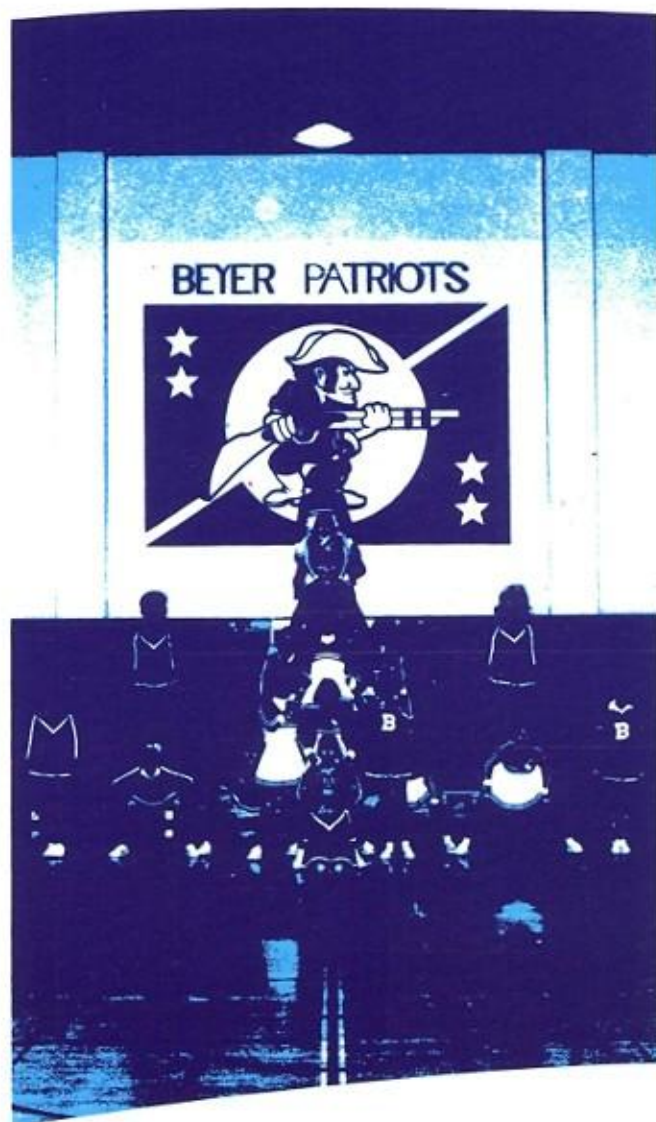

The night rally was something new and slightly different from traditional rallies. It was held on a Wednesday night, and several events took place. All of the Homecoming Royalty were announced, people screamed and yelled for their classes, and a rather odd game was played. A game that consisted of megaphones, toilet paper and pies; and ended in one huge mess! A dance put on by the cheerleaders was another contributing factor that helped people drain themselves of energy. ★

Dances! Dances! and More Dances!

by Dana Budd and Julie Guthrie photos by Rob Anderson

What's the hottest night time activity at Beyer? The dances of course. The Yearbook, Booster Club, Key Club, Speech and Asilimar, among many other, sponsored dances. The average attendance was about 500 students at each dance whether they were good or bad, the forum was always full of slamming, breaking, and "slow dancing".

Slam dancing became a problem when injuries occurred among students. If slamming got out of hand, the students who were responsible were eliminated from the dance.

This year there were always four or more law enforcement officers to control outbreaks of disagreement or vandalism. Students may have noticed fencing that had to be used around the restrooms and dance entrance to aid in assuring a secure and enjoyable dance atmosphere. At each dance drinks were sold by various clubs such as the Junior Class, Yearbook, and more. Lighting was also a special feature. The "CCC" D.J.'s used white lights and for special effects the Yearbook dance D.J. Jeff Krone used colored lights, flashing to the beat of the music.

Break dancing wasn't seen very much, but occasionally one would see a group in a corner doing the latest of break dancing steps.

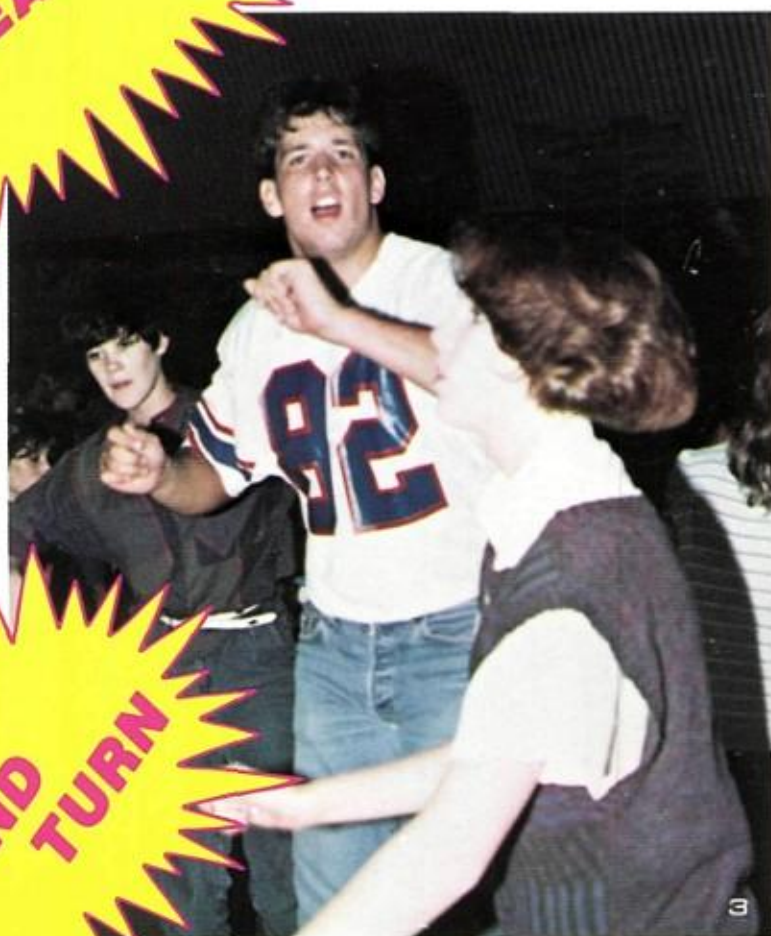

Themes for some of the dances we had this year included, Morp, Homecoming, Toga, Masquerade, and 50's. Those were just a few of the entertaining evenings where the student body could show spirit.

We give thanks to the various clubs, chaperones, and students that made each dance successful.

Most of those in attendance had something good to say about the dance each evening. ★

Catch the Wave of Spirit Week

by Robyn Phillips photos by Rollin Banderob

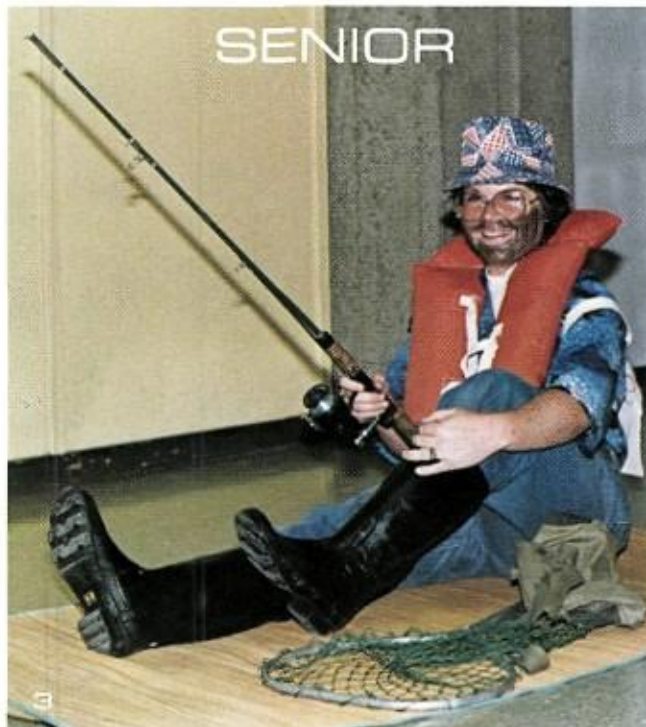

"Golly, Black Flag is totally awesome," is a combination of slang terms commonly found in the average nerd, punker, and surfer, during Spirit Dress Up Week. Never before has there been such a turn out of spirited students who participated in this event. The first day was a bit different, it was "Polyester Day," guys and gals went rumaging through mom's and dad's closets looking for that specific item of clothing to complete the look. Some of the polyester clothing was repeated when "Nerd Day" appeared on campus. The old horn-rimmed, taped glasses were the most effective. As usual, "Punk Day" brought out the animal in everyone. From fishnet stockings to florescent green and pink hair.

"Mock Davis Day" was specifically oriented toward football players and cheerleaders. Of course, there were a few Davis nerds. On the last day of spirit week, the Freshmen, Sophomores, Juniors, and Seniors had their own day. Freshmen were 80's superstars, Sophomores the 1920's, Juniors were hippies, and Seniors were surfers.

Just because Spirit Week ended did not mean the spirit had ceased, it continued throughout the year. Everyone who participated in this event said that it was a lot of fun. It gave many people the chance to become a totally different person for a day. This was one of the many changes that took place on campus at Beyer. ★

by Jill Turner and Sabrina LoBello photos by Rollin Banderob

An hour of spirit was enjoyed by students and faculty as a much needed break from the routine school day. Spiritleaders, Class officers, athletes, and students combined to make the rallies a great success. Two important goals of the people involved in the rallies were to present rallies that were fun to attend, and to promote school spirit and team appreciation.

There were few rallies this year, but the ones held were better and involved more of the student body and faculty. Some rallies will always be remembered and may become tradition here at Beyer such as, the annual "Kissing of the Pig" and the Beyer Beret's version of the Spiritleaders world. Hard work and dedication by our Spiritleaders, Activities Comm. Joni Salyer, Sherri Fontana and the many other students involved helped to make this years' rallies UNFORGETTABLE! ★

A Day Of Excitement . . .

by Rob Anderson photos by Rollin Banderob

"And the 1984 Fall Homecoming Queen is . . .". Those were the words five girls anxiously awaited to hear on October 26. Altogether, four girls were chosen to represent the 1984-85 Fall Homecoming Royalty. These girls, Kathy O'Connell — Freshman Princess, Annica Sundelin — Sophomore Princess, Julie Jacobsen — Junior Princess and Dana Armstrong — Senior Queen, illustrated Beyer's spirit with their personalities and charming smiles.

More spirit was generated at the Homecoming rally by other sources as well. For example, the cheerleaders, with the building of their massive pyramid, made everyone jump with excitement. The band generated spirit by their magnificent display of musical genius ranging from drums to horns, and by that certain charisma they always seem to have.

The most spirit generated would have to go to the great wave of people who attended the event. Whether it was yelling for their class or applauding for the many events that took place, the electrifying spirit was constantly present. ★

"Well, we almost won", sighed Jill Turner and the rest of her squad at the end of the Homecoming game. Everyone in the mass sea of faces can recall the score; Davis — 24, Beyer — 14. Although there was disappointment because of our loss to Davis, it was offset by the energy and excitement that dominated the evening. Many of the traditional Homecoming occurrences helped make this energy that was felt by all of the dedicated Patriots.

With a short drive around the stadium, the Queen and her band of Princesses, Rockers, Flappers and Gangsters, Hippies and Surfers, made everyone stand up and take notice. The procession, during halftime, gave each class the opportunity to enter a float according to their character. The Sophomores showed great pride in their float and thus, won the title of best float. This made the Sophomores absolutely ecstatic.

Desire and momentum are two words that could describe the 1984-5 Varsity Football Team. They had many ups and downs this year, but this team had a lot of heart. They came back from colossal defeats to make astonishing victories. Our homecoming game against Davis was the most emotional game of the year. It may have ended in a 14-24 loss, but as one player stated, "We had 'em runnin' scared". Five of our seven losses were snatched away in the final minutes of the game. Our record may not have shown it, but we had many conference standouts in the line up. They include; Scott Lemay, Mike Moore, Herbert Spencer, and Jim Wooten. The defensivemen; Jim Hickman, Rod Long, Dave Morganson, Chris Lytle, and Scott Lemay led the Pats to finish third in the C.C.C. among defense. Scott Lemay also finished first in the C.C.C. among pass receivers and had nine interceptions this season. Jim Hickman had an impressive eight interceptions this season also. Our 1984 team was led by head coach, John Sai, and three notable assistants; Dave Cheney, Harold Crumpley, and Craig Rydquist. ★

by Sabrina LoBello photos by Rollin Banderob

"We quit!!" This was bitterly shouted by over half the Junior Varsity team due to built up hostilities among the coaches and players. After having walked most of their laps during a practice, the team was given extra miles to run. Feeling this was unfair, many of the guys walked off the field. The coach handled it professionally and refused to let these players participate in the game against Manteca that Friday. His judgement was proven valid. The team went on to win that night with a final score of 15-8 in Beyer's favor. The overall season record of 3-7 was disappointing, however. Being a young team though, they were eager to learn and compelled to improve. Beyer's Sophomore team was filled with talent and ability. With more drive, intensity and desire they could have been one of the best teams in the league. A major step towards improving the team was changing the 2nd string quarterback, Bob Wessling (68), to a starting player and switching the original quarterback, Mark Schnapf (19) to tail back where his speed and agility could be better utilized. These two athletes and Corey Watts (24), Tim Louis (84), Rick Bussell (18), and Earl Bowser (60) really helped to keep this season from becoming a dismal failure. It was a tough year in football for these young men, but with the losses and problems came experience and growth towards their future as Varsity team members in 1985. ★

A Wave Of Players

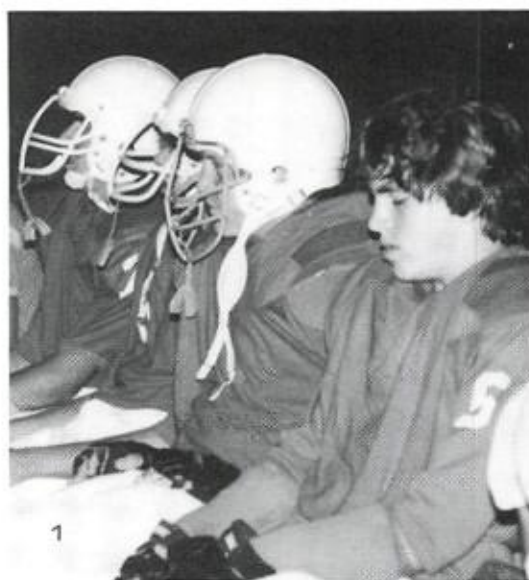

by Robyn Phillips photos by David Azlin

The last second of the fourth quarter passes, the gun is fired, echoing another Beyer loss. Although the team had a tough season this year, coach Paul Cornwell commented, "The team never gave up."

The team consisted of seventy players at the beginning of the season. Due to injury, grades, and drop-outs, fifty-five players finished out the season.

Beyer's largest team ever was high-lighted by good defense playing. Key player Geoff Mccoubrey commented, "Coach Rich Snow and Coach Cornwell helped us become the best defense players we could be." According to Cornwell, they produced a 2-8 and 1-4 standing league record. The year was successful regardless of it's win/loss record.

Mr. Cornwell summed up the season by saying, "The team has the ability to have success in the future, with hard work and dedication." ★

Suffered Severely

by Julie Guthrie photos by David Azlin

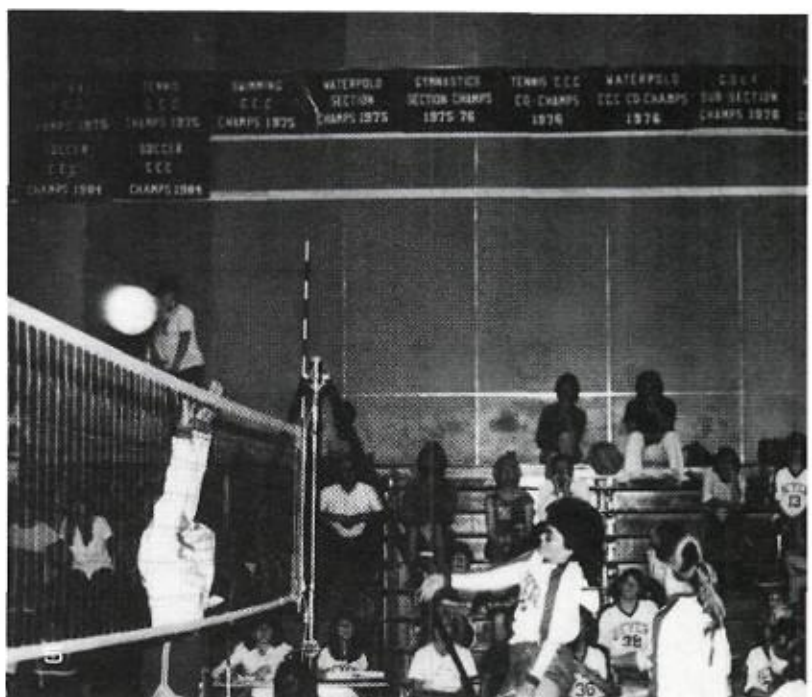

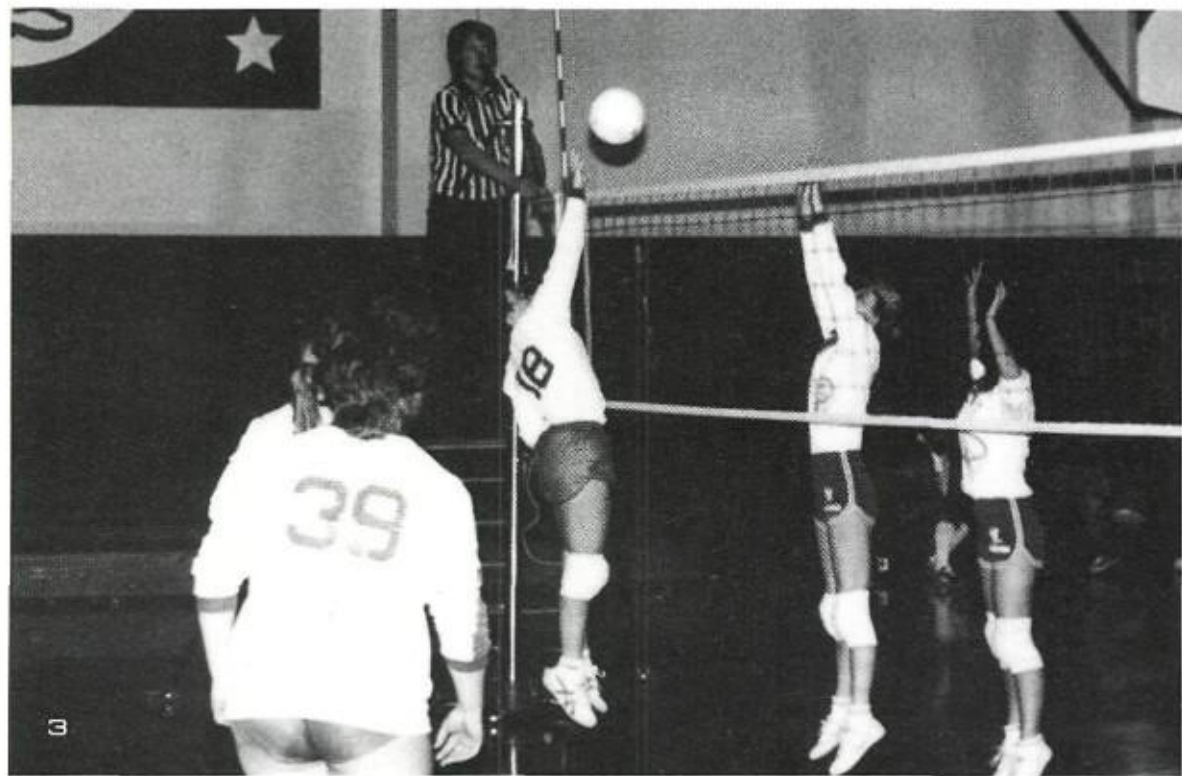

With a record of 2-14 the Varsity Volleyball team has suffered severely. Although the great servers, spikers, and hitters had over-whelming amounts of spirit and good attitudes, they had won only two games and came close to winning many times.

The team, consisting of two seniors, four juniors, and five sophomores, practiced on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays for about an hour and a half. On Tuesdays and Thursdays, the team had games. This year, both the Varsity and Junior Varsity teams participated in the Summerville Invitational and East Union Tournament.

Coach Sue Starling has coached Volleyball for a total of five years. This year's Varsity managers were Shelli Herrera and Rhonda Wellwood.

The team selected Kelly Hubbard as most valuable player, Cindy Hansen as most dedicated, and Lisa Boudreaux as most improved, Kelly Hubbard also received an all-league honorable mention award. ★

Showing Determination

by Debbie Stearns photo by David Azlin

"It's not whether you win or lose, It's how you play the game." Too often, winning is over emphasized and results in loss of enjoyment on part of the players. Even though they did not do very well this year's Junior Varsity Team displayed their dedication towards volleyball which showed itself in a few close matches. Congratulations to Tina Gin, who was voted Most Valuable Player, and to Shannon Emerson, who was also voted for Most Dedicated. Their major goal is to learn fundamentals of the game. We believe that the members of the J.V. Volleyball Team are winners because it's made up of Beyer High Patriots!!!!

Does Varsity Water Polo make sections? For the first time in eight years Beyers Varsity Water Polo team made section despite their many ups and downs this season. Their two hour a-day practice aided in achieving that goal. When asked about his players, Coach Edwards commented on a few of his best. "When the team had an off day, Dave Mendonca would play harder and keep us in the game. I feel Dave is the most valuable player." He was also noted to say that Steve Stoll was the most improved player and Steve Risner was the most dedicated player. Although Beyers team was young and many times had difficulty playing together as a unit, brought on by not playing together long enough, they still put out a good effort to keep us in the game. ★

A Splashing Success

"The future looks great for Patriot water polo," said Coach Ken Edwards. The team, which smashed the league, earned a terrific 10-0 record.

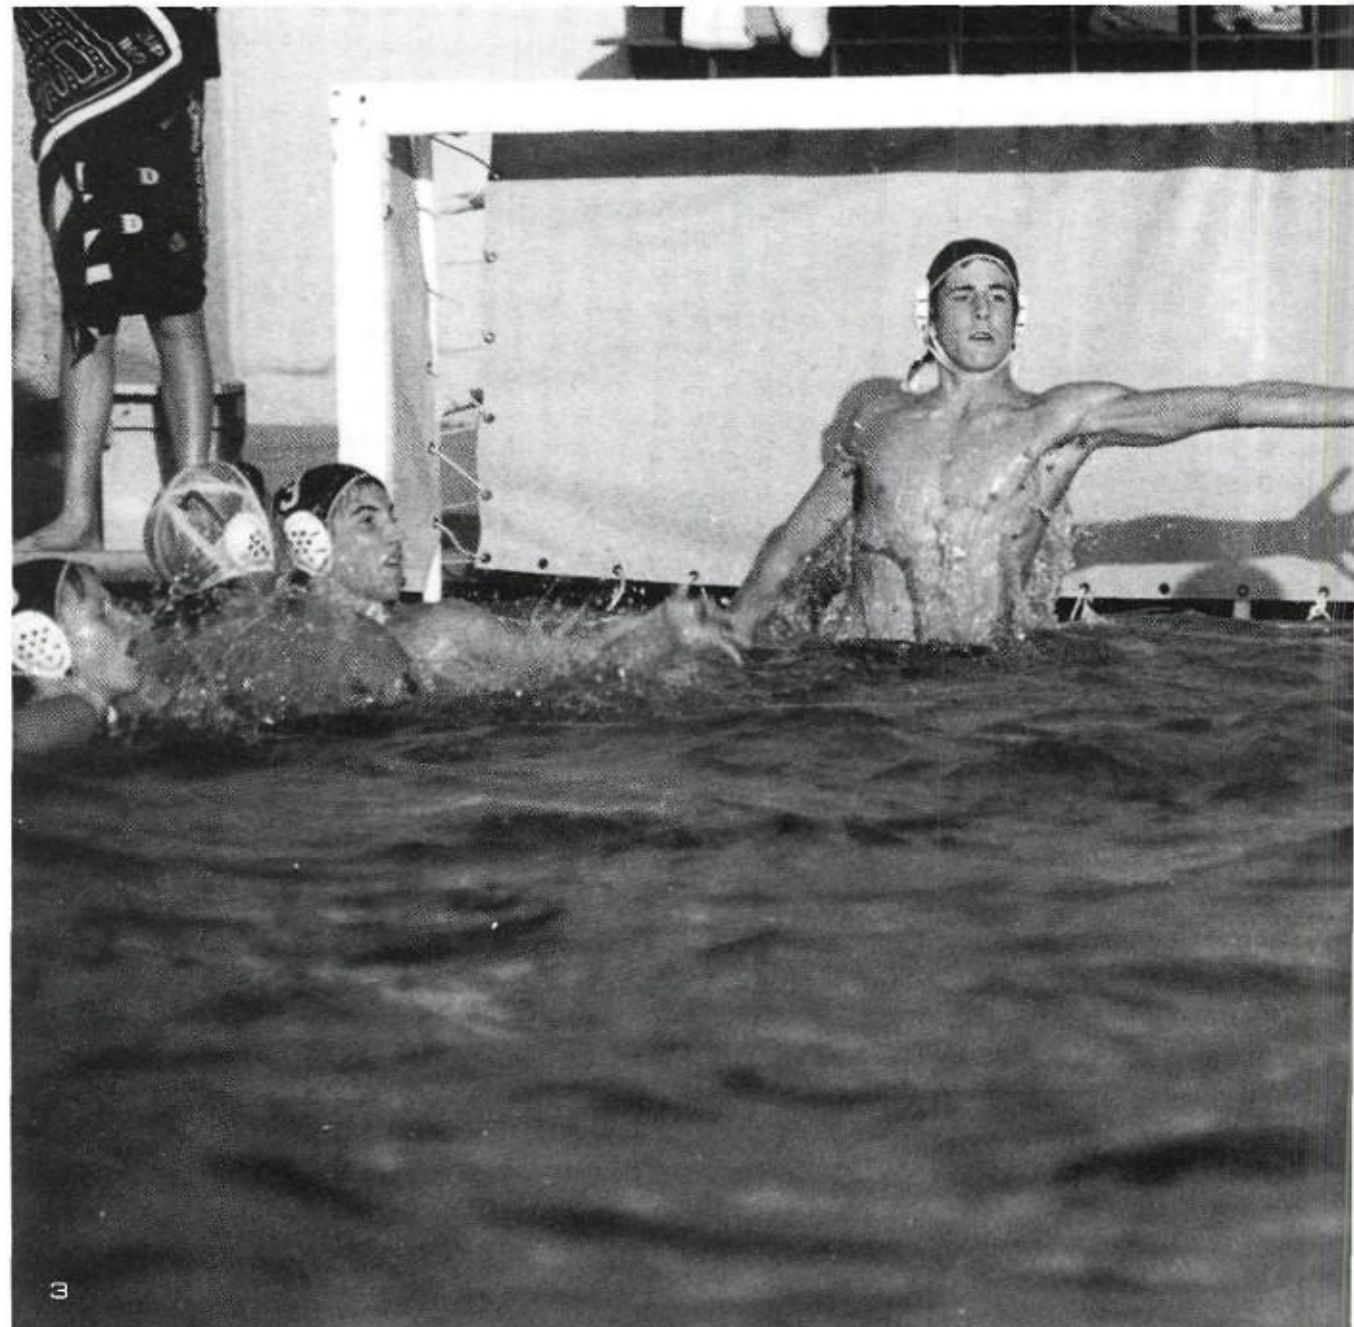

Their success did not come easily though, many hours of hard practice went into the teams triumph. "The toughest team we played all season was Turlock," stated Dave Dugo, a freshman member of the team. Coach Edwards knew from the start that the team would do well. "This year's J.V. team has talent," he said.

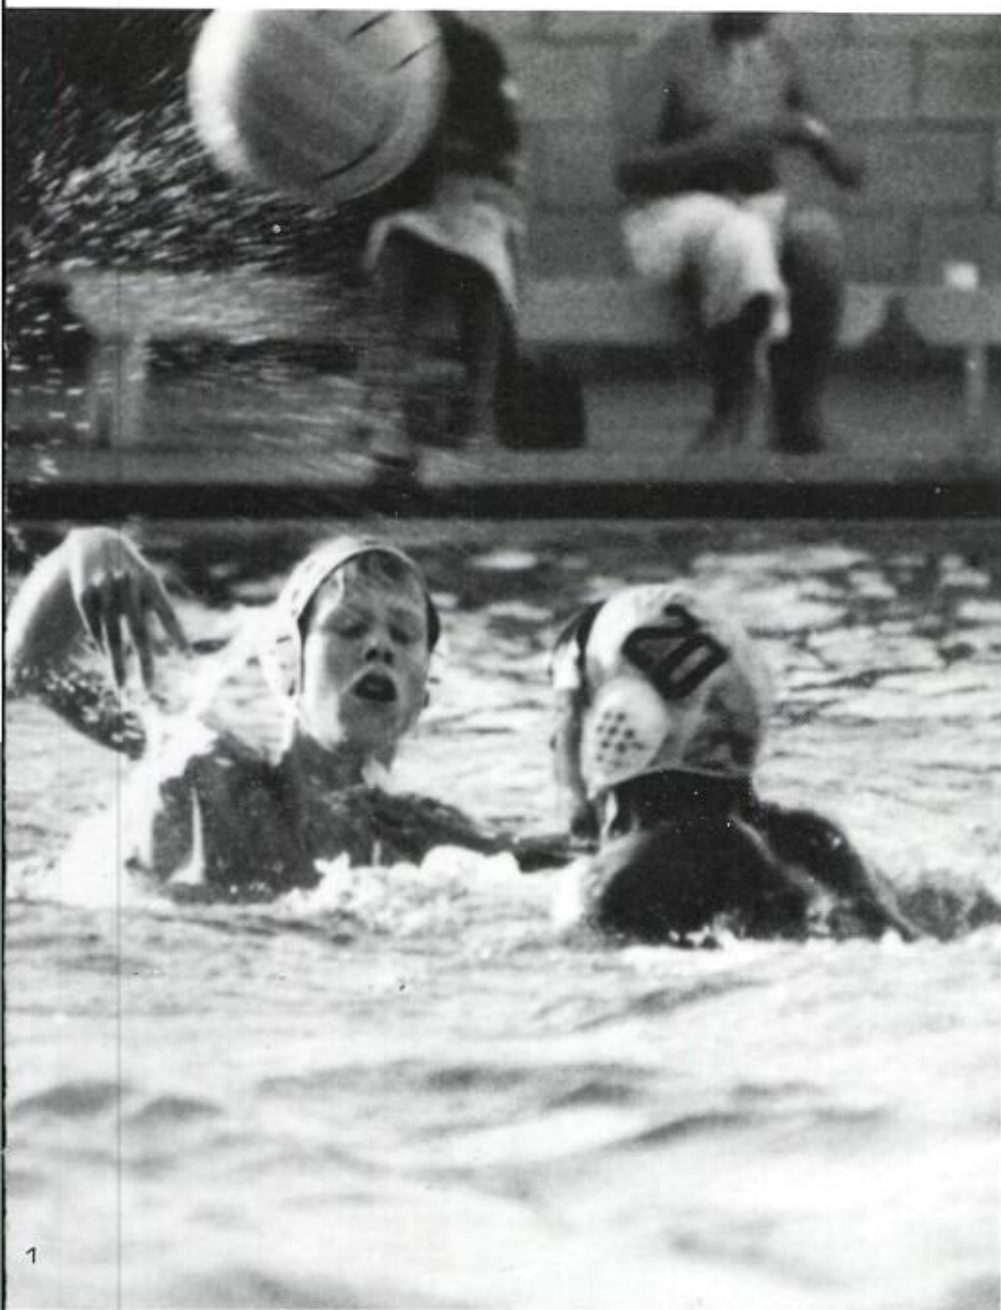

Sophomores Matt Benak and Ron Stewart, and Freshmen Dave Dugo and John Benak paced the seasons action with a total of 14 goals.

The team was composed of 16 members, 6 sophomores and 10 freshmen. ★

The Wetter The Better!

by Kerrie Louis photos by Dorina Golpashin

Neither pouring rain nor freezing cold could stop this dedicated team from victory. They started as a young team that wasn't expected to do well at all and became one of the best teams in the league: 2nd in C.C.C. and one game away from 1st.

This was student-teacher Terri Hollmann's first year coaching at Beyer. "We had a great season," she commented. "I had all the confidence in the world that these girls could play together and be one of the top teams in the league. With only three seniors leaving, next year we should be as strong as ever."

Beyer's league record this year was 8 wins and 2 losses, with the 2 losses going to Turlock High, a team with 43 straight wins. Turlock was expected to slaughter Beyer. Instead, in their last game, they won by only one point, and that was scored with less than a minute and a half left to play. Davis High, Beyer's other nemesis, lost 7-3 in their final match, which was played during the first violent storm of the winter. "We wanted that game so badly that nothing else mattered . . . not even the cold!" said Kescia Meier, a freshman on the team.

Not only did Beyer take 2nd place in the league, they also took 1st place at the Modesto City Tournament, which hosted teams from as far away as Berkeley and Reno. Beyer entered both an A and a B team in this tournament. The A team, which went undefeated, took home the championship.

Beyer was definitely a fourth quarter team. In almost every game they played, they were either tied or just barely ahead until the fourth quarter began. They would then explode with power and leave the other team wondering what had happened. There was always plenty of suspense and action. With girls tugging at one another's suits and pulling each other under water, this so-called "non-contact" sport was just as exciting to watch as it was to play.

Congratulations go to Most Valuable Player — Leigh Shupp, Most Dedicated — Kerrie Louis, and Most Improved — Kathy Aboularage and Jennifer Pharis. Special congratulations go to Kathy Doman, Leigh Shupp, and Becky Waddle, who were chosen as first-team all-league members.

This year's team was definitely a winner in every way! ★

Making Tracks

by Michelle Osgood photos by David Azlin

"This is the best cross country team we've ever had," coach Moore proudly emphasized. The teams accomplishments were overwhelming. The junior and sophomore boys were undefeated and C.C.C. champs, and the varsity team was the first runner up. Individuals who sparked the team to victory are Most Outstanding Runner Shane Parmer, who won sub-sections with a time of 16:07. Other standouts are Eric Floyd, Jeff Pinheiro, Jeff Smith, Wendy Bishop, Kristie Bruk, and Karen Rotherham.

A grueling sport, cross country requires extreme mental and physical discipline. A race is run over all types of courses: over hills and through sand and mud. The length of the course depends on the category of the runners. The varsity team runs a three mile course, while the freshmen and sophomores run for two miles.

As the schools arrive at the meets, they form their own social camps. These consist of all the runners from their own schools sitting in a group with duffle bags, sweats, shoes, and jackets thrown about. The smell of Icee Hot is in the air as the music blares and the runners prepare for their races.

Undefeated!!!

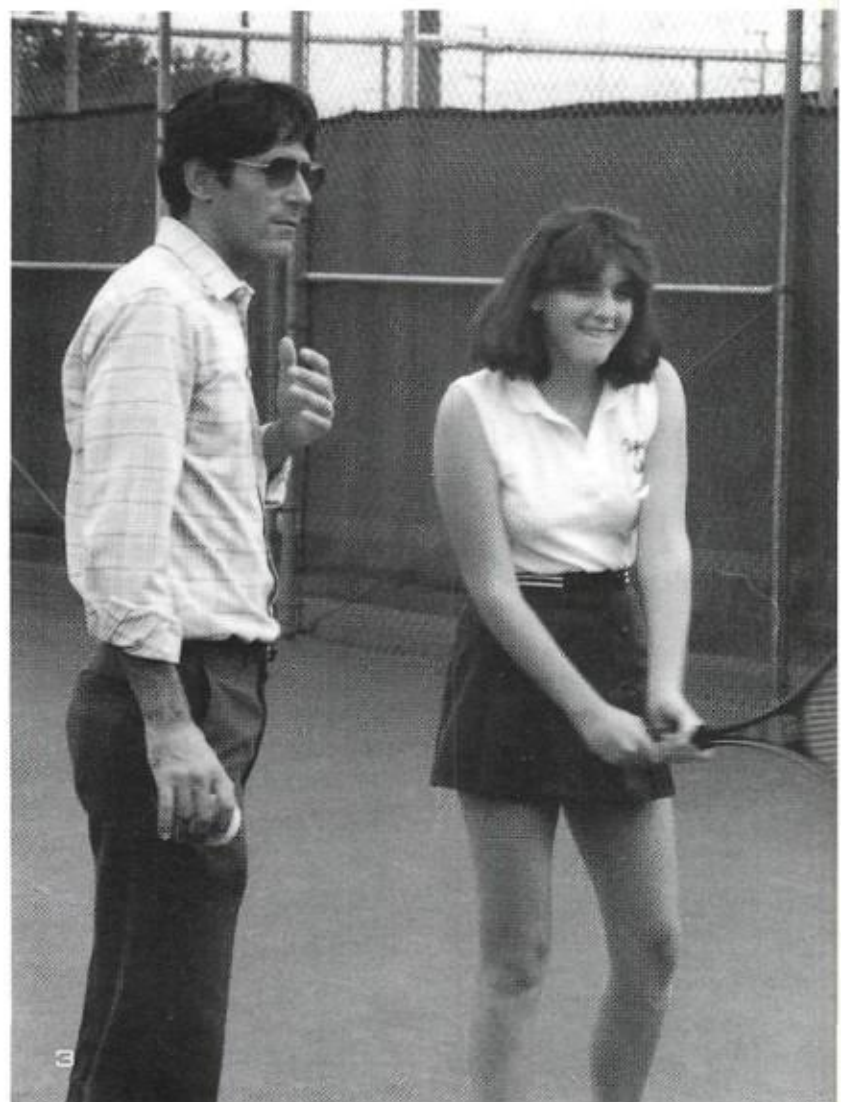

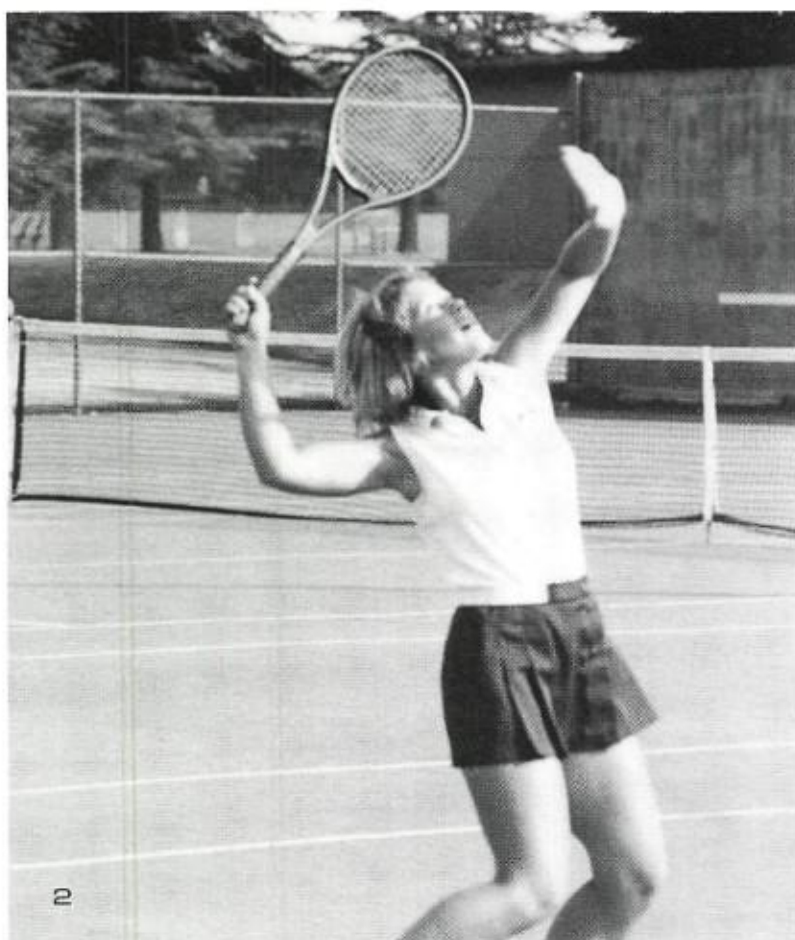

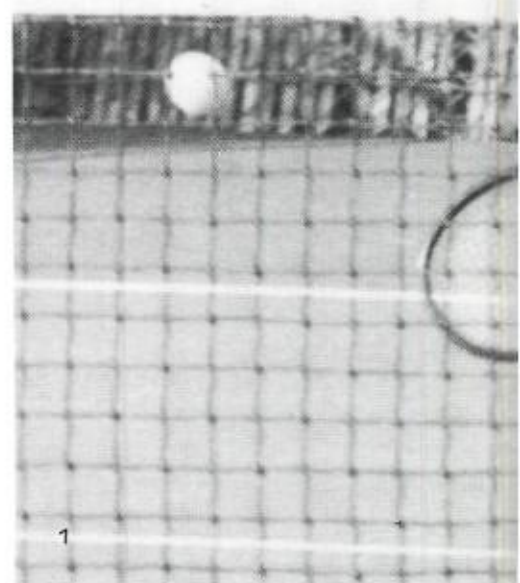

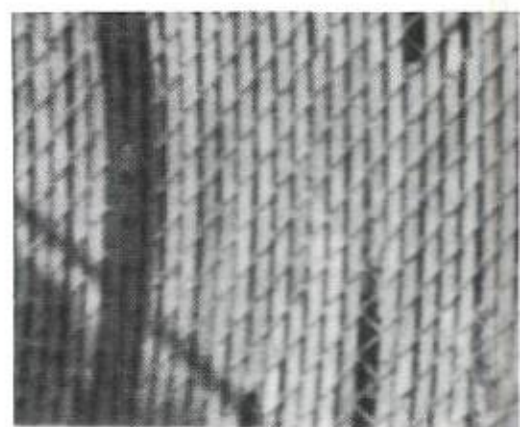

by Dana Budd photos by David Azlin

A record of 15-0 this year and 15-0 last year says it all. Team members pulled together to make this the second undefeated season in two years. Debbie Rule, who has been the CCC singles champion for three years, along with Beth Conmy, Emily Nelson, and Tracy Venturini, all had an undefeated season. Emily Nelson and Tracy Venturini were runners up in the doubles and in the sections they made it to the semi finals. The team became Section Team runner up when they beat Fairfield 8-1, and St. Mary's of Stockton 6½-2½, and then they lost to a Davis team with a final score of 9-0.

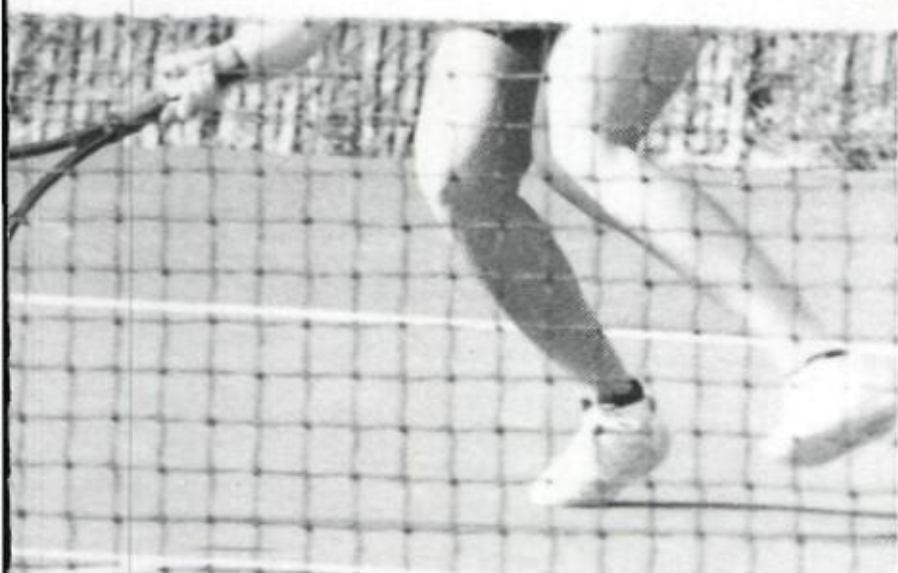

The 10 young ladies have a special way of determining the top seven players. They hold matches among themselves. The top 3 players play singles and the other 4 players split up for doubles. These matches occur all through the season. When the season is over, most of the girls still keep their practice time in by going to clubs and or taking lessons to improve their skill. Unlike other sports, Tennis requires year round practice.

Coach Meinhardt, who has been coaching for three years, said, "I am proud to have been associated with these ladies." Congratulations to all the players and to the coach for a fantastic job.

Two girls were ranked in the Northern California Tournament. Debbie Rule was ranked 12th in the girls 18 and under while Beth Conmy was ranked 45th in the girls 16 and under in Northern California. Satalite Tournaments are scheduled for all players that want to qualify for these Championship Tournaments. Near 300 players total in all age brackets enter these Northern California competitions. The team has been the Conference Champions for the last two years. Over the last three years the team has gone 43 and 2. ★

Dedication . . . To . . . Championship

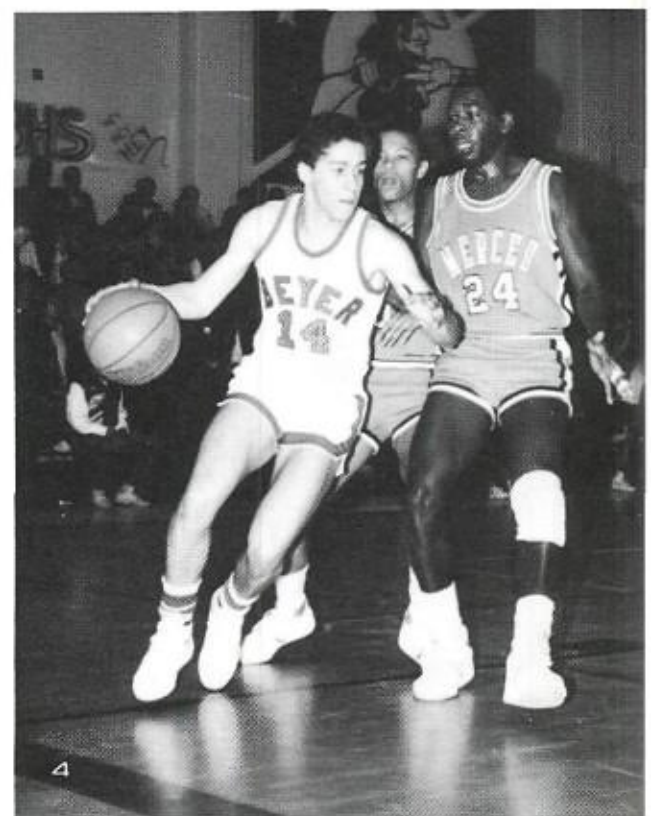

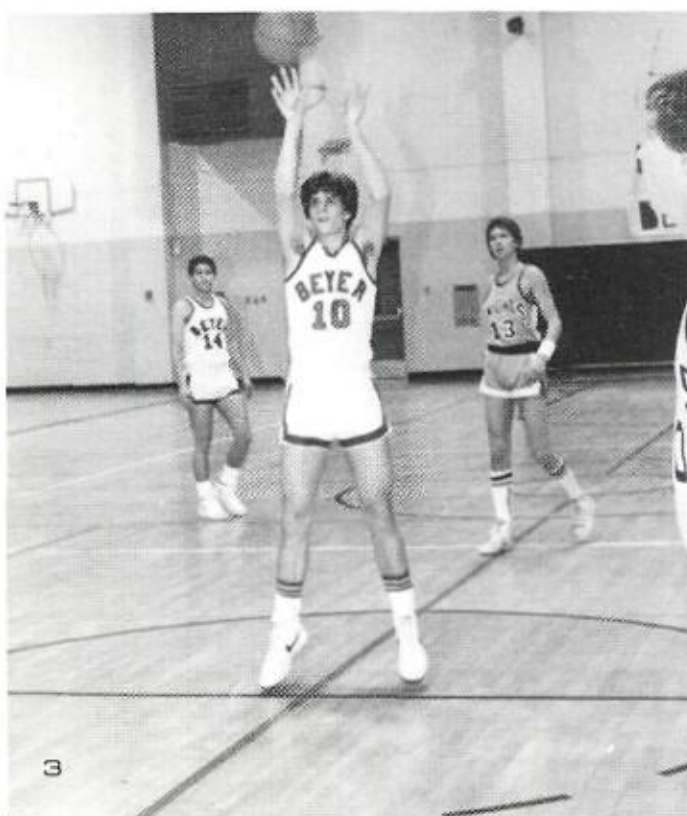

by Dolly Williams photos by David Azlin

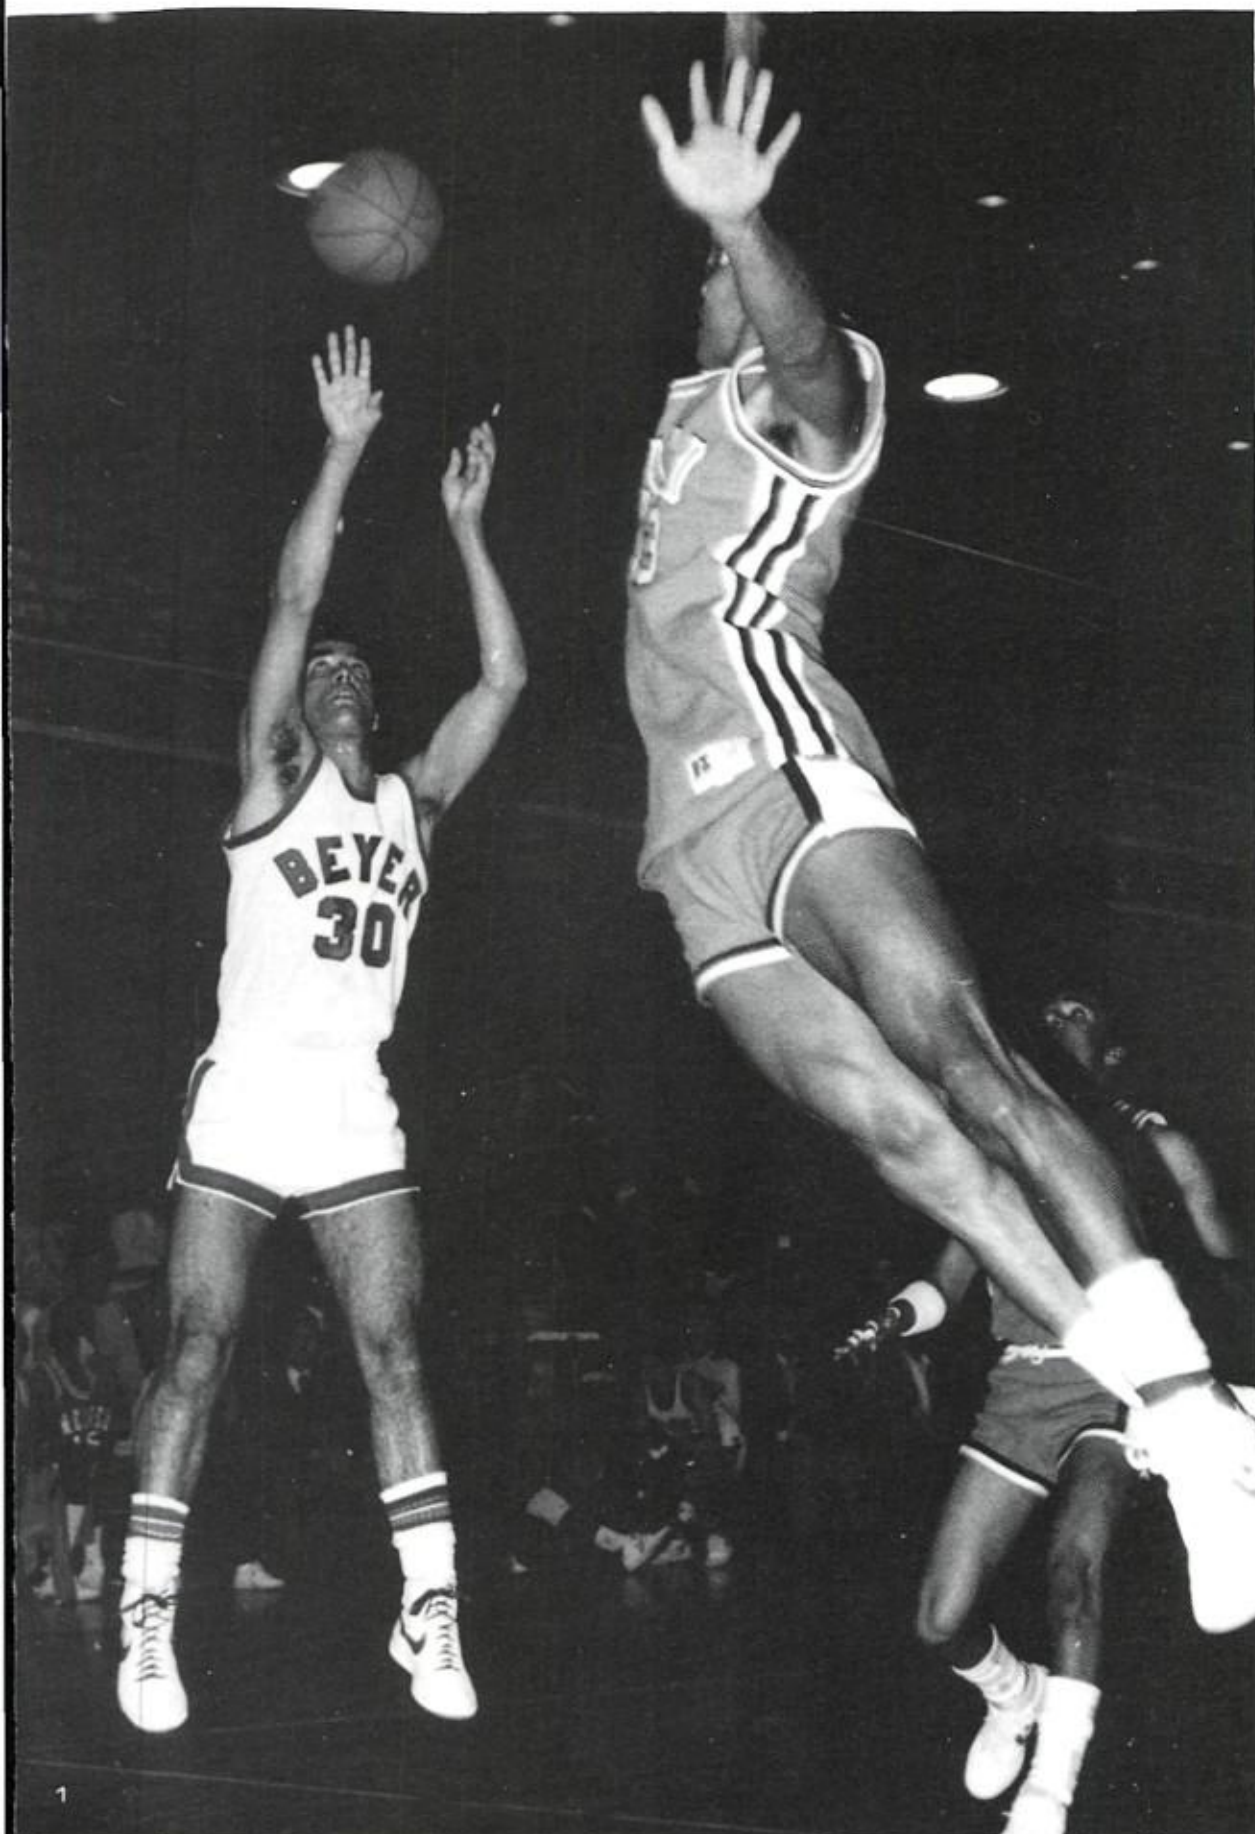

The screams of excitement are heard throughout the gym. The crowd chants "Beyer, Beyer . . .!" The clock reads 22 seconds left to play in the last quarter of the final game of the season, and homecoming. Senior guard Todd Raffanti steps to the free-throw line. He had two shots to make in order to end his high school basketball career on an upnote. The ball snaps in the air, it's in! "We want another one," yells the crowd as the ball falls through the hoop increasing the home score to 61-59, breaking a tie. The ball goes back into play, senior Mahinder Singh rebounds the ball from Atwater, and hands it off to Todd Raffanti who in return passes to senior teammate Greg Washler. Washler goes for his final score of the season. The clock ticks on 11, 10, 9, he scores! Boosting the lead a final time to 63-59, with 8 seconds left to play. Atwater scores at the buzzer, but that doesn't matter, for the victorious Patriots had prevailed. This exciting yet tense atmosphere was apparent at all games played.

The season started on an upbeat with a victory over Franklin with a score of 77-61. Through much dedication not only from the coaches, but from the team, they made a name for themselves. They took fourth in C.C.C. (Central California Conference), but became Modesto City Champions! The first time in years. In many ways all the guys were equal, however, some had specialties that stood out from the others. Leading scorer was Greg Washler with 360 points, becoming sixth best scorer in Beyer history. (From page 116). David Davidson became the leading rebounder with a total of 202, becoming the ninth best rebounder in Beyer history.

The Most Valuable Player ended up in a tie between senior Greg Washler and junior David Davidson. Greg was also named to the second team, All City, and M.V.P. for the city. David was named Best Defense Player in the city. Most Improved Player went to senior Mahinder Singh.

Coach Glenn Davis set the goals of beating Merced and Atwater, and becoming City Champions. Just Minutes Away From Glory

The Sophomore team started out slowly, with little experience and not much hope. By Christmas Vacation they began to show their ability. At the Oakdale Tournament they beat Davis, Downey and Riverbank to become the champs. Coach Holm exclaimed, "This was the one time in the season when I really felt the team had come together. They played great!" During league games they lost some of the momentum. "We played well through the games, but during the last seven minutes of the game we would lose it by three or four points," said Most Valuable Player Andy Inman. He continued, "Like when I was making a free throw with four seconds left, one point ahead of Atwater, the ball rolled on the rim and out. Atwater took it down court and dunk the ball to win by one point." Mark Schnapf led the team in scoring, Gabriel Gomez was the floor leader and wound up the season with the most assists, Bobby Wessling became the team's Most Improved Member. ★

What A Change!

Teaching fundamentals and defense to the freshman team, prepared them for high school play. The team took fifth in the Central California Conference, winning five games losing twelve.

The Most Valuable Player was Tim Hansen. According to Coach Rod Taylor, he was named M.V.P., because he was a high scorer, top rebounder, and the hardest worker.

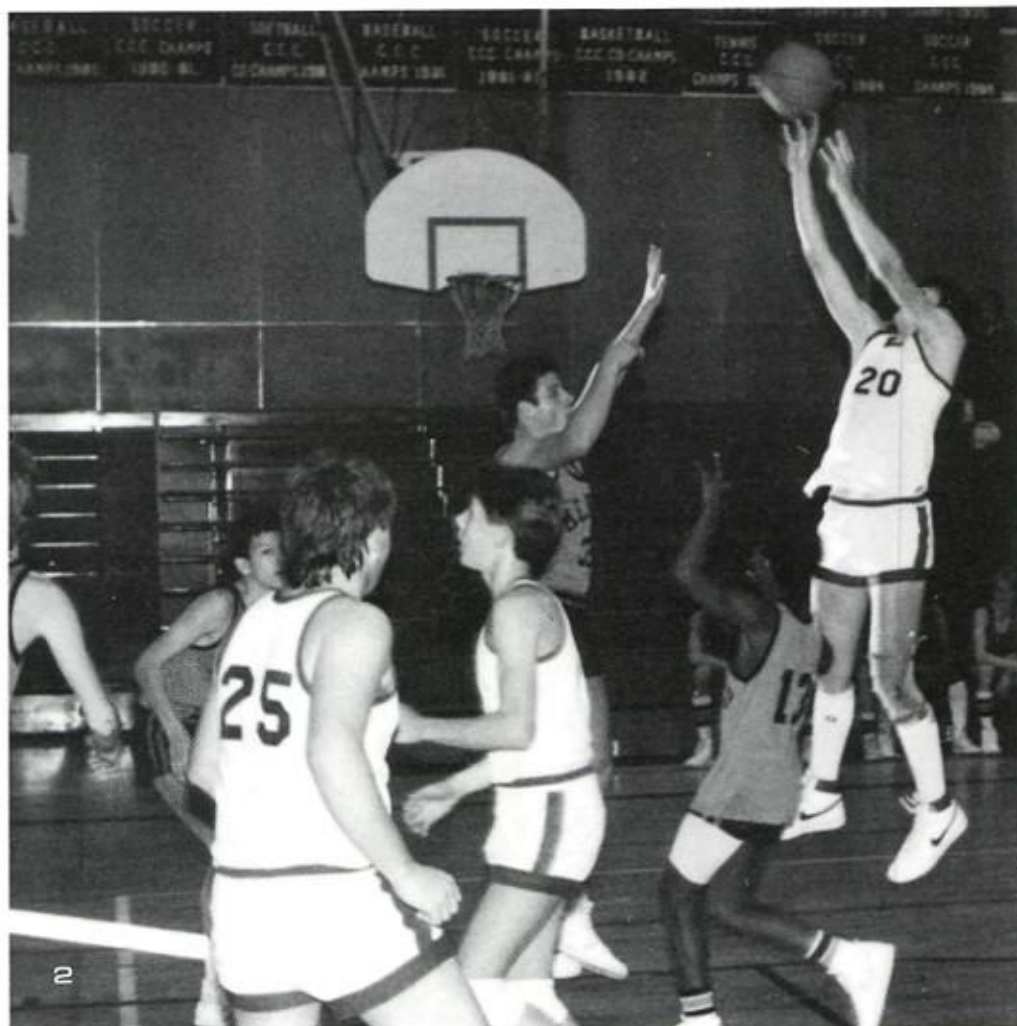

The best game of the season, was a duel against Turlock, where Beyer held Turlock 20-30 in the second half holding Turlock scoreless and beating them, 36-30.

The change from junior high to high school sports can often be seen, but, "each player on the freshman team greatly improved by the end of the season," as commented by Coach Taylor. ★

"We did it!"

Patting butts and pulling jerseys is one transformation first year head coach Wayne Junso had to make from teaching junior high boys basketball at La Loma to girls varsity basketball. "I did not learn how to teach basketball as much as I learned about girls emotions . . . they feel for each other emotionally" was coach Junco's perception of his team. "He gave us a lot of positive feelings that helped us . . . especially winning the first game," says Patti French as she remembers all the time and effort the coach put in. Coach Junco was not alone. He was assisted by two very helpful managers; LaShalle Nicholson and Nina Stough-tevboraau.

"Oakdale was the big one. I did not expect us to win; no one thought we could," responded Patti French as she related the seasons first game that killed the team's two year 39 game losing streak. "We took charge the whole game," says Kim Cercle, "a great change from losing all the time." Reaching even higher bounds, the team won three league games. Ending the year with a 9:15 record.

"The played hard . . . I mean they played hard!" Junso emphasized. "We weren't out there for ourselves, we were a team," says Kim Cercle agreeingly. Being the shortest team they had to exceed their natural limits. "The other teams were taller but we make up in quickness," recalls Patti. Audra Burket was voted most improved by her teammates. Traci Bracco was the teams best rebounder. The pride of the team was Kim Cercle, who was voted most valuable player, best defensive, and she was the best free thrower. Kim was one of the six people picked for the central California Conference First Team all League.

They Never Gave Up!

The best part of the team's season was the two games won against Davis. "The team played well and excitement was in the air," commented Coach Kennedy. "Everyone including myself learned a lot through out the season," said first time coach Mike Kennedy. Coach Kennedy wanted to improve the team's status and program.

The team prepared everyday before the season started, spending time going over fundamentals and lots of repetition.

Barbara Blakeslee was voted most valuable player. She was consistant in her quality performance at every game.

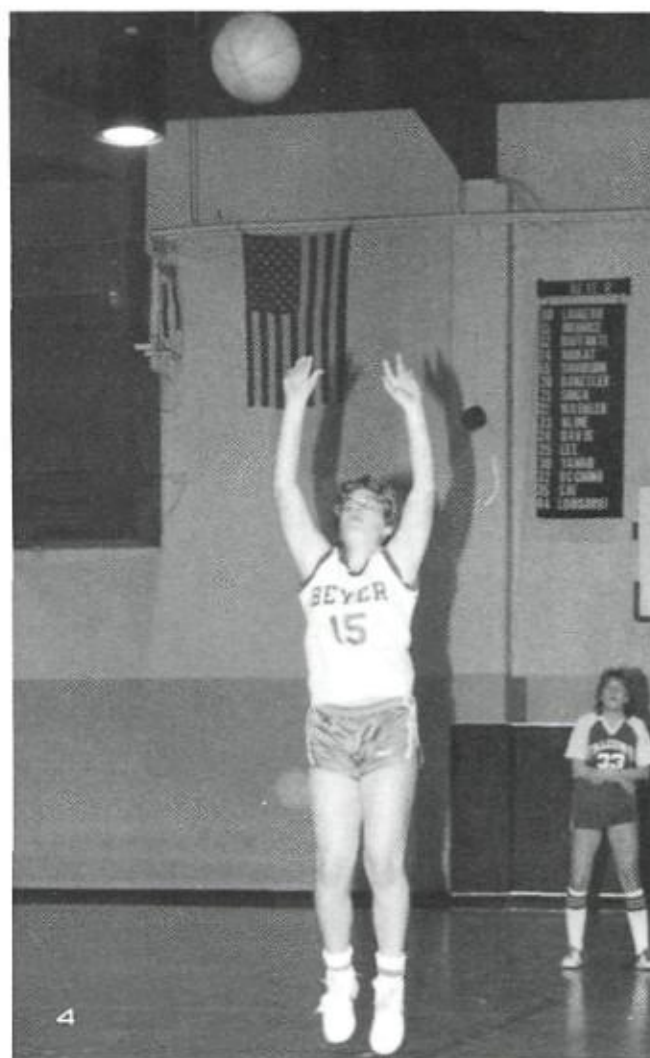

Although only two games were won, Coach Kennedy said, "The team kept going they never gave up." ★

Only seconds left in the game. He drives for the goal. He shoots, it goes past the goalie, it's in the net and the Varsity Boy's Soccer Team wins the C.C.C. title (Central California Conference). This is the second year in a row that the team has taken first place in the C.C.C. The team was led by junior forward Carl Ingeman, who led the league in scoring with 21 over all goals, including tournament and league play. Carl was named to the all C.C.C. soccer team for his outstanding play. He was joined on the team by sophomore, fullback David Selecky, second time a sophomore has ever been on the first team, junior halfback Paul Ustach, and Junior goalies Matt Simi and Curtis McAlister.

The team received outstanding defense play from David Selecky, Kevin Reeves, John MacKenzie, and Greg Johnson. Reeves made all C.C.C. league second team with honorable mention by MacKenzie, Scott LeMay, Mark Galli, and Oudalay Phengmanivanh. The team had a great season with a league record of 11-2-2. The boys junior varsity soccer team had a winning season with a record of 8-4-2. The team was made up of freshman and sophomores. The j.v. team was young in age but had a great deal of experience for as most of the guys on team had been playing soccer for several years. The offense was lead by freshman Robbie Otto and Jon Benak, and sophomore Scott Eitelgroerge, were responsible for the 9-1 rout over Davis High. The defense was structured around sophomore Eric Houser and freshman Eric Dovichi, with help from sophomore goalie Brian Deyoe, with this they helped the team to a successful season. The teams coach Chris Hell, was a graduate and soccer star of Beyer High. This being his first year as coach of the j.v. team, Chris mentioned in passing that coaching soccer was one of the biggest headaches he ever encountered. ★

The girls soccer team placed second in C.C.C. play, bringing the team to a 13-2-1 overall season. The team received outstanding offensive play by forwards Tracey Edwards and Lisa Helton, halfbacks, Kristi Bruk and Wendy Larson. They also received excellent defensive play from fullbacks, Sevi Berryman, Julie Parravano, Emmily Wingardner and Katie McRivette. Beth Kluender, was fantastic as goalie because she allowed only five goals. For excellent play in the goal she was named All-C.C.C. goalie on the first team. Beth was joined on the first team by senior halfback Kristi Bruk, the leagues most valuable player, sophomore forward Tracey Edwards, sophomore fullback Sevi Berryman, and sophomore halfback Robin Royce. There was three girls on the All-C.C.C. second team, sophomore forward Lisa Helton, sophomore fullbacks Katie McRiveete and Julie Parravano. Receiving honorable mention were; senior halfback Sherry Betz, freshman halfback Tammy Dodson and freshman forward Jennifer Needham.

First Ever CCC

"Outstanding! Best season ever!" says three year head coach Doug Severe about the years achievements. Surpassing their Oakdale tournament score, the team came in first at the Ceres tournament. For the second consecutive year the team was the Modesto City Champion.

"We wanted to become the CCC champs" says Terral Toller. On February 5th the team made history: the first ever Central California Conference Championship. "The team had what was required to win the CCC," commented

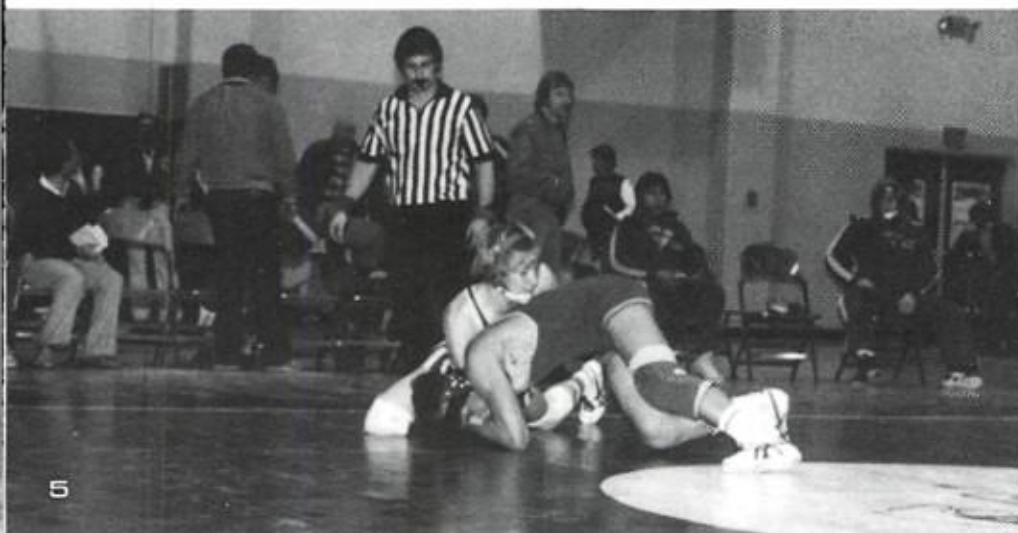

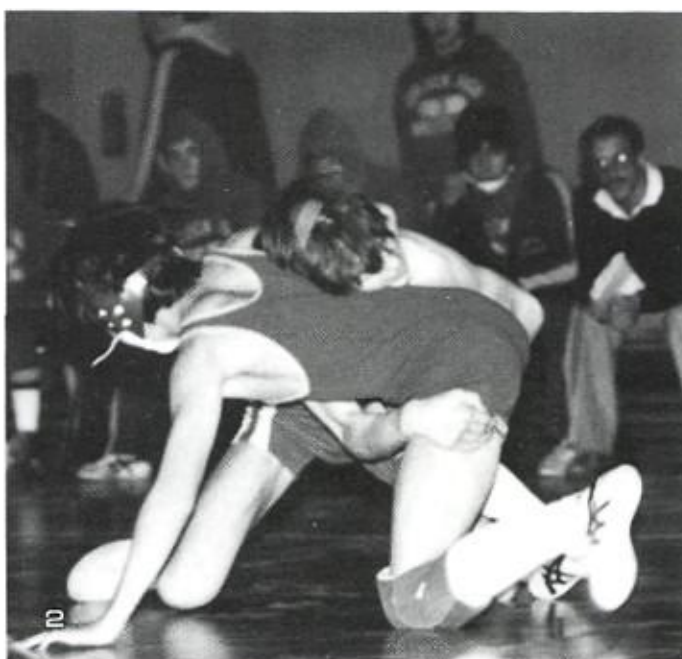

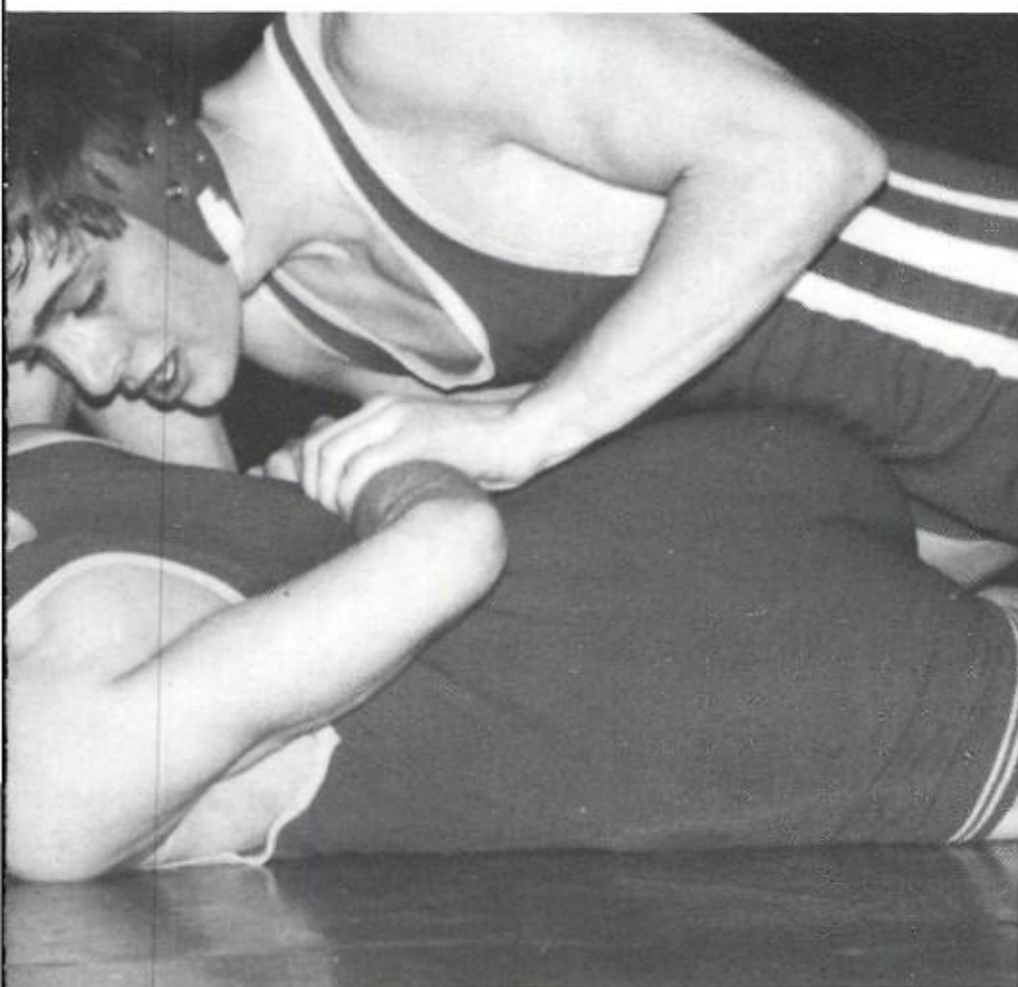

Doug Severe, "a craving desire. You could see it in them." Remembering, Donnie Fontana said "It was great! We were all excited." The outstanding players and individual winners of the CCC were Donnie Fontana, Daniel Dias, Tim Louis, and David Morganson. The CCC co-champs were Terral Toller, Teh-Hung Li, and Sean Hickman. The team ended the season 9:2. "I had been building the team up for the last couple of years," says Coach Severe, "This year it payed off . . . Our record proves it." ★

Patriot Profile

At an early age, being a member of the Turlock Wrestling Club, Donnie Fontana began wrestling competitively. While at Somerset Junior High Donnie was undefeated. He became a member of the Modesto Wrestling Club, which his mother and father started.

Entering Beyer Donnie had a goal: to make it to the state competition as a freshmen. Wrestling at 100 pounds he beat Jeff Mendonca in a match for the Varsity team. Beating his opponent in the last 30 seconds in the Sections Donnie reached his goal. "We are very proud of him," commented his mother Sherri Fontant. When Coach Severe was asked about Donnie he replied "You see a legend right there. He is the first wrestler to ever make it to the states!" ★

Kenny Hageman up to bat, the pitch is delivered, he swings, its a long hard line drive to left field, it keeps going, its gone, its a solo homerun by Hageman. The bench clears to meet Hageman at the plate, dozens of high-fives are exchanged. Coach Paul Cornwell yells "Good hit" to Hageman and he nods and mumbles a thanks to Mr. Cornwell. When asked how it feels to hit a homerun Kenney said, "It felt like know other hit that I ever had."

The team has been receiving outstanding pitching from senior starter Jim Colcleasure, with relief help from junior Jim Yanko. Excellent defensive play from returning senior infielders Kent Maurice, second base, and third baseman Kenny Hageman, and returning outfielders Scott LeMay and Dan Lombardi, have lead the team to a 7 and 1 record so far.

Some of the offensive stand outs have been juniors Kevin Laugero, Troy Bright and Chris Lytle, with senior standouts Scott LeMay, Kenny Hageman and Jim Colcleasure.

Coach Cornwell said "With help from the Booster Club the Beyer High baseball field is now fully enclosed. As well as receiving all bushes and shrubs that line the outfield." Mr. Cornwell has high hopes for the team, he said, "That the outlook is better than last year." Were as last year the team finished third in league play which qualified them for the playoffs. In the playoffs they finished third which is their best finish in three other previous appearances.★

Looking To Win The Conference

by Jill Turner photos by David Azlin

First year coach Robertson has high hopes for the 1985 Sophomore Baseball Team. The team started out what seemed to be a promising season with a 4-1 record. Their first meeting with Davis turned into a Beyer landslide win which also helped the team to a great start for overtaking the Conference. Outstanding pitchers, Steve Rodgers and Dan Mead, helped pace the team to league wins. Coach Robertson believes that Atwater and Merced will be their toughest competition. "Strike one . . . Strike two . . . Strike three . . . You're out!", is an announcement every baseball coach would like to hear made of the other teams batter! Mr. Terry Collins, our Frosh baseball coach is no different in this respect! The team trained hard and had high hopes of attaining excellence under Coach Collins guidance. Batter Up Play Ball

Heading the Varsity Softball team was coach Mike Pezzeto. This was his first shot at coaching softball this year. "We don't have too many girls, but we have come a long way since the first day of practice. The girls are fun to work with, their personalities are one of a kind."

The teams greatest asset is their strong defense. Outstanding out-fielding and pitching were also very strong. "We are working on our offence. It is a challenge to try to enhance the girls to play their hardest," said coach Pezzeto. According to team member Kelly Hubbard, "Our main motto is "play to Win" and be very competitive." ★

Super Attitudes

by Julie Guthrie photos by David Azlin

Championship was one goal set and accomplished by the Junior Varsity softball team. Super attitudes and great cooperation could have been the reason for their championship according to coach Rich Redell.

Bill Cloud from Modesto Girls Softball Association assisted coach Rich Redell, everyday Monday through Friday for two hours at Beyer Park. Two days out of the week the team had games. It was Rich Redell's first year of coaching softball after years of coaching football and baseball. "I like the experience of working with young athletics," said Rich Redell.

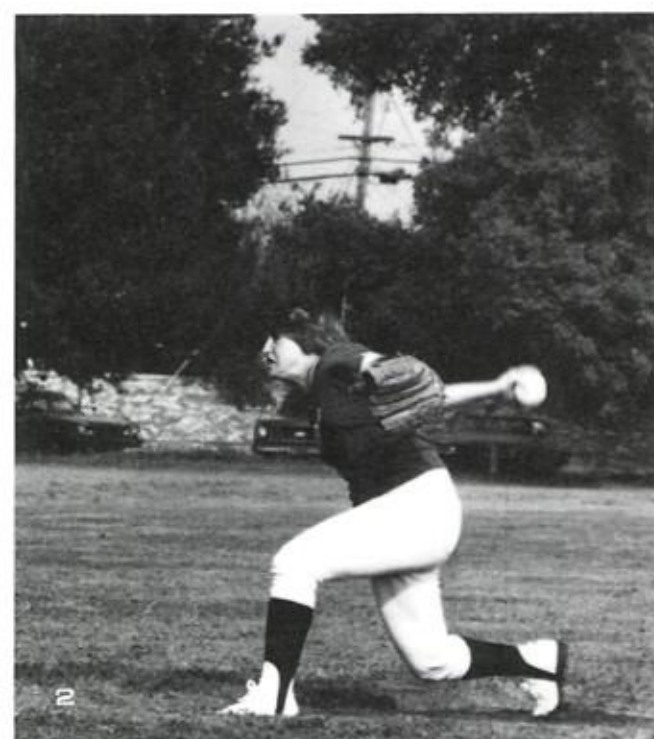

The team this year consisted of seventeen members, five sophomores and twelve freshmen. ★

Diving For Success

by George Park photos by Dorina Golpashin

Coach Ken Edwards reflects that, "many long hours of practice and the drive for success were two key factors in this years diving program." Jerry Damron, an elder member of the team, feels that he is much improved over last year, "I competed during the summer to improve my diving skills," he commented. The team had 2 returning members, Dorina Golpashin and Jerry Damron with new members being Brent Oakeson and Birte Memmen. Coach Ken summed up his team's talent by stating, "our divers show their excellent form and ability every time they compete." ★

League play opens with a victory against Atwater. The patriot girls' and guys' swimteams got off to an excellent start with 99-58 and 90-73 wins over Atwater. Robert Doman, Tim Olyphant, Kathy Doman, and Sandy Stark were all double winners. A girls' J.V. team was added to league play this year, providing for a total of four separate swim teams. Coach Edwards commented "I feel that Turlock and Merced will give us tough competition for the CCC title." The team's total is 80 members more than any year. ★

Powerhouse Patriots

"On your mark," feet and fingers are placed in launch position. "Get set," the vehicles are raised, all systems are ready to explode as the tense seconds pass. The crack of the gun sends humans lurching forward, their minds on one focus, the rhythmic strides to propel them towards victory.

Track and Field takes long hours of practice, and this year the tracksters were out about two hours a day, five days a week. As coach Moore said "We sweat too." He also called it "the powerhouse team," for they have formidable competitors in several events. Against Davis the team won all three divisions; Girls, Frosh/Soph Boys, and Varsity Boys under coaches Gunther, Moore, Davis, and Ewing.

I heard a comment that shows how diverse the team is, and that is our Varsity Boys 440 relay team is made up of an "Iranian, a Black, a Portuguese, and a Polack (that's Mark Polack)."

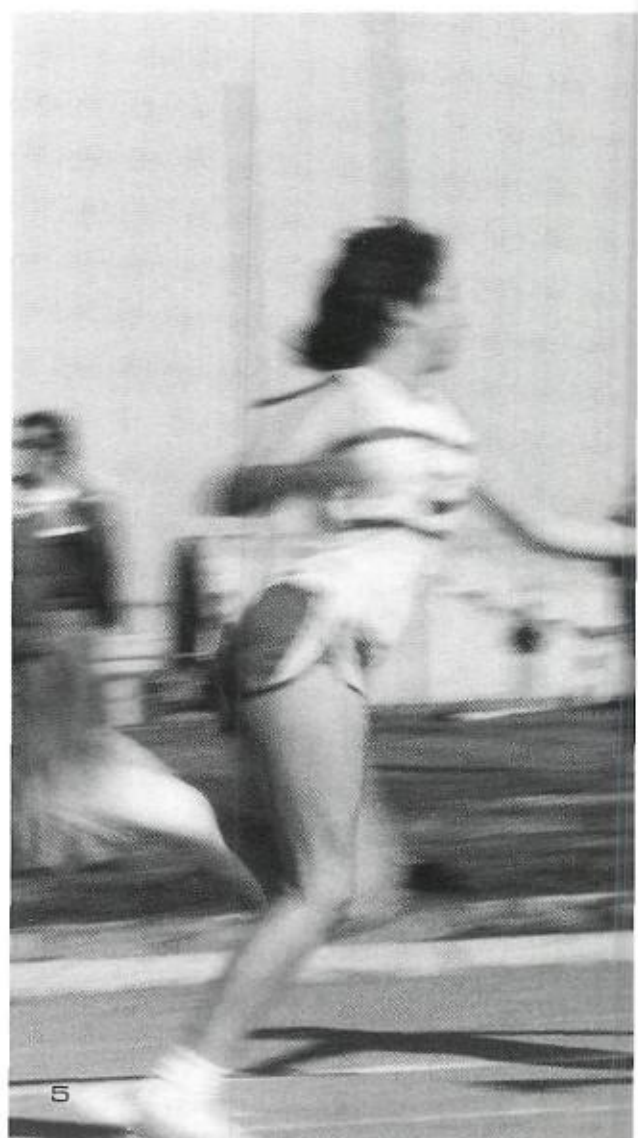

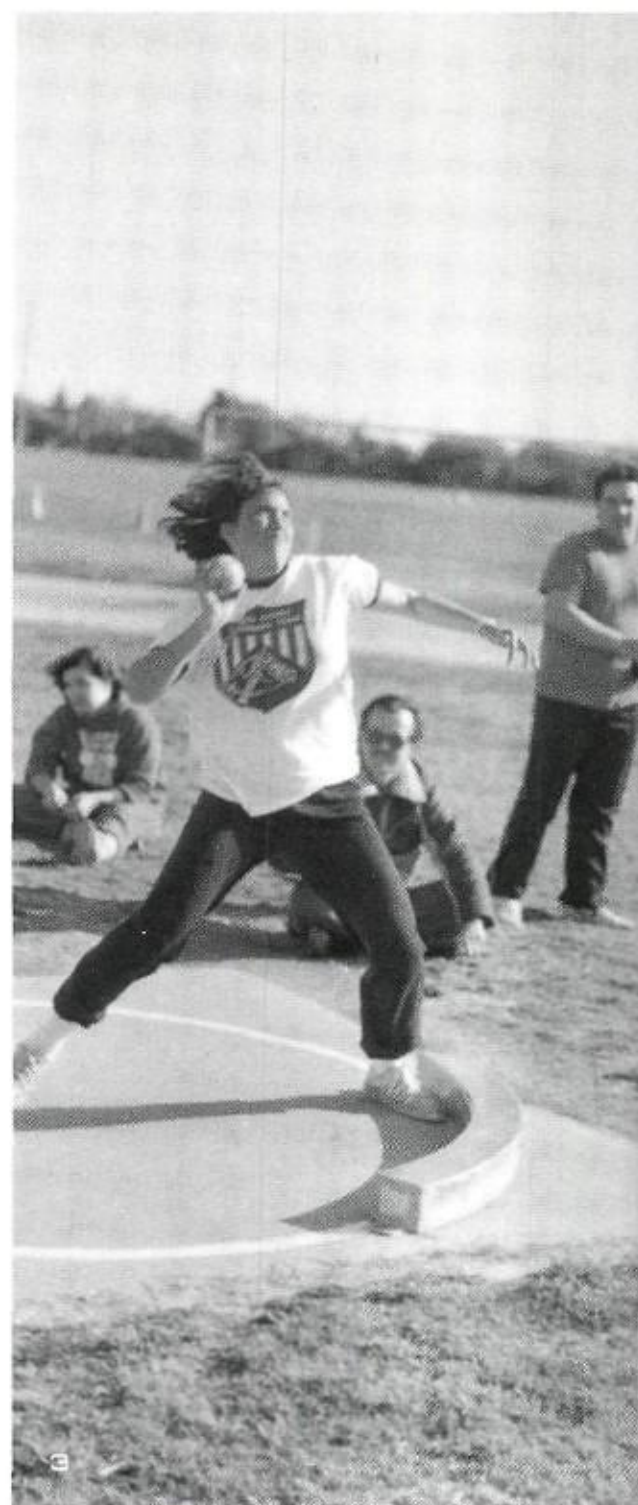

There is a feeling among some team members that they are doing the best they can with equipment. At the meet against Davis the pole vaulters stated that all they could achieve was twelve feet with the poles they had. Mark Boyd said after attempting twelve and a half feet that "The pads have lost their cushion!"

Overall the members have strived for their focus and some have achieved victory, while others have come close. ★

A hush fills the stands, the opponent calls for the serve, the racquet is raised, "Point-15 love."

This year Boy's Tennis was lead by Corky Meinhardt, a strong inspiration to the team. With powerful overhead serve of Jeff Earle, a Junior, and the forceful backhand of Erik Oehlschlager, a Freshman; the team has strived for success and received high recognition. Five returning letterman and Aki Mima, an exchange student from Japan added to the recognition of the team. Among these returning lettermen were Chris Compton, Jeff Earle, Kenny Hoyt, Chris Kollmeyer, and Rob Pokorny. Yet through determination and strategy of each player, the team had an excellent season. The team practices at Modesto Racquetball Club if they're not scheduled for a match. ★

One Stroke at a Time

Looking for a scholarship? You've come to the right place. You might think that playing on a golf team has no advantages, but if you're hot on the pursuit of a scholarship you've found the right place. Building your way up from a freshman to a senior and shooting par, you've got an almost guaranteed scholarship, especially if you're a girl. "The more experience the better you are," says coach Koski. This year's team dedicated themselves to practicing everyday after school at Dryden park. With Merced being their toughest competitor they really wanted to do well. With three sophomores and one freshman the future of Beyer's golf team looks good. The number one player was Brian Buzzini who had some help from other outstanding members, Eric Alford, Paul Blank, Geoff McCubrey, Lawrence Robinson, and John Theaker. A couple of mistakes proved very frustrating when out of about 200 total team strokes they lost by 4 or 5 strokes. Even with these frustrations during a couple of matches the team was still represented at the state sectional. ★

Wanting to win and win again!

by Michelle Osgood photos by Doug Bates

Earning their blocks and practicing hard, the Wheelchair Patriots were ready for "serious competition," says Mr. Koski proudly. These students are just like any other athletes and they wanted to win and win again. With the Northern California Athletic Conference for the Physically Challenged coming up these students were practicing again and again to beat their previous records. Events in the competition range from a forward slalom around pylons to throwing a frisbee and trying to knock down bowling pins to test their accuracy. They earn from 1 to 5 points for their team and the team with the most points wins. The team consisted of 7 Beyer members with a few kids from Davis and Downey. Someday these kids wish to have a statewide competition and maybe someday even world wide. For now they will work hard to win the county meets. ★

STUDENT LIFE

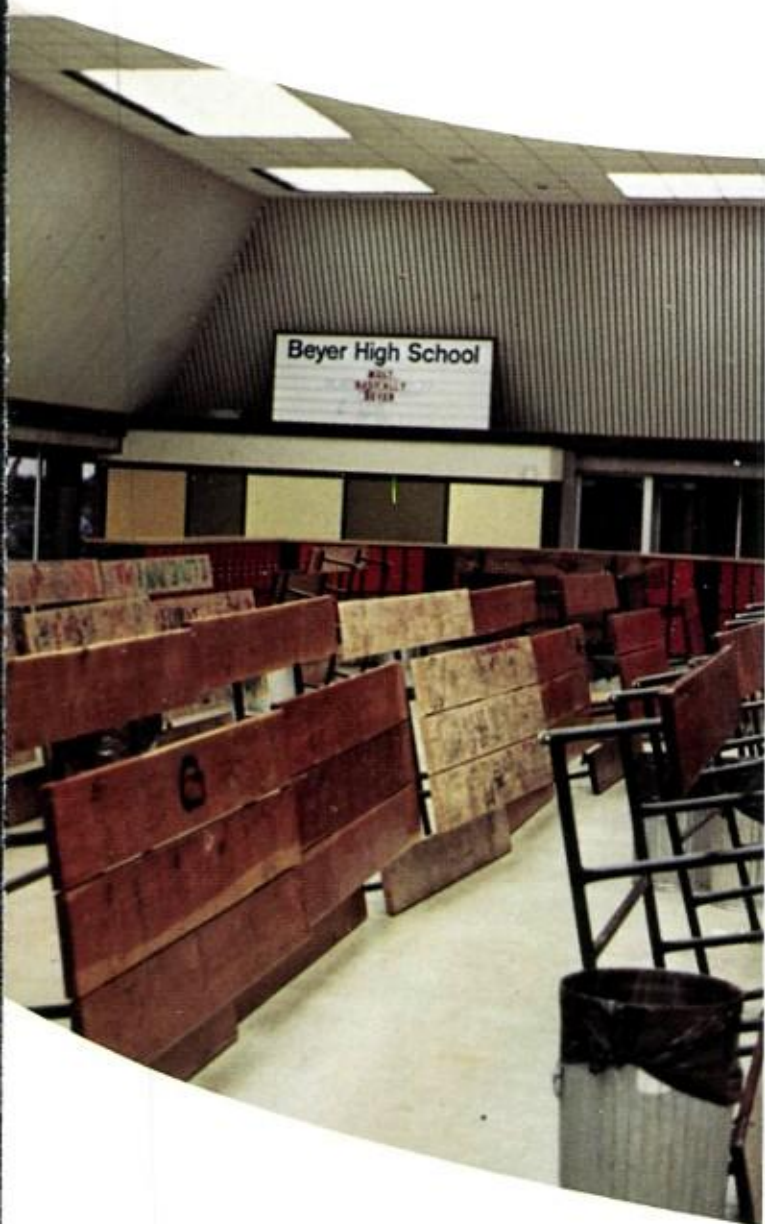

Julie Guthrie reluctantly awakes with the morning tone.

Alergio Magnama, Noe Garza, Ramino Madveno, Marty Favela and Pete Alveras dash to class as the tone sounds.

Dru Stewart, Chris Wallwebber, Jerry Zipser, Rick Borba, Jeromy Freitas and Tim Swanson headed for consumption in massive quantities.

Mark Melkonian and Andrea Char "most studious" give up their quest.

Laure Goldor and Rhonelle DeLeon fulfill daily requirements of exercise.

Brendon Casey and Kerrie Louis "craziest" eating dinner with their welcomed guests.

Chris and Stacey enjoy a night of dancing.

Debbie Rule and Lerral Toler "weekend warriors" start their weekend with a "bang!"

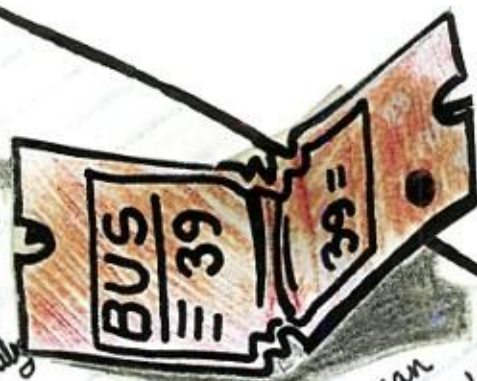

Melissa Van Dyke, Kristin Schenone, Cindy Hansen, Lisa Hodges and Rose Miceli support the home team.

Dana Budd completes her day by watching MTV.

Beginning the day with an unforgettable monotonous noise is more than just irritating, but the Beyer student survives. Arriving to class on time is just on more effort that one must handle. With the stomach growling for the past two periods, a person looks forward to fourth period lunch. School is not quite over, and it is now time to exercise. Class is fulfilled. After a good work-out, a dinner and conversation seems quite relaxing. Being a patriot one must support the home team by cheering them on. Attending a dance can really give a person the opportunity to unwind and let loose. The dance may come to an end, but the night is still young. A little party would really finish the evening out. Once home the best way to mellow out is by gazing at the videos.

FACULTY

Did you know the administrative and faculty staff consists of nearly 170 members? The student body and faculty members will always remember 1985 by the many new faces added to the teaching staff. Along with several new staff members, Beyer had a few changes which took the form of additional classes and programs. The change of last year's schedule to the present schedule, which offers an eighth period, resulted in many inconveniences. However, after the first few months the faculty and administrative staff was able to bring everything back into its proper order. We thank the staff for their effort to guide each individual student toward his or her best scholastic potential.

1. Mr. Sabitino is seen taking roll, while his class waits to begin; 2. Mr. Holmes, as everyone who has had him knows that he loves music, and so is caught whistling away; 3. Even our principal Mr. Jim Nicholas has to take time to eat; 4. Some of our student body is seen exchanging school work.

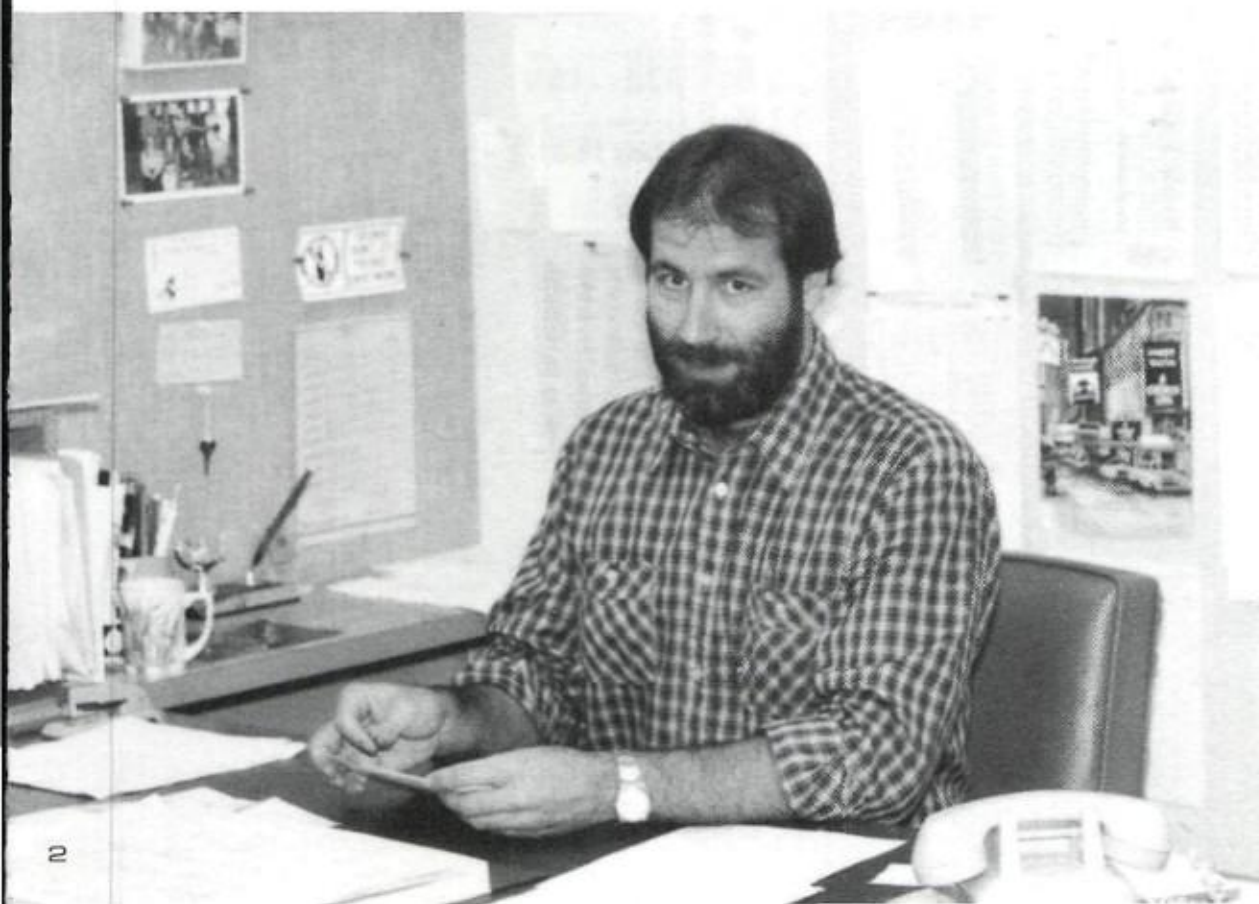

Enthusiastic Leaders

by Joe Fraga photos by David Azlin

A little crazy, hardworking, and patient are all words that describe our administrative staff. Counselors, who are definitely patient and industrious, are quite busy individuals. Some of the services they provide are: assertive discipline, letters of recommendation, truancy problems, and just about anything to get us through high school. This past year we gained three new counselors which are: Marilyn Rizzardi, Lynn Bogdanovich, and Eileen Silva, but at the expense of our other three counselors who retired.

Our principal, Jim Nicholas, sure draws the attention of incoming Freshmen when, as always, a song is played on the loud speakers, reminding everyone to start winding through the wings to first period. Surely, Mr. Tim Van Horn hasn't forgotten his delicious kiss with the pig, one afternoon at the rally.

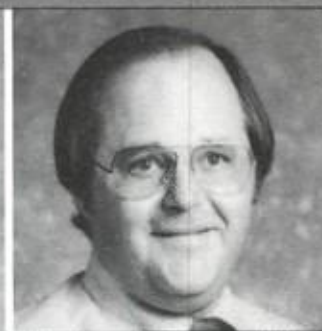

One more serious side, everyone really worked hard and tried to keep on schedule. Unfortold disasters await to occur. Every day difficult decisions were made at all levels of administration, but the one common denominator was to make the school year great for everyone! ★

What in the world would we have done without them? Without Beyer's "Behind the scenes" people, the student body would have found their school year in absolute chaos. Without Beyer's hardworking custodians the school grounds would be littered with garbage. If Beyer's office workers were non-existent, students would have found it rather difficult to start the year off because of the additional eighth period class they had to incorporate into the old seven period day. Beyer would be at an absolute standstill without these hardworking dedicated "Behind the scene workers." ★

Creativity Revealed

"Art is a part of everyday life. It's a method of communicating in an organized-visually attracted way," replies Wilda Thompson.

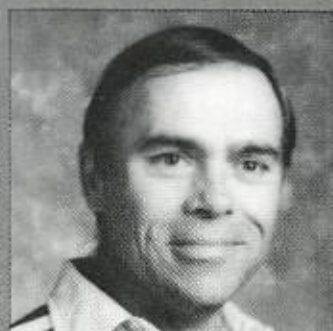

This year's art department offers various courses including Commercial Art and Advanced Ceramics classes have been added to the department. As one walks into the Art department, he will encounter a variety of displays illustrated by the students. Mosaic drawings and self-portraits reveal ingenuity from the department.

Many goals can be achieved in this area. Among these are broadening the student's creativity, promoting outstanding work, and sharpening one's power of observation. ★

"Striving for perfection requires performing and developing the Fine Arts," replies Yvonne Troedson.

At age five, Yvonne Troedson first performed with the servicemen at Castle Airforce base in Merced. She participated in piano and voice lessons during elementary school through her college years. She sings opera and classical music in addition to directing the choir both taught here at Beyer and at Somerset Junior High School.

As well as directing choir, Troedson enjoys playing tennis, a sport in which she won the championship doubles during high school.

"To me music teaches discipline, which demands control which results in victory," replies Troedson.

The music department consists of Pep Band, which is the best in the area, colorguard which changes to Winterguard second semester, and concert choir containing different branches. Among these are Barber Shop consisting of guys and Liberty Bells consisting of girls.

The band has won every conference they've participated in. Beyer takes lead while Modesto, Davis, and Downey subordinate respectively. ★

Besides the work done during school, the Food Service classes do outside banquets for other groups. Weiss wants to convert at least 1% of the crew into chefs and also to see more birthday cakes made on special occasions and banquets held for the student body. He stated that students are always welcome in the dining room. ★

"To assist the student to develop values that will give the direction and meaning to their individual lives, family life, community life, and an awareness of their possible contribution to their state and world," is the goal for Home Arts.

Although Home Arts is a small department here at Beyer, this department has a substantial amount of classes to choose from. Among these are the following: Foods and Nutrition, Consumer Awareness and Competent Consumer, Microwave Cooking, Clothes, and what used to be Adult Living is now called Marriage and Family. Providing students with an idea of an ordinary life style, the class aims to encourage students to think and to live creatively.

This department reviewed and evaluated the goals as a part of this self-study. As a result of this review, a new set of goals have been developed to the present staff and the classes presently being taught. One of these is to encourage students to "think" and make wise decisions in the use of time, money, and energy and to maintain a balance of both male and female students to participate. Also it develops in an individual student a feeling of enhanced self-esteem and a feeling of satisfaction and pride in work well done. ★

Beyer has a dedicated business staff teaching the latest techniques to our students along with some of the basic classes also. Some of the business classes include: accounting, business orientation, and computer literacy. The most popular class offered was computer literacy. All the computer literacy classes were filled this year and this situation will probably stay the same in the future. It may even become a graduation requirement soon. Since more students have become business oriented, they realize that they will need some of these classes to continue with either college or out in the "Job world." Most teachers agree that students should at least learn to type before they leave high school, especially if continuing on into college. So, in the near future Beyer is bound to see some expansion in the Business Department soon. ★

1. Mr. Brenner showing one of his students how to repair a carburetor; 2. Ryan Coelho putting on some last touches to his box, he made in woodshop; 3. Mr. Heintz getting responses from his Ag. classes.

Brakes, mufflers, and transmissions; sheet metal, welding, and angle iron; sanding, hammering, and sawing are all the things one can do or fix in most of the Industrial Ed. classes. These classes include Auto, Metal, and Wood Shops, along with Graphic Arts in Industrial Ed. and the Ag classes that are offered here at Beyer High School.

In Auto shop, one has the chance to learn how to repair most car problems, anywhere from taking out and putting in a new engine, to changing a flat tire.

Most people think that taking Auto shop is just for guys, but girls can also take the class, in fact the number of girls taking is on the rise.

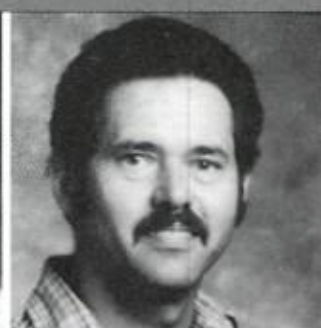

In Metal shop one learns how to gas weld, arch weld, wire weld, and to spot weld, along with how to use different kinds of bandsaws used in cutting metal.

As in Auto and Metal shop, in Wood Shop, one gets the chance to learn how to use different kinds of tools and machines to build and repair almost anything one can think of.

Agriculture, it's the future for America. In our Ag department, Mr. Heintz has been teaching the farmers of tomorrow the knowledge of today. To help them raise crops for the future generations of America. ★

Guys and gals, are you interested in getting your body into shape? If you are then you should think about checking out Beyer High's P.E. Department. The P.E. Department has a wide variety of class offerings that range from football to yoga, not to mention several other classes that would help just about any body get their bodies into the best physical shape.

This year, the P.E. department decided to create a football team exclusive for girls. This league was called "Powder Puff" football, and, surprisingly, there was a large turn-out of potential team members. Beyer re-instated the Powder Puff football team this year, and it proved to be loads of fun to all the participants. ★

Computers. They are virtually everywhere nowadays. They are in banks, in stores, here on campus, and almost any other place one might be able to think of. This article is about some very special people at Beyer High who recently received their first computer. These special individuals who received their first computer are the students who are enrolled in the Special Education program.

Some of their activities include using the computer, physical therapy, and using several different types of educational aides that help them succeed in life.

One of their main physical events of the year is the Bartoni Award which is given to the most valuable wheelchair athlete every year. ★

Peculiar is the perfect word to describe this year's Math department, headed by Mr. Reese. It will never be said that Beyer's Math department was ever forgotten. Each teacher tried to teach his students in his own special way, to imprint upon the brain the art of manipulating numbers. In the past year, the math classes have become crowded, especially at the freshmen level, since all freshmen are required to take back-to-basic classes, which the new legislation has demanded. When Beyer's student body was asked what they thought of our Math department, some of the answers we received were: "Out of this world," "Definitely different," and "Totally Beyer!" The main objective of the department was to help students be more proficient in the art of manipulating numbers. ★

Atoms, Genes, Molecules,

by Joe Fraga photos by Rob Anderson

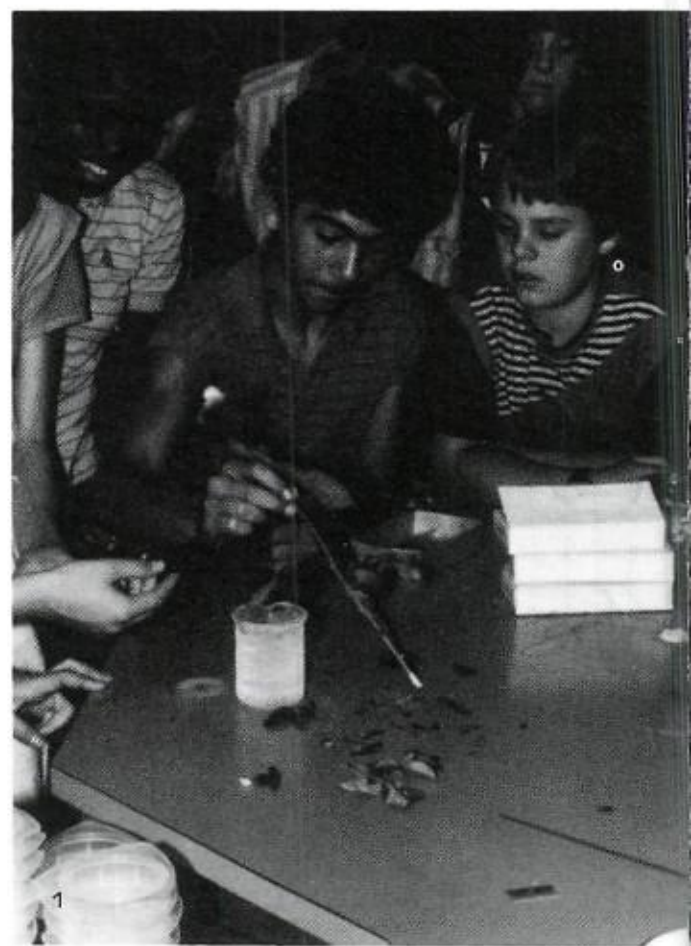

Nausea, disgust, amazement, and wonder are all emotions felt by students who have taken science. For example, take the nausea and disgust Biology students know well the meaning of those words, especially after "cutting-up" a frog, taking it apart, naming the parts, and looking at them through a microscope. On the other hand, some students were very interested in what they found, and were quite enjoying themselves, scientifically speaking of course. Undisputably, nausea was the correct word for students when they took a sample of their own blood. Someone even passed out!

Chemistry is not as disgusting to some students as it is filled with wonder. Most experiments performed in chemistry classes deal with molecules and atoms. They measure the temperature of different substances and the volume they take up at those temperatures. Some substances they've worked with include various gases, wax, water, and fire.

Just mentioned were some highlights of the most "popular" classes in Beyers Science Department, other science courses include Life Science, Physical Science, Physics, and Health.

Health a mandatory class, is considered a "bore" by most students, but all the information learned in the course is vital to you and maybe to someone else!

Unreputedly, Beyer has a great Science department, thanks to all the hard work put in by the science staff. If anyone hasn't yet taken a science class, you don't know what you're missing. Nausea, disgust, amazement, and wonder! ★

Mr. Gohring, one of our Science teachers has been making wine, with the help of Mr. Joe Lopes. (Who taught him how to get everything going, and so now Mr. Gohring makes his wine on his own.) At first he started with borrowed equipment then gradually bought his own. Mr. Gohring enjoys "The fruits of his labors", even though the wine is not the best it improves every year! Mr. Gohring also considers it a natural that a science teacher would be making wine since he teaches fermentation in class.

"The Social Science dept. has gone through a transitional phase", says Harold Crumpley, department chairperson. The Modesto City Schools have made it a requirement for the Beyer Social Science dept. to offer a gate American History course, which started this year and proved to be successful. The Social Science department along with the Modesto City Schools are planning to expand it's GATE history classes next year. ★

Great American Teachers

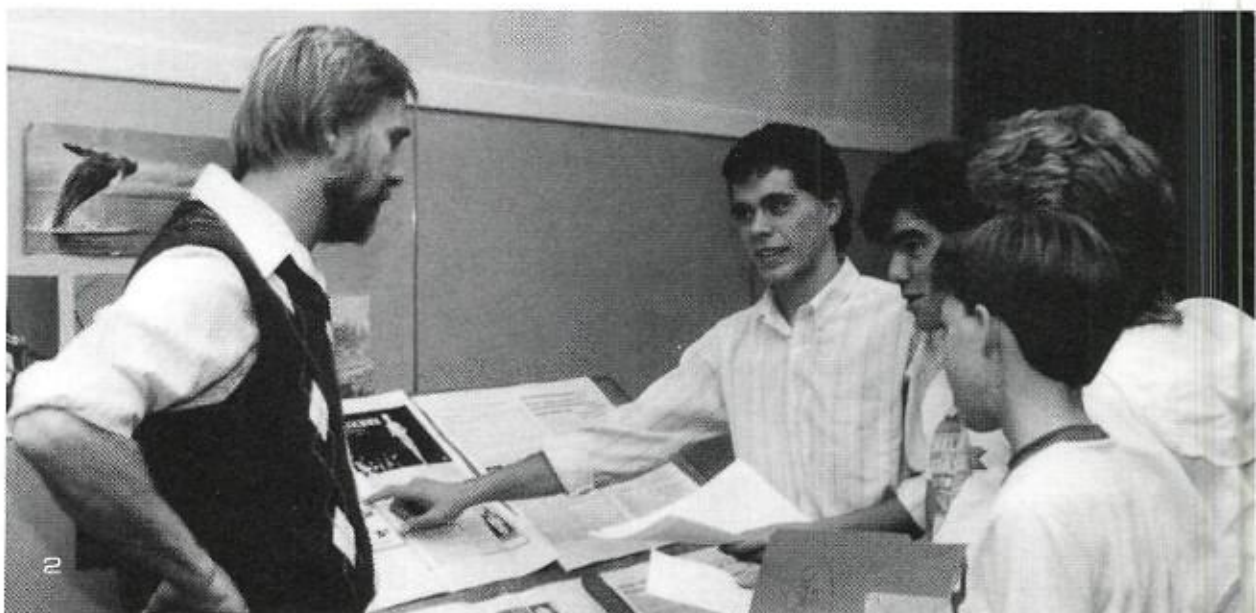

by Dolly Williams photos by David Azlin

Not only did the increased wave of students cause changes in the English department, but the addition of two new classes, two new teachers and a new department head made a difference. The number of enrolled Freshmen not only enlarged the English classes, but made it hard for teachers to maintain the attention of their students.

Mr. Steve Ray, who taught Journalism, Freshman L/C, Freshman English and was the new Courier advisor; and Mr. Tom McCormick, who taught Senior L/C, Junior and Senior English, were two new members of the English department staff. Mr. Chris Walker, after 7 years of being department head, gave up his position to Mrs. Joan Laun, who decided to take the challenge.

Not only were there changes in staff, but in two new class offerings. Introduced were: GATE (11), Am. Lit. taught in conjunction with GATE (11) American History, and Advanced Placement, taught at the senior level.

This past year has had many changes in the English department. We would like to thank the teachers for giving us their time to give us our knowledge. ★

Prima, Gran.

by Dolly Williams photos by David Azlin

Prima, Gran, Extra, Bewkuu, all mean great, and also describes the teachers of our foreign language department. The staff offers: German, French, Spanish, and Russian. Russian is offered only for the students who have studied the previous year. As every other department, this year's foreign language department has been affected by the number of students enrolled in the program. According to Jonaca Driscoll, the department chairperson, "We are running out of room-space and the number of students in the department has greatly increased." This condition has affected the first year French classes in that they were greatly over-crowded.

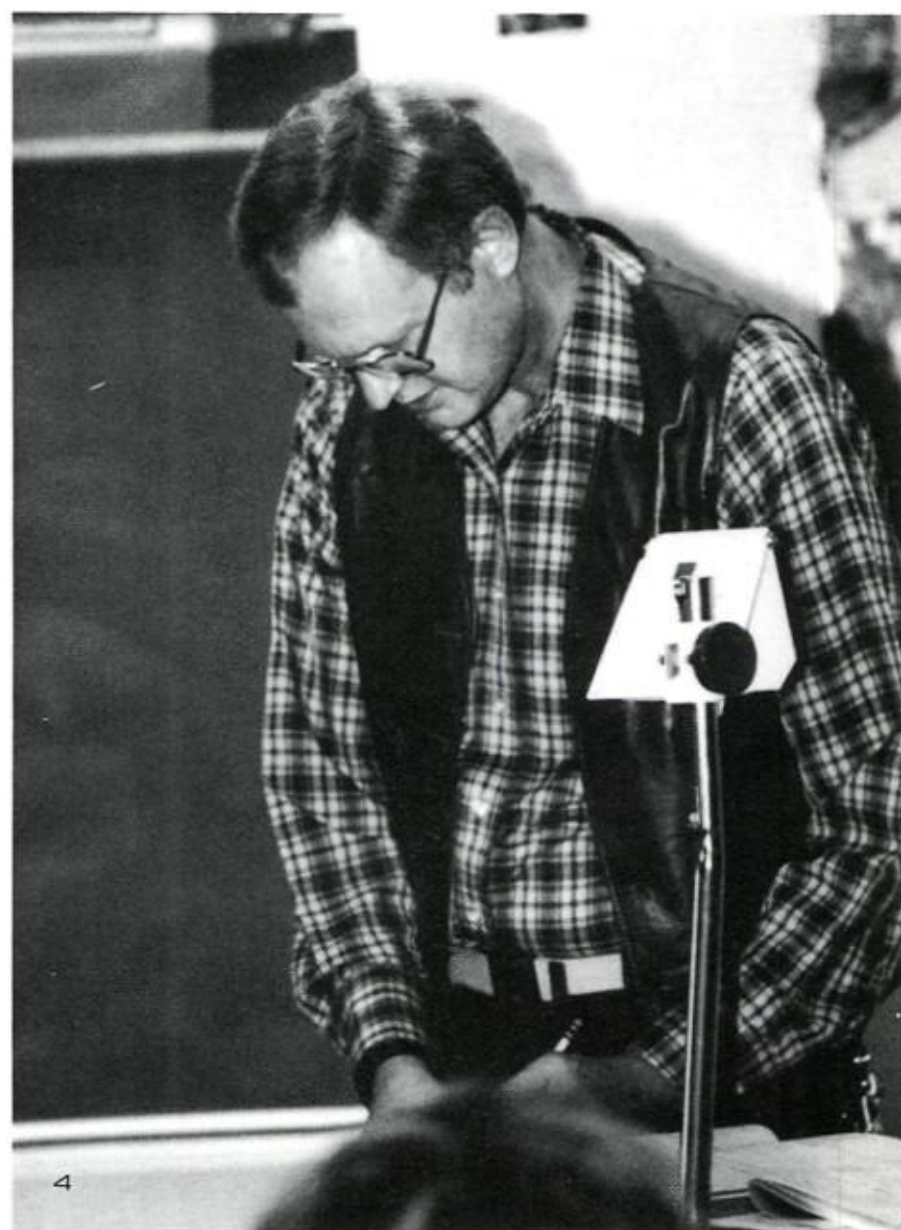

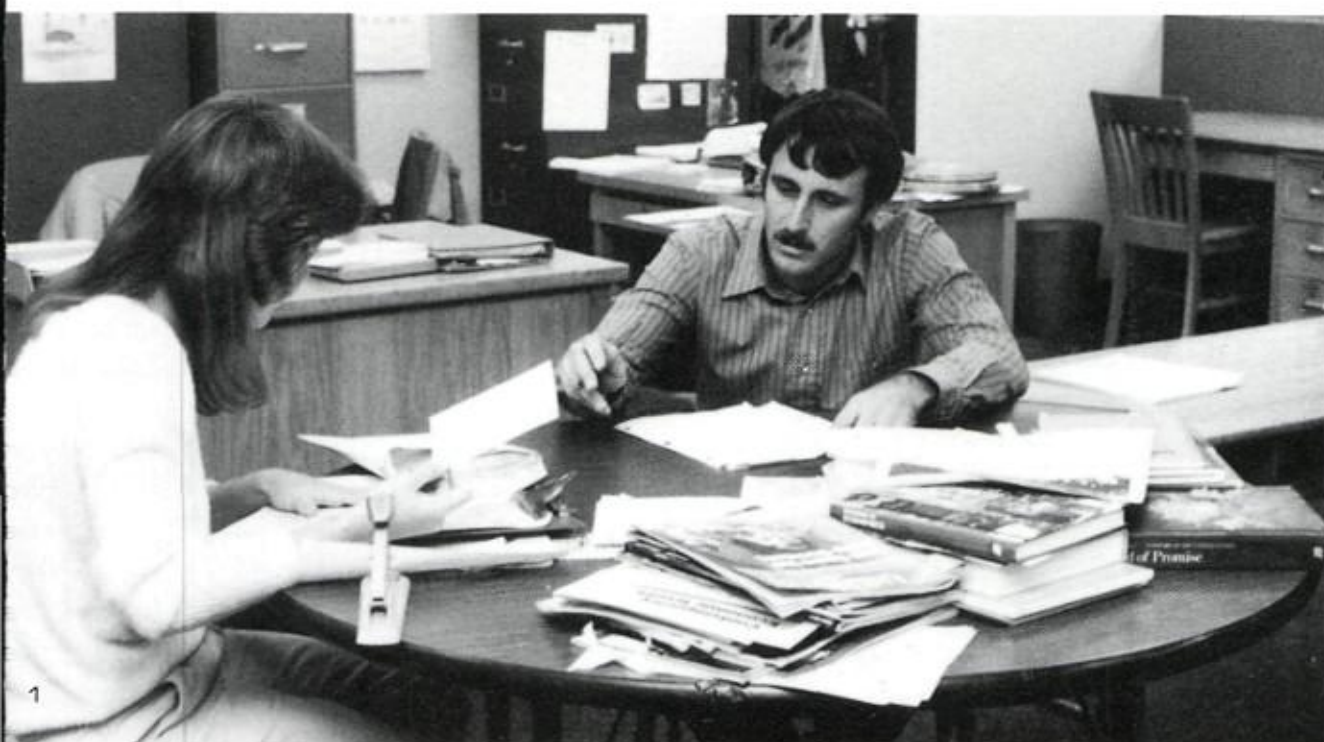

This year's foreign language department has also attended the Foreign Language Fair held in Fresno during May. The Fair is a bi-annual (every two years) event, making it an opportunity not to miss. This event helps the students to use the language and skills they have learned in the past year. They used their skills by communicating with students from other schools attending the Fair, in the language they have learned. At the Fair, events such as: food booths, bingo, and a treasure hunt, in the end, are provided in German, French and Spanish. Throughout the Fair students can only communicate in "his" language unless he has some type of problem stating what he wants to say; English is permitted in times of trouble. The Fair costs the students approximately $5.00, transportation not included.

German, French, Spanish and Russian are all taught basically the same. Each class has a textbook, but doesn't always depend on it. There are also movies available in the different languages to help the students comprehend the language they are learning. All classes use a great amount of oral participation from the students which helps them pronounce the words and learn and help others even through ones mistakes.

If you yourself have not had the experience of taking a foreign language take the chance while you have it. It is an experience you will always remember and never regret taking. ★

56% Yes 44% No

The largest class in Beyer high school history tops the scale at seven-hundred students. The seven-hundred freshmen did definitely add to the spirit of our school. Making the transition from junior high to high school is not always easy, but this year's group has made the transition with ease.

This year's freshmen saw the addition of the 8th period and the enclosure of the school's classrooms. A new tougher conduct code and athletic codes were adopted starting this year. Class sizes were up to approximately thirty-five people per classroom. ★

The last class of its kind moves to the final line. The junior class was the last to participate in all of the old school requirements of California. Two of these requirements were an essential 210 credits and a prerequisite of two years of foreign language for those students in the academic plan. All these requirements were changed to conform to new California legislation which pertained to ensuing classes. Among many other obvious changes was the school's decision to enforce strict rules, such as assertive discipline and the new step system that the juniors never before experienced. Most of all, the juniors of 1988 have matured through a realization of their goals and aspirations. The eleventh grade found several students seriously asking themselves what they wanted to make out of their lives. Many students searched for jobs with the hope of earning a little extra money to pay for a new car or extra clothes. Others sought out jobs in order to help pay for their future college funds. ★

'85 HAS COME ALIVE!!!

Yes it has finally arrived . . . our senior year! Was it worth all the work? You bet it was! Our class has been through the good and the bad, the easy and the difficult. We have witnessed and been a part of many changes, most of which have been related to discipline. We have all felt the grip being tightened by hall passes, Assertive Discipline, check out, and I.D. only at the dances. We have seen walls go up in all the departments, we have seen an extra period added to the school day, and we will be the first graduating class never to have known the workings of Daily Demand Scheduling.

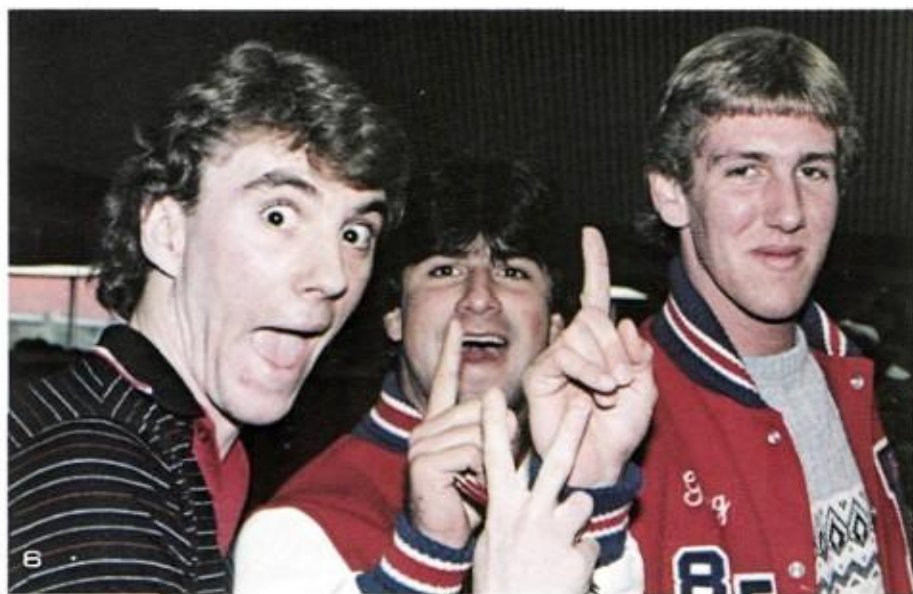

Our high school years were years of learning and growing, both as students and as people. Although it wasn't always easy, we stuck together as a class in a way that we would have made the patriots of old proud. Most of us have known each other since junior high, and many have known each other since grammar school. We have watched each other grow and mature into the young adults we are now. The memories we have made for ourselves will live on forever in our minds and hearts, and as we all go our different ways, we will remember our unforgettable, unsurpassable years at Fred C. Beyer High School. Not only '85 come alive, but the spirit of '85 will always be alive!!! ★

WHAT IS THE BEST EXCUSE YOU'VE EVER GIVEN YOUR PARENTS FOR COMING IN LATE?

George Jacob:

"There was an accident and the roads were blocked off and I couldn't get through."

Janine Crumpley:

"A pole hit the car."

Rhonda Wose:

"I fell asleep at someone's house."

Sten Anderson:

"Mom, you're never going to believe this, but I was at Brent's apartment and I guess someone left a lit cigarette on his couch and it caught on fire. The fire department truck came, and it took us hours to clean it up and that's why I'm late and smell like tobacco."

Michelle Smith:

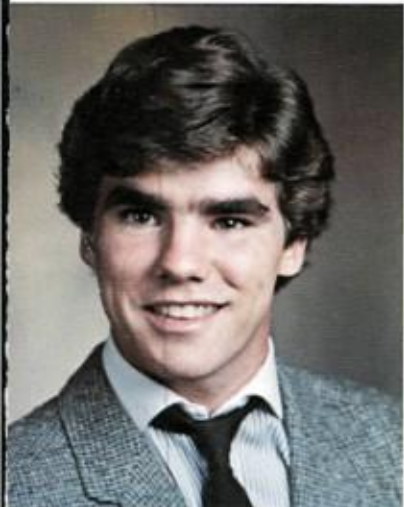

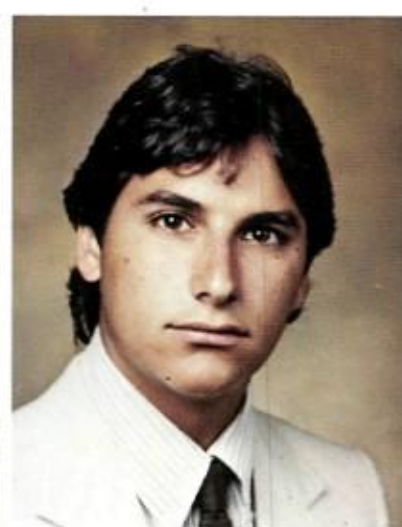

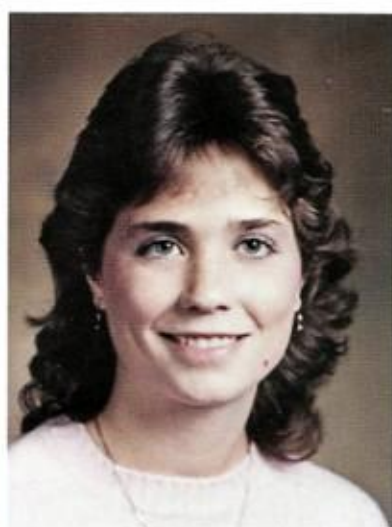

"I told my parents I had to take some people home because they didn't have a ride and 'I knew you would understand, mom.'"

Cory Thorp:

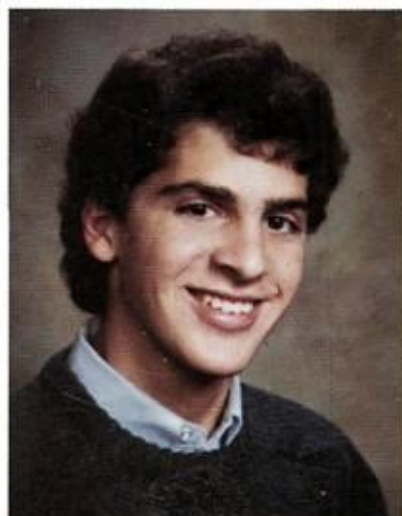

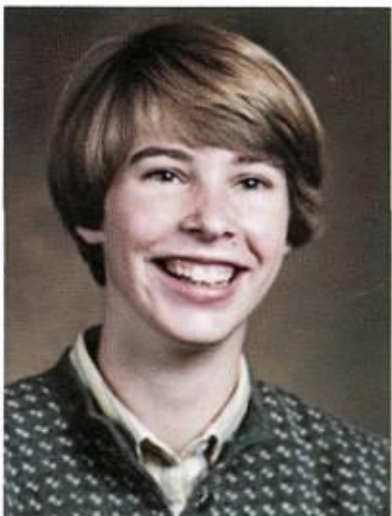

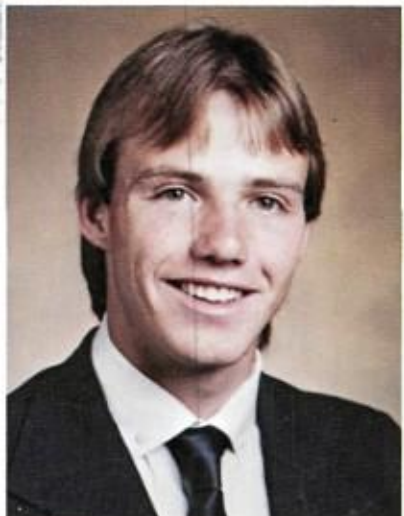

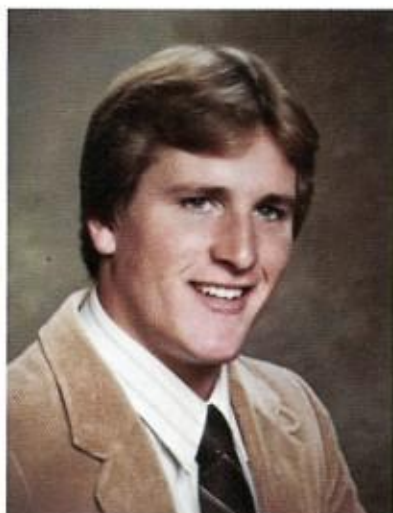

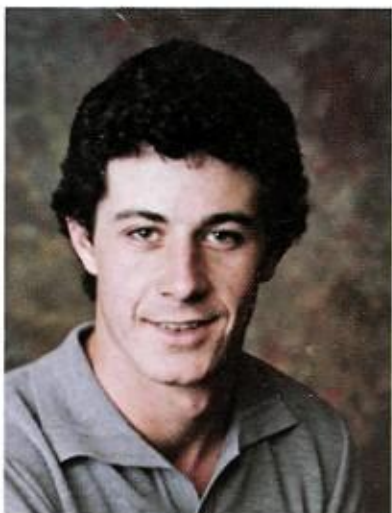

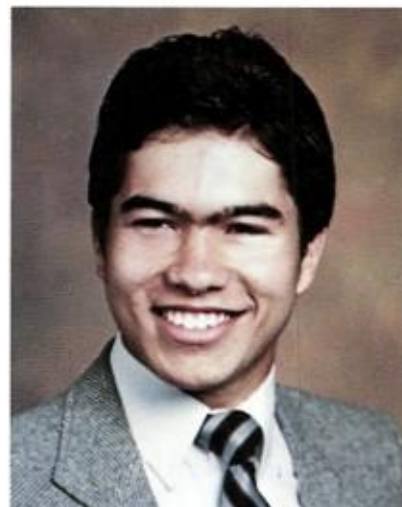

"Someone siphoned my gas."

Tabby Hofstetter:

"My watch stopped."

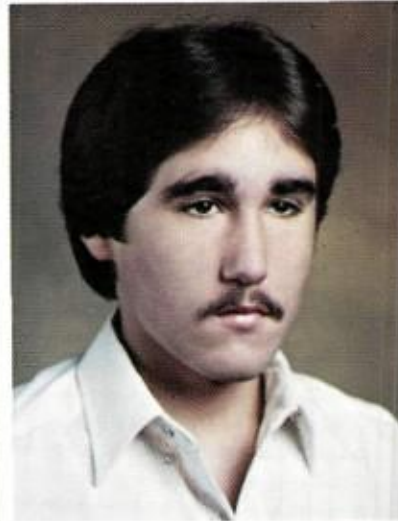

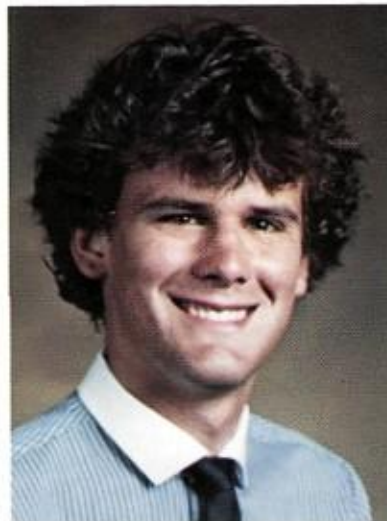

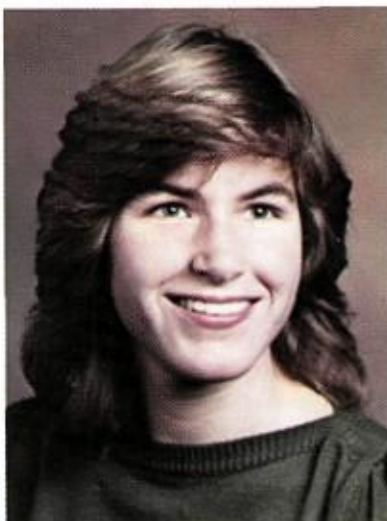

When asked for quotes concerning "Shyest," Jill Kline replied, "Excuse me, I don't have time to talk. I have a date with the entire U.S. Navy." John Sai said, "I can't talk now. There's too many people around."

WHAT WOULD YOU LIKE TO DO WITH THE REST OF YOUR LIFE?

Kurt Sterling:

"As a career, I would like to teach, or be a professional musician."

Todd Jespersen:

"Rest? I thought life ended after high school! No, I'm definitely looking forward to college, getting away from Modesto, meeting new people, establishing myself, preventing nuclear war, solving world hunger, ridding the population of all those with evil intentions. . . . perhaps I've gone too far."

Tina Stovall:

"I would like to finish school (college) and move to London to start a career in merchandising. Then I would like to get married and raise a family."

Susan Herrington:

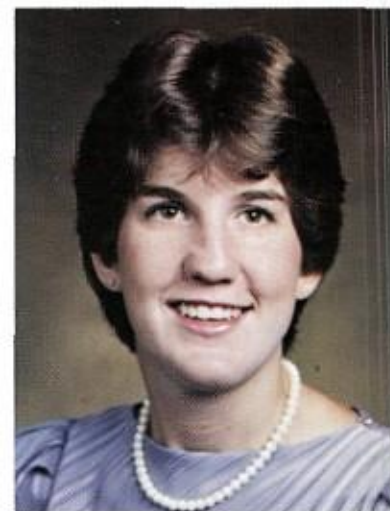

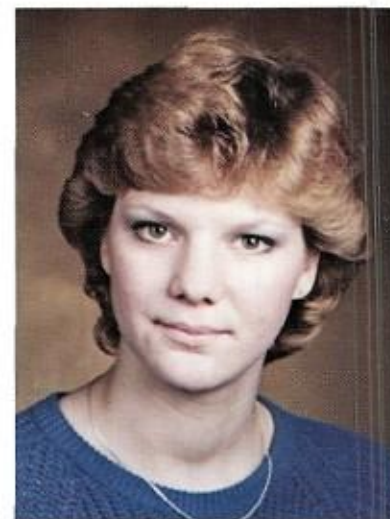

"I plan to finish college and go on to law school. Then I'd like to be an ambassador for the United States to France, or work for the State Department. And not only get married, but eventually have a family."

Steve Machado:

"I want to be filthy, stinking, disgustingly rich."

WHAT DO YOU LIKE TO DO FOR FUN?

Karen Stoycheff:

"I like to march in Drum Corps (Blue Devils), read, and spend time with my friends."

Kerrie Louis and Michelle Osgood:

"Stay in the yearbook room typing senior surveys until 10:30 at night."

Kelly Peterson:

"Go out and have a good time with my friends."

Robin Hinchman:

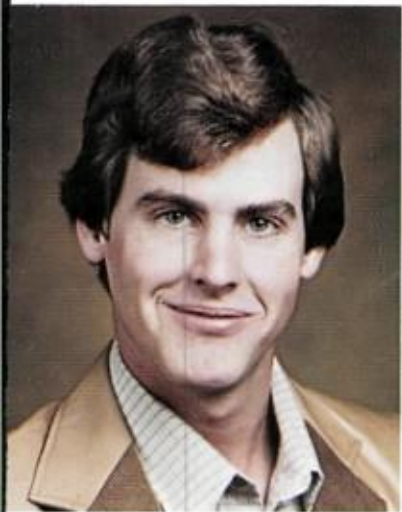

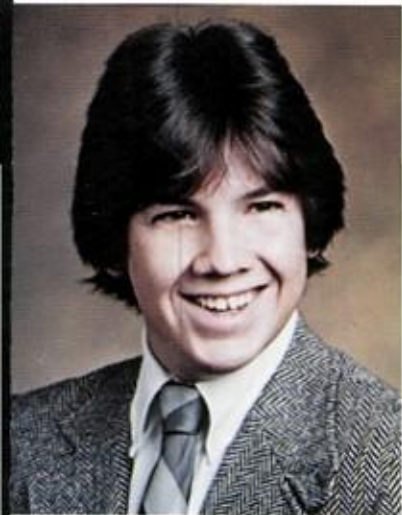

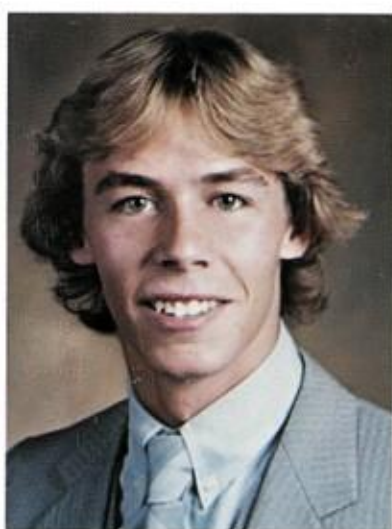

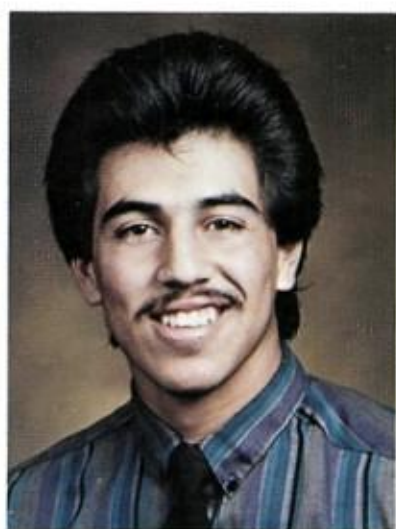

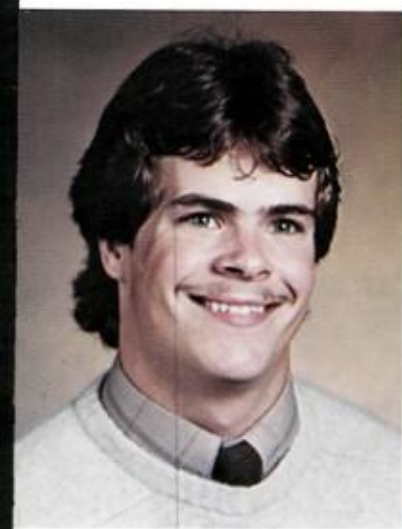

"What I find most exciting in my life are my horses. I enjoy riding them and have won many ribbons."

David Azlin:

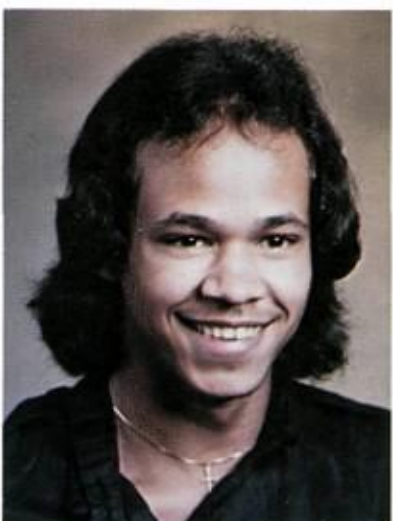

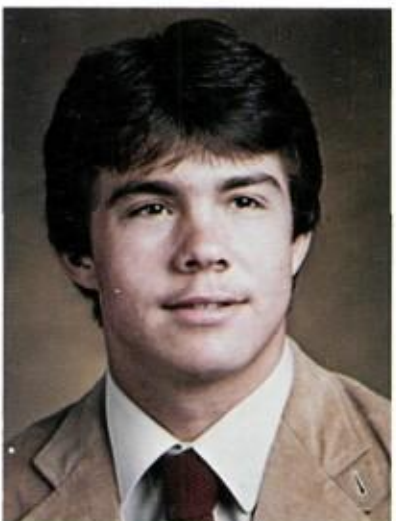

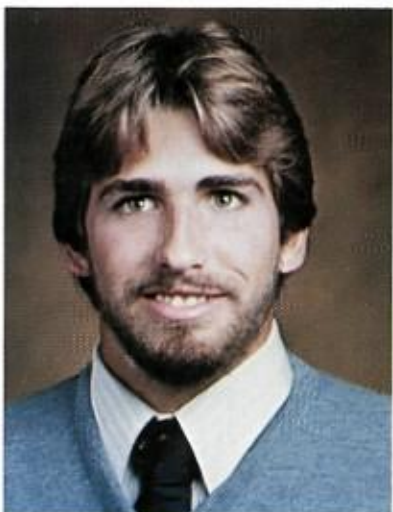

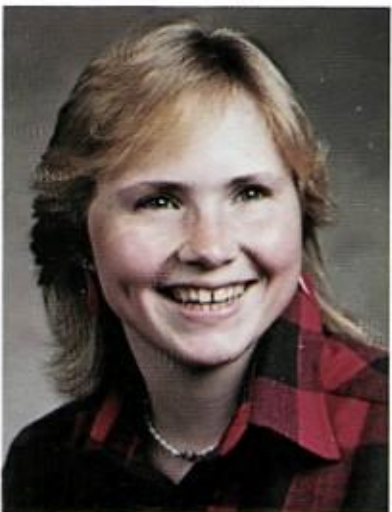

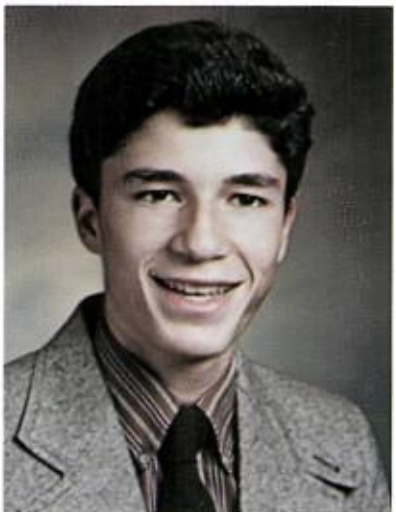

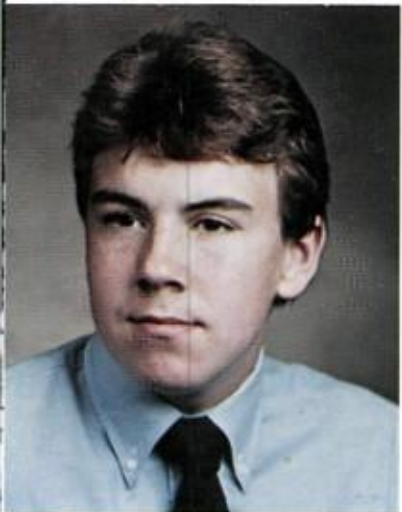

"Watch cartoons all day."

Wen-Yu Li:

"I like to go to the movies, eat out, and have a great time with a bunch of friends."

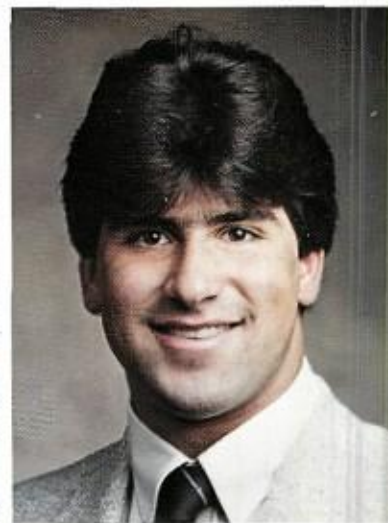

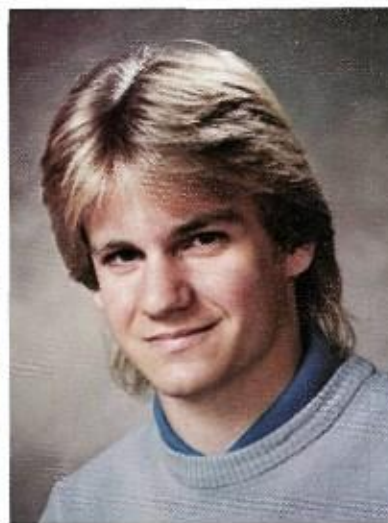

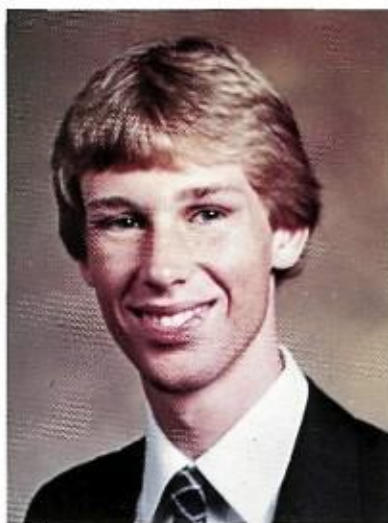

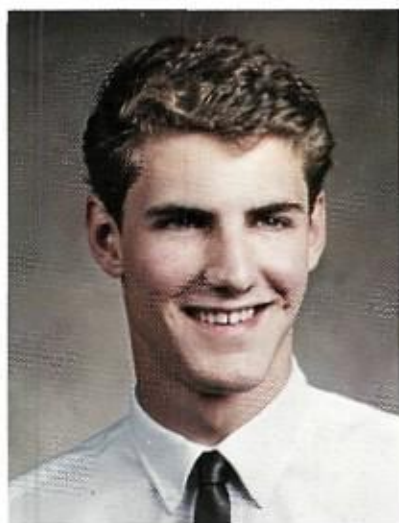

Kara Wilson, "Most Basically Beyer", sums up the title like this: "Enjoy each moment, live life to the fullest, and if anything happens, it's not my fault." David Kline says, "There is no such thing as "Most Basically" and that's not my fault either."

WHAT'S THE MOST EMBARRASSING THING THAT HAPPENED TO YOU?

Joe Colaccico:

"Being turned down at 7-11 because they thought I was too young to buy cloves."

Sheila Arbogast:

"I was wearing pumps and was walking really fast in the forum between class periods and slipped. I went sliding across the floor and all these people were looking at me."

Lisa Barker:

"I was walking fast on the grass in front of the school and fell. My pants were soaked."

Monique Noblet:

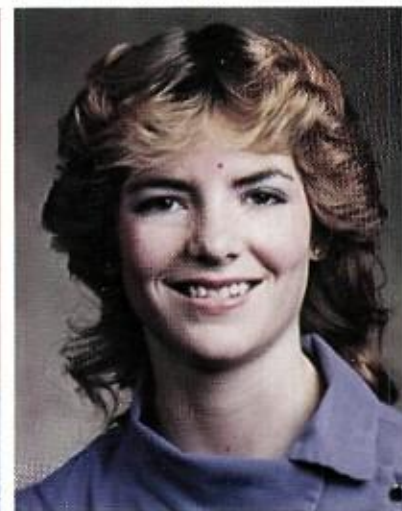

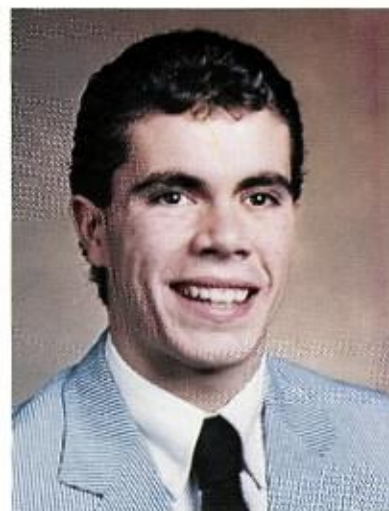

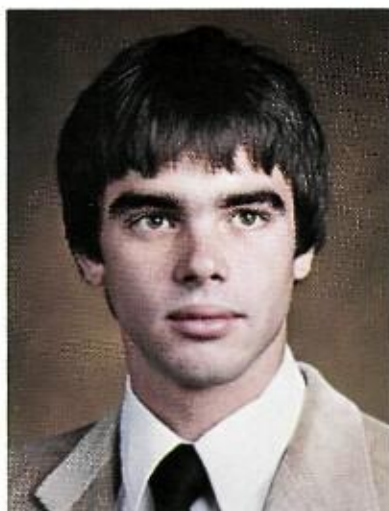

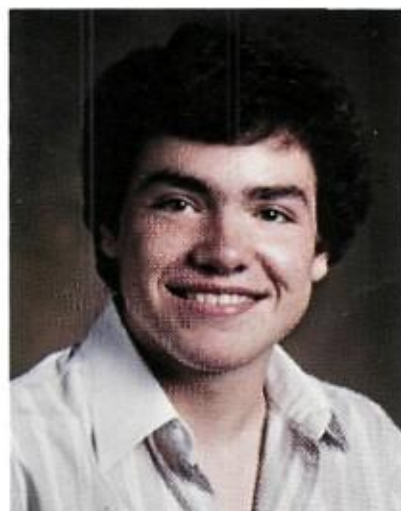

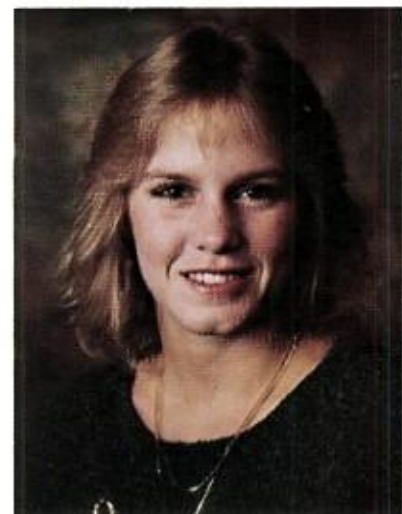

"I was sitting in the park with my boyfriend, ditching. Froyland walked up just as we were making out."

Paul Blank:

"The most embarrassing incident was my entire freshman year."

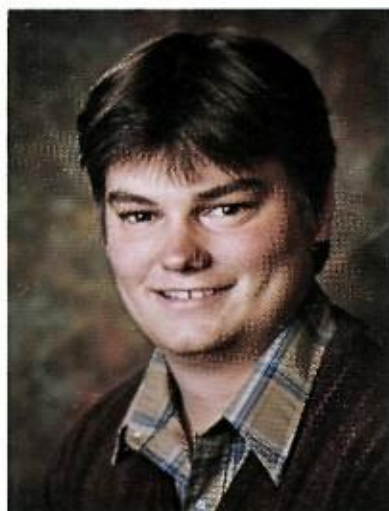

Alyce Von Savoye:

"The most embarrassing moment for me was the first week of my freshman year when I was walking to class and fell down right in front of all the senior 'studs.' "

Natalie McMillen, Mark Thomsen, and Shawna Goodine show off their "Best Bodies."

"Most Spirited" Jerry Damron says, "Life is like a bowl of Fruit Loops. It can be colorful, tasty, full of holes and covered with milk. When one runs out of Fruit Loops in the bowl, then the meaning of life is no longer present." Kristina Anderson says, "Life can be what you want it to be. The more you put into it the more you get out of it, but no matter what, keep smiling, laughing, and having fun, and always remember, those who laugh live longer."

WANTED:

Promising students with good attitude to fill positions as photographers and copy writers for student publication. Good citizenship and a grade point average of 2.5 are required. Students are expected to learn and handle business transactions and may receive percent incentives or a free yearbook for selling advertisements. Students must be willing to work long hours and holidays for no pay and little appreciation. Warning: Stars and Stripes Yearbook is under investigation by the Surgeon General, due to reports of the staff's high blood pressure, stress rashes, and other major health problems. Low risk students would be preferred. Please come to the yearbook room and apply. Join Beyer's award winning Stars and Stripes, the yearbook with patriot spirit!

STARS AND STRIPES
BEYER HIGH YEARBOOK

Oh What A Year It Was!

Indeed this was quite a year, with a mixture of different trends and people, a wide variety of special and current events, and the renewal of American Patriotism.

The year included a little bit of every aspect of American life and culture. Even fashion was a combination of many different decades thrown together to produce one style. Teens would go to rummage stores and pick through old clothes from the 50's and 60's, claiming these garments as the "new look." With this look came new music, produced by high-tech computerized synthesizers. Computer music was just one of the many ways the high-tech industry influenced Americans this year. American life and culture was expressed to the limit during the Summer Olympics in Los Angeles, the Democratic Convention in San Francisco, and Super Bowl XIX at Stanford, which were all hosted by the state of California.

From Americans dominating the Olympics, to the nationalism of the elections, a rebirth of American Patriotism was brought to life. America's upbeat mood was not just a bunch of flag waving politicians, it was everyday working class men and women trying to make the world and country a better place to live in. Many United States citizens found themselves enjoying the new Americanism, including students and faculty at Beyer. Because after all, we are the patriots on the waves of change.

What's News At Beyer High School?

Beyer's Palm Tree Massacre:

Who would do such outrageous vandalism? The two sawed off palm trees stood most of the year with trunks only, showing students the terrible crime. Luckily Beyer's dances raised so much money, there were a few bucks left over to beautify the campus with new palm trees and other landscaping.

Beyer on Fire!

The smoke scented classrooms emptied quickly of students as the fire alarm sounded. This was not a practice evacuation or another false alarm. This was a real fire. And along came fire trucks and men, arriving with enough equipment to put out a tiny grease fire in Beyer's gourmet kitchen. Only minor damage resulted from the small inferno.

200 Punkers Invade Beyer:

The Modesto Bee wrote a story on Beyer's so called punker-vandalism problem. The newspaper claimed there were over 200 hardcore punkers at Beyer. Parents, and students, outraged responded with several letters to the Bee. Acknowledgements: We acknowledge Coronet Portraits for providing film and processing for over 6000 prints that we took, for taking and providing us with all the class portraits, senior and other large group photos, copywork, and rush processing in emergencies. Howard Arnold for technical assistance and representing Hunter Publishing Company. The Modesto Bee for photos for the closing and some sports. The Faculty for their cooperation in relishing the time for students to work on critical issues in the yearbook production. Juanita Kaufman for handling funds and balancing our budget of over $40,000. Sheri Fontana for handling the sales of the book, making announcements, and for collecting surveys. Justen Forbes for being our artist and making logos and the art work in the student life section. Our parents for letting us "live" at the yearbook room during critical times. And a special thank you to our Advisor, Mr. Bates, for being just that, an advisor, and letting us do what we want in the book.

Shannon,
 Oo nice
 being your friend in guard & in school too. Have a nice summer!

always,
 Leslie
 Mann

Shannon,
 to a very nice girl I sat next to for one semester. Stay cool and keep out of trouble.
 See ya hopefully next year.

Shannon
 Go a girl I met and did this year
 I did at your very quiet and very call you at some
 Have a good summer
 Love,
 Ernest

Shannon;
 This was a great year & I'm glad to have the pleasure to have met you
 & Suzie, the most Pleasurable people in the world. Good luck next year & maybe you'll pray & see me again.
 Now seriously, I hope I see you next year, at Beyer atleast. Keep in touch somehow.
 I'll miss ya.

Love always,
 Lorraine

 See you
 next year

Shannon,
I'm glad I met you this year. Your still too quiet in class, but will probably change
Have a summer
